Ate Marijuana, Went Hog-Wild Says Farmer

PLAINVIEW, Neb. (AP)—William Bohl broke up a narcotics ring in his own feed lots this week. When his hogs began to grow thin and wobble uncertainly about the feed lot, Bohl launched a one-man investigation. At the back of the feed lot he found the hogs jumping in the air to get at the last few leaves near the top of a lush stand of marijuana plants. After destroying the plants Bohl said today his hogs were "getting back to normal."

China's Plight, Yugoslavia Vital Points For Assembly

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—The Chinese and Stalin-Tito situations loomed today as the international problems which might provoke the noisiest debates at the United Nations' fourth General Assembly. There were reports that both questions would be brought before the 59-country meeting opening next Tuesday at Flushing Meadow, N.Y., but no delegation made a formal move to do so. Both the problems could be brought up during debates on some of the 72 topics on the work sheet, among which there were no new major issues. Observers saw these possibilities on the China front: 1. The Chinese Nationalists might charge Russia with interfering in the internal affairs of China by aiding the Chinese Communists. 2. The Chinese Communists might seek representation at the United Nations. The rift between Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia and the Communists was viewed as part of the

Youths Steal House

TORONTO (CP)—Now they're stealing houses. Police today blamed a gang of youths for stealing a house on wheels from east-central Toronto and abandoning it in downtown Toronto. The house on wheels was found at busy Yonge and Queen Streets. Police said it was reported stolen by the owner just about the time it was found.

Victim Of Murder Thought Bootlegger

WINNIPEG (CP)—Disclosure that Mrs. Doris Sadova may have collected a considerable cash through illicit sale of liquor spurred police in "several leads" for the hunt for her slayer. Police are working on clues that the person or persons who trusted the elderly woman with adhesive tape may have been customers after her money. She was found dead in her North Winnipeg room Tuesday. Police said she had been dad for 40 hours. A preliminary inquest Thursday was adjourned until Sept. 23. Neighbors said Mrs. Sadova was zealous in guarding a trunk kept in her ramshackle home. The trunk's lock was broken and the trunk was empty when police investigated. Other neighbors said men would visit the shabby home at all hours and some would come out drunk. They also said trucks delivered beer to her regularly each week.

British Golfers Take Clear Lead In Ryder Cup Play

GANTON, Eng. (AP)—Britain's Ryder Cup golfers held a clear advantage over their U.S. rivals at the half-way point in today's Scotch foursomes, opening phase of the two-day international team matches. The home professionals led at 18 holes in two of the four matches, were square in a third and trailed only in the fourth. The remaining 18 holes were scheduled this afternoon. Fred Daly and Ken Bustfield of Britain were two-up on Bob Hamilton and Skip Alexander, the result of wild iron shots by Alexander on each of the last two holes. Max Faulkner and Jim Adams of the home forces shattered par with a 69 to lead E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Johnny Palmer, three-up. Jimmy Demaret and Clayton Heafner alone of the invaders held a lead at lunchtime. Their steady par 70 gave them a one-up margin over Charlie Ward and Sam King, who shot a 71. Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum stood all even with Dick Burton and Arthur Lees after each team stroked a 71. A gallery estimated at 10,000 followed the foursomes, in which the two players of each team took turns hitting a single ball. The toughest hazard faced was a road with automobiles racing both ways along it.

Typhoon Dies Down

TOKYO (Reuters)—A 100-mile-an-hour typhoon which had been approaching Formosa from the east-southeast, now has dissipated in low pressure and is no longer a danger, the U.S. weather unit in Tokyo said today.

Fast Jet Flight

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—An R.A.A.F. Vampire jet fighter Thursday flew from Sydney to Melbourne and back—910 air miles—in total flying time of two hours, one minute and 18 seconds. The plane averaged 414 miles an hour on the forward journey and 497 miles an hour on the return leg.

Acheson To Report On Parley

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson was expected to report to President Truman today on a successful co-ordination of United States-British-French measures in the cold war with Russia. Topping the list was believed to be agreement to give Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito all essential support in his economic and political struggle with Moscow. All the various matters have been intensively reviewed here this week by Acheson and Foreign Secretary Bevin and Foreign Minister Schuman.

The U.S., British and French foreign policy chiefs climaxed their round of meetings Thursday. They held them a three-hour and forty-five-minute session devoted to discussing Yugoslavia and the general Balkan situation as well as Germany and Austria.

FAR EAST PLANS

Officials said they did not get around to talking about the development of a common anti-Communist strategy in the Far East but hoped to arrange another session here in a day or so. Acheson's schedule today included a personal meeting with Truman. Associates said beforehand that he would give the President a report on the accomplishments of the three-power conference.

At the conclusion of their meeting Thursday night the three foreign-policy chiefs authorized a joint statement. This listed subjects they had discussed and called on Russia to resume, in New York next Thursday, the negotiations with western powers for an Austrian independence treaty.

5,000 Students Enroll

VANCOUVER (CP)—University of British Columbia enrollment has hit the 5,000 mark with a day and a half left to go in the registration period. Officials estimate 7,000 students will sign up for the session.

Strong Force At Border

VLENNA (AP)—Political refugees who recently fled from Hungary said here Thursday that approximately 12 Soviet divisions are concentrated in Hungary near the Yugoslav border.

Two New Features For The Times

TWO NEW FEATURES will appear in the Victoria Times tomorrow. William E. McKenney, the noted card authority, is going to tell you how to play Canasta, the new card game that everyone is talking about and everyone wants to learn. McKenney, in a series of four articles, will explain all the details of this fascinating "wild" card game. The first is published in the Magazine Section tomorrow. The other articles will follow on consecutive Saturdays. The other feature is a new serial story. Country Club is a thrilling mystery yarn by the popular English author Holloway Horn. Beginning tomorrow, a long installment will be printed in the Victoria Times every day.

Three Britons, Yank Make Escape From Soviet Prison

BERLIN (UP)—A United States soldier and three British servicemen broke out of a Soviet sector jail while the Russians were changing the guard and escaped to western Berlin today.

The four men told western power officials the Russians had rooms where they poured hot and cold water on them. But an official American announcement said Pte. John J. Sienkiewicz of Baltimore, Md., "showed fatigue and a generally weakened condition but did not seem unduly undernourished" after his 10 months in Soviet-run prisons.

The three Britishers face courts-martial in connection with several armed robberies in Berlin. Sienkiewicz was picked up in a Soviet sector elevated railway station in November, 1948. The Russians refused to return him to U.S. custody on the grounds that he was a Polish citizen, not an American.

SCALED BARRICADES

They scaled three barricades—two barbed wire fences and a 15-foot brick wall topped with broken glass—made their way into the French sector and sought the protection of west German police, who notified western authorities.

No Settlement

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—The United Nations' Palestine Conciliation Commission formally ended its five-month session here Thursday without recording any appreciable success in its task of prodding Jews and Arabs into a permanent peace settlement.

Ontario Aviatix Victim Of Crash

PERTH, Ont. (BUP)—Eva Devlin, 27-year-old aviatix of this town, died almost instantly from injuries when her light plane crashed Thursday. Eyewitnesses said she was coming in to land at the airstrip on the outskirts of the town and apparently thought she was going to overshoot it. They said she tried to gain height so she could circle for another landing, but hit telephone wires and trees at the end of the runway. The plane crashed in a field just beyond.

A number of horrified spectators saw the plane crash. Miss Devlin died only a few minutes after she had been rescued from the tangled wreckage.

Weather Forecast

Cloudy with scattered showers today and tonight; southwest winds, 25 m.p.h., decreasing to 15 tonight. Saturday: Cloudy with a few sunny intervals; widely scattered showers; southwest winds, 25. Little change in temperature. Low tonight 47; high Saturday 62.

Blackmailed Into Work By American Agents He Claims

BUDAPEST (UP)—Former Hungarian Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk confessed in court today that he had been an anti-Communist spy for various masters, including the United States, for the past 17 years.

Rajk said he was blackmailed into spying for the U.S. in postwar Hungary by American agents who threatened to expose his anti-Communist past.

Rajk, one of eight former Hungarian Communist leaders on trial, pleaded guilty to the government's charges of treason, espionage and attempts to overthrow the Communist regime. He then launched into an hour-long recital of anti-Communist spying activities since 1932.

He said he first was enlisted as an anti-Communist spy by the Hungarian police in 1932. He continued this career, he said, even after he had become the No. 2 Communist in Hungary and held the offices of Interior Minister and Foreign Minister.

During that time, he said, he held secret meetings with two U.S. army officers and the former American Minister to Budapest, Selden Chapin.

Of his connection with Chapin, Rajk said "It was not continuous but sometimes we had secret meetings."

Rajk also pleaded guilty to charges of plotting with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia and Allen Dulles, former head of the U.S. Office of Strategic Services in Switzerland during the war, for the overthrow of the Communist regime in Hungary.

First Of Eight To Testify

Rajk was the first of the defendants to testify after the trial opened this morning. The others were led from the courtroom.

When Rajk entered the court he was pale, stooping, with sunken eyes and hollow cheeks from three and a half months' imprisonment. His confession appeared to follow the pattern of the famous Moscow purge trials of the 1930's and of the recent trial of Cardinal Mindszenty.

Several times his voice fell so low that even the microphone could not carry his words through the spaces of the iron workers trade union hall, where the trial opened this morning.

After Rajk concludes his recital, Lt.-Gen. Gyorgy Palffy, former chief inspector of the Hungarian Army and number two defendant is scheduled to take the stand.

Co-defendants with Rajk and Palffy are:

Zoltan Horvath, former editor in chief of the official organ of the Hungarian Trades Union.

Azar Branko, 37, former counselor of the Yugoslavian Legation in Budapest.

Dr. Tibor Szoenyi, 46, former head of the section of the Hungarian People's (Communist) Party which supervises all rank and file members.

Andras Szalal, 32, a deputy to Dr. Szoenyi.

Milan Ognyinovic, described as a Yugoslav spy.

Bela Korondy, a former army major.

Two Thugs Rob Bank, Beat Clerk With Gun

MONTREAL (CP)—Two armed bandits today robbed a west-end branch of the Royal Bank of Canada of $4,000 and escaped after beating a clerk with the butt of a gun. It was the second Montreal hold-up in three days. Wednesday a pair of gunmen took $4,000 from a Banque Canadienne Nationale Branch in the north end of the city. The two entered the Royal Bank Branch at the corner of Monkland Boulevard and Harvard Avenue shortly before 11 a.m. and threatened the staff and customers with their guns.

The injured man, struck across the back of the neck with the butt of a revolver, was Leonard Konings, a clerk who joined the bank staff five days ago. He was treated by a neighborhood doctor and returned to work. A dozen customers were transacting business when the robbery was staged.

No News Of Visit

OTTAWA (BUP)—Defence department officials said today they had not been advised of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery's plans for his November visit to the United States and did not know whether he would be able to visit Canada.

Fewer Claims

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada's unemployed drew less insurance benefits in July than June, the Bureau of Statistics reported today. In July, 28,246 persons cashed in on their unemployment insurance.

Ottawa Completes Checking Of War Records For Medals

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's veterans of the Second World War won't need to do any research work to get their campaign stars and medals. The job has already been done. "For the last three years we have been working on the files of the 1,081,875 Canadian men and women who enlisted," Veterans' Minister Gregg said in a statement issued today. Applications are expected to start flooding into defence headquarters about the end of this month.

"On each file there is now a notation on the veterans' entitlement," Mr. Gregg said. "All that will have to be done when the application is received is to check it against the veterans' file and send out those decorations which the veteran earned."

To make things easier, application cards are being distributed to all post offices and Canadian Legion branches throughout the Dominion. They are expected to be ready by Sept. 26.

More Lottery Seizures

City police are going through "mopping up" operations incident to the raids started Wednesday which are believed to have smashed a $500,000 Canada-wide lottery ring.

Deputy Chief of Police John Blackstock reported that a new raid engineered this morning at a different locality resulted in more records and a quantity of cash being seized. This is the first time in the series of raids that money has been located, he said.

Frank G. Hilton, 36-year-old former resident of Melville, Sask., has been charged in city police court with unlawfully conducting a sweepstakes. He has been remanded to Monday to elect for trial and plea.

The deputy chief said that it would be up to city prosecutor Claude L. Harrison to decide what further charges, if any, will be laid in the case.

Constables William Andrews and Alex Nichol today were still working on sorting out the great mass of records seized.

British Ryder Cup Golf Team Scores In Foursomes 3-1

GANTON, Eng. (CP)—Britain today won a 3-1 victory over the United States in the Scotch foursomes, opening event of the two-day Ryder Cup golf matches.

Richard Burton and Arthur Lees of Britain beat Lloyd Mangrum and Sam Snead one-up in the last of the four 18-hole matches to finish today.

Earlier Max Faulkner and Jim Adams gave Britain's professional golfers first blood when they defeated Johnny Palmer and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison 2 and 1.

Jimmy Demaret and Clayton Haefner of the invading forces saved the Americans from a first-day whitewash by downing Charlie Ward and Sam King 4 and 3.

Britain's Fred Daly and Ken Buxfield defeated Bob Hamilton and Skip Alexander 4 and 2 after having been two up at the half-way point.

As a result of their three losses today, the Americans will have to win at least five of tomorrow's eight concluding singles to avert defeat.

A gallery estimated at 10,000 followed the foursomes, in which the two players of each team took turns hitting a single ball.

The toughest hazard faced was a road with automobiles racing both ways along it.

5,000 Students Enroll

VANCOUVER (CP)—University of British Columbia enrollment has hit the 5,000 mark with a day and a half left to go in the registration period. Officials estimate 7,000 students will sign up for the session as compared with 8,200 last year.

Two New Features For The Times

TWO NEW FEATURES will appear in the Victoria Times tomorrow.

McKenney, in a series of four articles, will explain all the details of this fascinating "wild" card game. The first is published in the Magazine Section tomorrow. The other articles will follow on consecutive Saturdays.

The other feature is a new serial story. Country Club is a thrilling mystery yarn by the popular English author Holloway Horn. Beginning tomorrow, a long installment will be printed in the Victoria Times every day.

Faces Narcotics Charge

After R.C.M.P. had seized $90,000 worth of heroin in Montreal, two men—one identified by police as a Roman Catholic priest—were arraigned on charges of illegally selling narcotics. While a courteous guard looks on, Father Arthur Taillefer enters arraignment court, where he pleaded innocent. He was described in court only as Joseph Arthur Taillefer, 48, of no given address. Michel Sisco, 35, arrested on the same charge, also pleaded innocent. They were remanded to Sept. 22. (CP Photo.)

China's Plight, Yugoslavia Vital Points For Assembly

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—The Chinese and Stalin-Tito situations loomed today as the international problems which might provoke the noisiest debates at the United Nations' fourth General Assembly.

There were reports that both questions would be brought before the 59-country meeting opening next Tuesday at Flushing Meadow, N.Y., but no delegation made a formal move to do so.

Steel Union Heads Appeal To Owners To Accept Peace

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The C.I.O. United Steelworkers today appealed to the steel industry to accept the presidential board's peace recommendations to avert a strike Sept. 25 and at the same time summoned its top strategists to plot the union's next move.

Union president Philip Murray sent this telegram to the 57 steel-producing companies which appeared before President Truman's fact-finding board:

"A strike can be averted if your corporation will agree with the union and public opinion to accept the recommendations of the steel industry board as a basis for negotiating a prompt settlement of the existing labor dispute."

Murray ordered the big union's wage policy committee to meet here Wednesday.

TOLD TO PREPARE

CLEVELAND (AP)—William F. Donovan, District 28 director of the United Steelworkers' Union, today telegraphed 17 northern Ohio locals ordering them to start strike preparations.

The C.I.O. union chief's district includes approximately 24,500 workers in basic steel plants in Cleveland, Akron, Lorain, Amherst and Elyria.

Prize For Film Board

OTTAWA (BUP)—The National Film Board has won its fourth award in international competitions within a month. It was announced today. The board said the film "Vegetable Insects" had won first prize in a movie showing ways of controlling common garden pests, which would be shown in Canadian theatres next spring.

Miners' Welfare Stopped

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis today announced suspension on welfare payments to coal miners, effective tomorrow.

Lewis said the action was due to lack of funds. It was ordered in a resolution adopted at a five-hour meeting of the fund's trustees.

Lewis, speaking briefly with reporters, declined to say whether there would be a walkout in the coal fields. He also declined to say by what vote the action suspending benefits was taken.

The trustees met in urgent session amid indications of a showdown over the refusal of some operators to make payments into the welfare fund.

The benefits include $100 monthly pensions for miners 60 years of age or more, plus other forms of welfare benefits.

SENATOR SILENT

Senator Bridges (R-N.H.), the netral trustee of the fund, was with Lewis when the announcement was made. Ezra Van Horn, operators' trustee, had left earlier, declining comment.

Bridges told reporters in answer to questions that he has not resigned as a trustee. There had been advance rumors that Bridges was ready to quit.

The meeting came quickly after Lewis' return from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where the stoppage of 20 cents a ton royalty payments by some operators put a new complication into negotiations for a coal mine labor contract.

Anscomb Flying East To Sell Bond Issue

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb left Victoria by air this afternoon for Toronto to make arrangements for the sale of bonds to help finance the province's big expansion program.

His deputy, J. V. Fisher, is accompanying him.

Mr. Anscomb hopes to arrange for the borrowing of $20,000,000 and he hopes to get the money for around 3 per cent because B.C.'s finances are considered in such good repute.

About $7,000,000 of the loan is expected to go towards the extension of the government-owned B.C. Power Commission's services, while the bulk of the remainder will go to the public works program which includes road building and current extensions of the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

No Frost In Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—Southerly winds and cloudy skies kept temperatures in all Manitoba districts well above freezing Thursday night. Temperatures continued moderate today.

Bus Strike Ends

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Railway, Light and Power Company, announced late today the signing of a new contract with their 122 autobus garage workers who had been on strike for eight days seeking higher wages.

Agreement on the new contract means restoration of full service as soon as all buses can be put back on the road.

Claims Yugoslavia Mobilizing Troops

BUCHAREST (AP)—The Communist Journal claimed today that Yugoslavia was mobilizing troops on its borders with neighboring Communist states and that "feverish fortification works are in progress along the border."

The claims were made by a writer, identified only as I. Leontic.

He charged that Tito was "brandishing the sword at the Balkans."

Fast Jet Flight

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuter)—An R.A.A.F. Vampire jet fighter Thursday flew from Sydney to Melbourne and back—910 air miles—in total flying time of two hours, one minute and 15 seconds. The plane averaged 414 miles an hour on the forward journey and 497 miles an hour on the return leg.

Commons' Biggest Member

Jack Garland, 500-pound Liberal member of Parliament for Nipissing, Ont., is sitting in an ordinary chair in the Commons chamber. When the 31-year-old six-foot-two heavyweight from North Bay, Ont., was elected last June, government officials were rumored to be building special chairs for him—just in case. Later the rumors were denied. Mr. Garland has been given a desk in the chamber to himself. All other members sit two to a desk. (CP Photo.)

Two Thugs Hold Up Bank, Beat Clerk With Revolver

MONTREAL (CP)—Two armed bandits today robbed a west-end branch of the Royal Bank of Canada of $4,000 and escaped, after beating a clerk with the butt of a gun.

It was the second Montreal hold-up in three days. Wednesday a pair of gunmen took $4,000 from a Banque Canadienne Nationale Branch in the north end of the city.

The two entered the Royal Bank Branch at the corner of Monkland Boulevard and Harvard Avenue shortly before 11 a.m. and threatened the staff and customers with their guns.

A dozen customers were transacting business when the robbery was staged.

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—For the eighth time, William Jerome Phyle today escaped execution for the killing of Elmer Frazier in a San Diego holdup in 1946.

He was scheduled to die in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber this morning. The Supreme Court granted a temporary stay of execution so Phyle's attorney might seek another trial of his client's sanity.

Cattle Rustling Ring Smashed Say Mounties

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (BUP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Lethbridge say they have smashed the rustling ring which was operating in southern Alberta.

Two more men have been arrested in connection with the cattle stealing. They are Richard Fletcher, 24, of Sudbury, Ont., and John Orlich, 24, of Brockton, Alta.

Fletcher was arrested last Wednesday in Deleau, Man., while Orlich was picked up by the R.C.M.P. in Delbonita, Alta. Both men have been sent to the Lethbridge jail. Four others are in custody.

No Settlement

A final communiqué said the commission would resume its talks with Arab and Israeli delegations in New York Oct. 19.

Top Hungary Red Admits All Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—Col. George Kovach said today it's strictly nonsense that he ever made or tried to make László Rajk an anti-Communist agent.

Rajk, pleading guilty in Budapest to plotting against the Hungarian government, had testified that Kovach forced him on behalf of the Americans to work against the Red-dominated regime.

"I never even met Rajk," Kovach said, "he was not a government minister when I was in Budapest and, while I saw him at various parties, I had no desire to meet him."

"It is just one of those nicely built-up Communist stories," Kovach, now general manager of the Great Northern Hotel here, was chief of the Hungarian section of the U.S. Military Mission in Budapest from Feb. 18, 1945, to Dec. 5, 1946.

By ENDRE MARTON

BUDAPEST (AP)—László Rajk, once Hungary's No. 2 Communist, told a people's court today he had plotted with Americans and other westerners to overthrow the Communist government and make Hungary a "colony of Yugoslavia."

Rajk, former Interior Minister and Foreign Minister in the Communist government, went on trial for his life with seven others against a background of a seething war of nerves between Communist Yugoslavia and the Soviet-led nations of the Cominform.

The former boss of Hungary's police pleaded guilty to all charges in the indictment. One of these was that he had plotted with Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government to assassinate leading Hungarian officials.

FOLLOWS PATTERN

Rajk quickly named two Americans as accomplices. Heaping guilt upon his own head in a long recital to the court, he freely—almost eagerly—testified to contacts with British, French, U.S. and Yugoslav intelligence agents.

(The trial was following a familiar pattern. As in the case of the convicted Roman Catholic Prime Minister, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the defendants went on trial with the presumption that they were guilty until proved innocent. This is the opposite of most western procedure.)

Russians Fined

REVELJAVIK (AP)—Captains of four Russian fishing boats have been fined for fishing for herring inside territorial waters off Iceland's east coast.

Their gear and catch were confiscated. Three were fined 4,047 kroner (about $2,200) and one 550 kroner. The Russians started fishing for herring around Iceland last year.

Frigate Aids Ship

HALIFAX (CP)—The R.C.A.F. supply ship Malahat, touring northern bases, reported today her engine had burned out and she was drifting off Digby, Island at the western entrance to Hudson Strait. The Canadian frigate Swansea, cruising in the area, has been diverted to the Malahat. The air force ship is in no immediate danger and her crew is safe.

S.I.U. Not Seeking T.L.C. Affiliation In Place Of C.S.U.

CALGARY (BUP)—Hal Banks, Canadian director of the Seafarers' International Union, said today that his union would not apply for membership in the Trades and Labor Congress in the place vacated by the Canadian Seamen's Union.

The left-wing C.S.U. was suspended from the T.L.C. last June for its actions in the maritime strike. Later the union withdrew from the T.L.C. of its own accord, but formal ratification of the C.S.U.'s suspension from the T.L.C. is to be discussed at the nine-day T.L.C. convention which opened here Thursday.

Today it appeared that the controversial suspension issue would not be discussed until early next week.

Natural Gas Blast Tears Edmonton Dairy Pool Plant

EDMONTON (CP)—A natural gas explosion today ripped through the lower floors of the Northern Alberta Dairy Pool building in the warehouse district here, injuring 10 persons.

The blast was touched off when a power shovel, digging a shallow excavation in a vacant lot next door, struck a natural gas main leading to the plant. The boiler room was filled with thousands of cubic feet of gas, which exploded, showering glass into the street and destroying two boilers.

Extent of the injuries to the 10 men were not immediately known but at least one man suffered severe head and face lacerations.

Many Questions, Motions On Commons' Order Paper

OTTAWA (CP)—A proposal for a Commons committee on health, welfare, social security and housing came today from Donald Fleming (P.C.-Toronto-Eglinton) as Parliament's private members started throwing around their questions and ideas.

With the session just one day old, the back benches filed on the Commons order paper some 16 queries and resolutions, ranging all the way from a request for a new House committee to choose a Canadian flag to a revival of the proposal that a native of Canada be the next Governor-General.

The questions will eventually be answered by the government. The resolutions may or may not get debated and their chances of adoption are slim.

Mr. Fleming's resolution proposes a committee of 35 members and is in line with the interest he showed in such matters during the last Parliament.

The proposal for the flag committee came from a Liberal member, Jean Richard of Ottawa East. The Governor-General resolution came from Bona Arseneault (Lib.-Bonaventure, Que.).

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

HOBOES' CONVENTION

A REFERENCE in an eastern paper to a convention about to be held in Rochester, N.Y., caught my eye the other day. Not that conventions are rarities. Anything but! In fact, there's scarcely a day on the calendar which doesn't see a convention in progress somewhere on this North American continent.

But it was the name of the organization about to meet that attracted my attention. It was The Itinerant Knights of the World, and, at first glance, I took it to be one of the many secret fraternities with which this continent also abounds—wherever two or more men can be gathered together to give the high sign.

On delving a little deeper, I learned that The Itinerant Knights of The World is, indeed, the name of a secret fraternity which has its own peculiar sign language.

TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP!

ACCORDING to my authority, the I.K.W.—and I use the initials to conform to another very prevalent custom on this North American continent—is the official title of the ancient order of hoboes.

And because, to my sensitive nostrils, a hobo doesn't necessarily smell any the sweeter under such a high-falutin' name, I lied me to that democratic Who's Who, the dictionary, to see if his origin gave any justification for the use of the word "knight" as a euphemism.

Chambers' English dictionary didn't even mention the hobo. Webster's defined him as "an idle, shiftless, wandering workman, ranking scarcely above the tramp," but gave no hint of his etymological origin.

IN FULL FLOWER

DESPITE that handicap, the itinerant knighthood of the world looks like coming to full flower at Rochester. But the head man, or "Emperor," as he calls himself, isn't any too happy about it.

"Emperor" Jeff Davis of the I.K.W., in a press interview before the opening of the convention, sadly presaged a small attendance of delegates at the convention, saying: "Most of the 'boes are now in conventional jobs." And mournfully added: "A few have so thoroughly prospered that they will fly here."

Mr. Davis didn't say how many would sweep down on Rochester in their privately-owned planes, but it just serves to show how the mighty pan-handling fraternity have fallen.

RUGGED INDIVIDUALISTS

SO THERE goes another of my cherished illusions. I had always been under the impression the hoboes were rugged individualists—or not so rugged, perhaps—who led lazy lives because of their reluctance to conform to the conventional idea that you have to work in order to eat.

Yet here we are confronted with evidence that they not only join societies and hold conventions—even as you and I—but they also conform to the conventional idea that a steady job pays better than hunting for hand-outs.

ADDLED AGENDA

I DON'T know what's on the agenda for the Rochester convention; but I imagine that the constitution will have to be changed to permit of job-handlers qualifying for membership as well as pan-handlers.

No doubt, the one-time discussions about the secret signs allegedly left by hoboes to indicate generous—or otherwise—hand-outs at certain houses will be superseded by discussions on road signs in their relation to itinerant knights-errant.

After all, the etymological origin on the word "hobo," to which I alluded earlier, may not matter much. For it looks as if both the word and the species are doomed to early extinction in these days of full employment—even of hoboes.

Believes Neighbors
'Stripping' Her Home

The case of a woman resident of Saanich who suffered delusions that she was being robbed by her neighbors, was heard in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

After hearing policemen and neighbor's testify how the woman had stood on her veranda on the afternoon of Aug. 25 and screamed and shouted abuse at passers-by and neighbors and her emphatic denials of such behavior, Magistrate Hall won her promise to go and see a psychiatrist.

He saw this as a case of extreme nervous condition. She was charged with causing a disturbance.

Sgt. Eric Elwell said he found the woman in full voice, showering a tirade of abuse and accusations at neighbors.

"I tried for 15 minutes to subdue her. You could hear her easily a block away," said the sergeant.

The sergeant said the woman was screaming about neighbors stealing from her. She wanted him to go to the neighbors who had stolen her jewelry and to regain the fur coat "taken from my back in a theatre" by one of them.

Sgt. Elwell said the woman said people had stripped her house down to even taking the carpet off the kitchen floor.

SCOFFS AT EVIDENCE

Magistrate Hall was forced to halt the woman when she broke out periodically with denials and scoffing remarks relating to the evidence.

Constable Robert Coleman said he took notes of what she yelled. She had screamed about thieves who had taken connections off her stove and boiler, about being taken to hospital and given arsenic, how she had been refused a telephone and how she was so scared of people stealing from her that she had not left the house for a year.

In the witness box, however, the woman claimed she had not been rowdy as the evidence indicated.

"I was crying because I had not heard from my husband for six months," she said, pointing out that she was lonely. The husband apparently is in hospital.

Claiming that she had never come beyond the screen door and set foot on the veranda, she said she was of the opinion she had a right to cry in her own home.

Record Of Birth
Destroyed By Fire,
Lawyer Tells Judge

The Irish rebellion was featured in a petition submitted to Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Supreme Court Chambers Thursday requesting permission for distribution of the $18,000 estate of Alexander Crawford of Deep Cove who died intestate in 1948.

R. D. Harvey, K.C., representing the administrators of the estate, ask for leave to hand over the estate to the legal heir, Francis Crawford Williams of London, Eng., a nephew of Mr. Crawford. Nearest other relatives were first cousins.

While the beneficiary had sufficient evidence to establish that he was the rightful heir of Mr. Crawford, Mr. Harvey said Mr. Williams had no birth certificate. His record of birth was destroyed when the church at Meath, Slane County, Erie, was set afire during the times of troubles in Southern Ireland.

While not opposing the petition, P. J. Bates, representing several first cousins, pointed out that a letter had been received from the sexton of the church stating that the nephew of Mr. Crawford had died at childbirth with his mother. Both were buried in the Irish village.

He added, however, that he had received a letter from a firm of Irish solicitors stating that the report of the death of the nephew was unreliable.

H. E. Alder, acting on behalf of the nephew, said that on the death of Mr. Williams' mother, the nephew was taken to England by his father where he lived with his grandmother in 1896. The nephew's mother was the sister of Mr. Crawford.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane said he felt there was sufficient evidence to show that Mr. Williams was the rightful heir. He ordered distribution of the estate.

Says Canada Has Bright Future
Under Free Enterprise System

Advice that Canada should stick with its present system of free enterprise and steer clear of any experiments with socialism was given Thursday night by Allan C. Ross, Ottawa, president of the Canadian Construction Association, at a Victoria Building Industries Exchange meeting in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Ross indirectly charged Britain's Labor government with retarding progress in that country through the implementation of its socialist policies.

"And sympathetic though we must be with Britain," he said, "we should not fail to learn the lessons which her present situation has for us."

He maintained Canadian management should take a lesson from the plight of British industrialists who relied too much on "protective devices." He said Canadian labor should take a lesson from British labor which, loaded with social security programs, had lost the incentive to get ahead.

"Let government also consider the plight brought about by programs which involve vast numbers of people in non-productive employment, and whose controls and red tape throttle the efforts of those best fitted to boost production."

By maintaining the free enterprise system, Mr. Ross continued, Canada will continue to go ahead with development of its vast potentialities and will become, in a much greater sense than it is today, a big world power.

OUTLOOK OPTIMISTIC

The outlook for the whole Canadian economy is optimistic when one takes a look at long-range prospects," the speaker declared.

The rate of Canada's present economic development, Mr. Ross continued, is considerably faster than that of her neighbor, the United States.

"Since the beginning of the century," he said, "population has increased in Canada approximately two and one-half times, while the United States' population has not quite doubled it."

ALLAN C. ROSS

than in any other country in the world, on a pro rata basis.

Turning from housing to a different kind of construction work, road building, Mr. Ross showed enthusiasm at the rapid strides being made to bring about an early completion of a 5,000-mile hard surface Trans-Canada Highway.

He said there was little doubt that Parliament, during its current session, will provide between 150 and 200 million dollars as a federal contribution to this project. He said the 10 provinces, collectively, will be expected to match the federal grant.

"I am confident that the monies spent on the Trans-Canada Highway will be returned in benefits to the people of Canada many times over," Mr. Ross concluded.

Also speaking at the meeting was R. G. Johnson, general manager of the C.C.A., who dealt with the workings of the association.

Walter Loney, president of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange, presided over the meeting, which was attended by 80 persons associated with the construction business in and around Victoria.

Temporary Halt On Transmission Work

Work on the new transmission power line between Victoria and Nanaimo has been closed down temporarily as part of the construction program, E. W. Arnott, vice-president of the B.C. Electric for Vancouver Island announced today.

Present work being done by the Northern Construction Company had been completed for the year, Mr. Arnott stated, but their contract will resume again next year. Complete project is scheduled to be completed by September of 1950, he said. Clearing work on the route for the transmission line had been practically completed, it was learned.

Originator Of Plan To Clean Up Gorge, John Day, Dies

John Day, well-known figure around Victoria's City Hall, died late Thursday afternoon at his home, 880 Maddison Street. He was 86 years of age.

A retired sanitary engineer, Mr. Day was credited with originating the plan of cutting a canal from Portage Inlet to Thetis Cove to clean up the Gorge. He campaigned vigorously for years in an effort to get government support for his plan.

Keenly interested in all phases of civic government, Mr. Day was until recently a regular attendant at City Council meetings. He was an aldermanic candidate at one time but was not elected. His opinions on public matters were often expressed in letters to newspaper editors.

Mr. Day was born in Wolverhampton, Staffordshire, Eng. He is survived by a daughter, Mary, and three sons, Robert, John and Joseph, all of Victoria.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Interment will follow at Colwood Burial Park.

WE ARE GROWING UP

DOMINANT AMONG THE LEGISLATIVE
fare to which the members of the House of Commons will be asked to give their attention during the first session of Canada's 21st Parliament which began its deliberations yesterday is a measure to ask the United Kingdom to vest in the senior legislative body of this country the right to amend its constitution.

It is scarcely necessary at this late date, of course, to restate the fact that the British North America Act is an imperial statute. But until other arrangements are made between Ottawa and London it still will be necessary for the Canadian House of Commons and the Canadian Senate, through a joint "prayer," to obtain formal permission from the Parliament of the United Kingdom when the elected representatives of the people of this country find it desirable to effect certain changes in the constitutional machinery by which we run our public business.

It will not be surprising if that fast-windling Colonial-minded element in this country looks down its mid-Victorian nose at the suggestion put forth in the Speech from the Throne with which the Governor-General opened yesterday's proceedings. But the number of Canadians—regardless of their place of birth—who still would vote for government control from Downing Street are very few indeed. Ninety-nine out of every hundred of our people understand and appreciate the significance and efficacy of those evolutionary processes by which the various component parts of the British family of nations have acquired the right to look after their own affairs without domination by or interference from the Mother of Parliaments at Westminster. Naturally enough, some members of the Opposition in the House of Commons at Ottawa will parade the familiar antediluvian arguments against what they will call another step on the part of Canada toward severing her ties with the parent Dominion of the Commonwealth. These need not be taken seriously. They have been trotted out many times in recent years.

Nor is there much new in this particular proposal contained in the Speech from the Throne. Its origin may be traced to the resolution approved at the Imperial Conference in London in 1926. At that time, it will be recalled, Rt. Hon. Arthur Balfour, Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, Rt. Hon. Wm. Lyon Mackenzie King and Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe evolved a formula which settled once and for all the equality of status of the various self-governing nations of the British Commonwealth. In 1931, the Statute of Westminster confirmed in specific legal terms the decision which had been reached five years earlier. In other words, what happened in 1926, and subsequently in 1931, had the force and effect of an announcement to the world that the Dominions were free to continue a constitutional course which already had become familiar through custom.

Whether the proposal to ask the Imperial Parliament to pass legislation vesting in the Dominion of Canada the right to amend her own Constitution will be followed by the Dominion Parliament's decision to abolish appeals to the Imperial Privy Council is a matter which, obviously, must remain, for the time being, in the speculative realm. From the layman's point of view, however, it would seem that the time has arrived when Canadians of all political stripes should realize that the Supreme Court of Canada, composed as it is of some of the most brilliant legal minds in the world, is as competent to adjudicate on such matters—even of an interpretive character as between Dominion and provincial jurisdictions—as the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London. Moreover, it is no secret that the Privy Council in the Empire's metropolis, which has enough to do on its own account, would learn with not a little satisfaction that henceforward its dockets would not be cluttered up with appeal cases from Canada. Whether the eminent members of the legal fraternity in the Dominion will agree on this point is another matter.

As for the other items in the Speech from the Throne, there would seem to be sufficient material to engage the attention of our national lawmakers for several weeks, especially in respect of those proposals which have to do with such questions as housing, assistance to the shipbuilding industry, and those multifarious items that are bound to evoke lively discussion and, by the same token, criticism from the Progressive Conservative and Co-operative Commonwealth Federation benches.

A WORTHY MEMORIAL

THERE WILL BE A GENERAL AP-
proval of the program announced for the formal opening of Victoria's Memorial Arena, stressing as it does the solemn nature of the occasion and the sacrifice of those whose memory the building is intended to preserve. The importance given to the presence of veterans' representatives, bereaved parents and school children will be favorably noted, for these are the people whose interest in the Arena transcends its mere function as a gathering place for sports and entertainment. They are those whose loss has been greatest, or, in the case of the children, whose heritage is the right to freedom so dearly bought by the men and women who are thus commemorated.

For many citizens the "open house" will provide the first opportunity to inspect the structure. They will find it admirably adapted to its purpose, although its future popularity may tax its capacity. It is a building of which any city might be proud, and now that the long delays and disappointments are things of the past, we may expect the community to make full use of the facilities available.

A NEW APPROACH

IT HAS BEEN A LONG HARD ROAD, but international co-operation would now seem to have arrived at the point where the economic interdependence of countries is achieving almost matter-of-fact recognition. The growth of such a concept has been so gradual that the man in the street may be surprised to recall the days when foreign trade was a matter of bitter competition and cut-throat tactics. The complete ruin of a competitor, if it were necessary in the course of eliminating him from a market, was a matter of no consequence. It was the epitome of the policy of "winner take all."

But two world wars and the heavy burden of international debts and obligations that resulted from them have changed thinking in this regard. Competition in selling must remain, for that is the protection of the consumer who wishes to buy at the lowest possible price. But such developments as the Benelux arrangement for trade among Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg; the Western Union system for economic co-operation; and the recent Washington talks held by Britain, Canada and the United States, illustrate the new philosophy that is finding a place in the world today. Canada's Finance Minister Douglas Abbott summed it up concisely in a recent statement. Referring to the political success of the Atlantic Pact, he observed: "This principle is as important in economic as it is in political co-operation. . . . Economically and in the field of human welfare our fortunes are also linked and we go up or down together."

The fact is that modern technological progress has made the world too small for unbridled commercial warfare. The United States has come to realize that the bankruptcy of Britain would be equally catastrophic in the Western Hemisphere as it would be in Europe. The erstwhile enemy, Germany, must be restored economically if Europe is to recover. The Canadian economy cannot be allowed to suffer a major reverse through a collapse of foreign trade, for the repercussions would be felt far afield. And so it goes. Interdependency has brought the need for co-operation, which in turn has made compromise a major virtue. With all the shortcomings that this century has exhibited, historians may yet see it as forming the dawn of a new era of international understanding, which ultimately will result in the triumph of the concept of One World.

COLD BUSINESS FACTS

MUCH IS BEING MADE OF THE FACT that Great Britain has entered into a contract with the Soviet Union for the supply of 100,000 standards of softwood. As we understand it, however, the order which the United Kingdom has placed with the authorities in Moscow is mostly intended to furnish the kind of wood which is used in the building trades and for the manufacture of furniture.

It is interesting to note that the 1938 total of British imports of timber of all varieties—excluding hardwoods and pit props—from Russia and Baltic countries totaled some 1,237,000 standards. It should be mentioned, of course, that a standard is nearly 2,000 feet board measurement.

British Columbia is intensely interested in selling the products of her forests to the United Kingdom. But it is a well-known fact that in the years preceding the Second World War the whole of Canada sold to Great Britain—taking 1938 as an example—only 457,000 standards. In that year Sweden marketed in the United Kingdom 378,000 standards, Finland 470,000, the Soviet Union 364,000, Poland, 125,000 standards. In other words, Britain imported from the rest of the world in the year of Munich a total quantity of sawn and planed softwood, very much in excess of Canada's total export to both Great Britain and Elre—1,237,000 against 457,000!

We mention this export of timber because as the forest industry of British Columbia thrives through its export to other lands, so does the economic condition of this part of Canada improve. But the point to be emphasized is the fact that there is nothing new or novel in the announcement of the latest deal between London and Moscow in this regard.

Furthermore, if a certain species of timber were required urgently by the building trade of Great Britain, its requirements could be filled from Northern Europe within about 48 hours—whereas, on the other hand, an order placed with British Columbia operators for a certain species of "fine cuts" could not be filled, economically, for many weeks.

It is well to keep all these facts in mind when hard-pressed Britain, now somewhat relieved by the results of the Washington Conference, finds it necessary to do business with some of the European countries whose political ideology differs very substantially from her own.

LIQUIDATING THE CRISIS

IN THE MAZE of tangled problems, which we are calling the British crisis, there is a main thread which we can pick up and follow. It is the story of the British war debts—known in the United States form as Lend Lease and when incurred in the Commonwealth and Empire as the Sterling Balances. We do not, I think, oversimplify the problem, in the sense of misleading ourselves, if we take what happened to these war debts as a main clue to the crisis and to what may be expected in the near future.

We may begin by fixing it in our minds that in her enormous and heroic performance in the war Britain not only sacrificed a very large part of all her accumulated foreign assets but also went deeply into foreign debt. American lend lease was about $30,000,000,000; the war debts to the Empire and Commonwealth and some other related countries were—if we count the pound sterling at $4—over $14,000,000,000 more.

WE HAD realized here, even before the war was over, that with her losses and her debts Britain alone and unaided could not achieve a tolerable standard of life and maintain her position as a great power in the world. American aid began with the British loan which was negotiated in Washington in 1945. In that loan agreement there were three main points. We canceled $30,000,000,000 of lend lease war debt. We loaned Britain nearly $4,000,000,000 of new money. And we obtained an understanding that Britain would also negotiate a war debt settlement with her creditors in the Commonwealth and Empire.

We took the view that Britain could not recover even with American aid, if she had to repay all these war debts. In the 1945 loan agreement it was understood that a large part of the war debts (or sterling balances) were to be canceled, that another part was to be funded over a long term, and that only a small part—at the rate of about $170,000,000 a year—was to be paid back immediately.

THIS UNDERSTANDING has not been carried out. Before we look at the reasons why the British government did not carry out the understanding about the Empire war debts, it will be useful to take a measure of the burden they have been and still are. In the twelve months which ended last June the British government "released" funds from the "blocked sterling balances"—that is to say, repaid war debt—to India, Pakistan, Egypt, Iraq and Ceylon to the tune of about 210 million pounds. If the pound is figured at $4, this was a burden of about $800,000,000 a year. In other words, the British have been paying out of their current earnings and dwindling reserves this large sum to the countries of the Middle East and of Southern Asia. They have also, it should be added, been supplying to Europe another $300,000,000 of goods for which they do not receive goods in return.

The present crisis, which brought Sir Stafford Cripps and Mr. Bevin to Washington, turns on the fact that the British people cannot, even with Marshall aid, earn their own living, maintain their own social services, keep up a big military establishment, and give away to Asia and to Europe what they are now giving away.

WHEN WE ASK why the British government did not carry out the 1945 understanding about the Empire war debt, we come upon the really difficult issues of this crisis. There were two main reasons. The one was that if Britain had not financed the needs of India, Pakistan and Egypt, they would have been in great trouble. They had to be helped somehow. But there was another reason. When the British government helped these countries by letting them spend from their sterling balances, it created a protected market which was very profitable for British industry and maintained full employment for British labor.

Thus the enlightened political interest in supporting the countries of Southern Asia has been fused with British private vested interests, which in regard to British international solvency are not enlightened. As one Englishman put it to me recently: when the question had arisen of releasing sterling balances, the Treasury, thinking of the solvency of Britain, said No; the Board of Trade, thinking of trade and employment, said Yes reluctantly; and the Foreign Office, thinking of the British and the world political interests, said Yes emphatically.

THIS DIAGNOSIS indicates what will be, in fact, however presently disguised and withheld, the main lines along which the British crisis will be liquidated. The British government will be compelled to reduce to the vanishing point its contributions in the former Asiatic Empire. The United States by one means or another will have to take over the responsibility for their financial needs—particularly those of India, which is the largest of the British creditors. When and as this happens, the British protected market in that part of the world will be opened to American and world competition, and this will compel a deep readjustment, probably accompanied for a time by some unemployment, in the British Isles.

But Britain will be relieved of a burden she cannot carry, and she will be deprived of a protection which renders her industry uncompetitive. Then with American aid continued for some years beyond 1952, she may be in a position where her currency at a new rate of exchange can be supported by the United States and made convertible for current trade.

What The Comrades Hear

By FRED REDMAN in the Sunday Pictorial, London

"Police transformed the town into an armed camp. Armored cars assembled in front of the workers' districts. Lines of police waited in full military preparedness. Mothers hid their children so that they should not fall before the merciless bullets of the police."

MOSCOW FACTS

RECOGNIZE this description? Moscow says you should. For it's supposed to be London on May Day 1949. Pravda printed it, and the Soviet radio solemnly repeated the tale as fact.

These monstrous, fantastic lies are not exceptional. Radio stations of the Iron Curtain countries maintain a daily spate of such poisonous misstatement. Because Britain is losing the wordy warfare of the air—300 Russian stations jam the B.B.C.'s Russian-language broadcasts—millions of people in Eastern Europe never hear the truth.

I thought it amusing when Paul Winterston related in his book, "Inquest on an Ally," how a Russian paper published a picture of a toddler wearing reins with the caption "Children in London are often led on leash, like dogs." But it isn't funny any more, it's dangerous.

What kind of picture do the Comrades get now? I have been sifting monitored Russian broadcasts to find out. Comrade Kotik, ship's officer: says: "In London I found nothing but crowds of unemployed seeking their daily bread."

Shops are filled with tasty tinned fruit and flooded with silk stockings, claims "Komsomol Pravda." But all these goods are covered with a thick layer of dust, as most English women can't afford to buy them.

GAVE 'EXAMPLE'

In Oxford Street, says a Russian newspaperman, he found a "poor little boy of 12" holding a doll in his hands and crying in a broken voice: "Only sixpence—she can laugh or cry—only sixpence." Taking pity on the child, the Soviet reporter found that his mother had died of starvation, and selling dolls was his only way of making a living!

And here comes the moral: "In Britain there are thousands like this boy. Out of every 1,000 children, 800 have no chance of going to school."

British children are all unhappy; Russian listeners are told. In most schools in the suburbs and smaller towns there is no glass in the windows, there are no benches to sit on.

Here are some more cracks at British institutions:

Law—"In Britain the scales of justice are apt to tip the way the judges wish them to go."

The Lords—"Some 700 idlers or besotted statesmen clad in ermine."

The Theatre—"Full of adultery stories of high life."

The Labor Party—"No more Socialism in our time, no prospect of abolishing the rule of the Capitalist monopolists, not a single important social reform."

Doctors—"Commerce makes them partners, and the sufferings of the people are neglected."

AIR WAR

The war of the air isn't covered by international law. It is a war without rules. But draft conventions for freedom of information come before the next meeting of the United Nations Assembly.

At that meeting both Britain and America will strongly protest that radio jamming makes freedom of information impossible.

The Russians and their satellites will, of course, deny it.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

GREECE'S threat to invade Communist Albania as a measure of self-defence, if guerrilla forces launch further attacks on Greek soil from Albania, has capitals on both sides of the Iron Curtain worried.

Washington, London and Moscow are particularly concerned, and it's reported that the Anglo-American brotherhood is likely to take steps to discourage any such military operation by their Greek ally. It wouldn't be surprising if Russia advised Albania to go easy.

A Greek invasion of Albania could easily precipitate another world war. And perhaps the most significant, and hopeful, aspect of the current affair is that both sides in the cold war are anxious to avoid another general upheaval.

The Balkans through the centuries have been the whelping ground of armed conflicts. The situation at the moment is particularly delicate, not only on account of the Greece-Albania row but because relations between Turkey and Bulgaria again are tense—or perhaps one should say more tense than usual. To this must be added the feud which has developed between Yugoslavia and Russia's Balkan satellites because of dictator Tito's political revolt against Moscow.

GOOD REASON, BUT!

Of course the fact that Greece's sponsors frown on any invasion of Albania is in no sense due to doubts as to the truth of the Athens charges. The Albanian operations have been carried on more or less openly for a long time. It just isn't smart to retaliate in such fashion as to precipitate another global upheaval.

Albania lies between Yugoslavia and Greece and is a corridor into the Balkan Peninsula. For this reason it has for hundreds of years been used as a gateway by invading armies.

Flip a match anywhere in the Balkans these days and you could start a fire which might be hard to put out. The encouraging thing is that the Moscow, Washington and London firewreath all are keeping an eye out to see that nobody tosses that match.

THEY'RE EVERYWHERE

Toronto Globe and Mail

Now comes the time of the fall fairs, those local gatherings the country over which play such a vital part in the progress of their communities. There go the lordly aristocrats of the barn, the fruit and flower of the earth, the magic of the housewife's pantry, all to vie for honors.

There go, also, the neighbors and their families to an annual rendezvous which is an essential function in their social life. The doings of the homes and churches and schools mingle in these places with the politics of the times and the ancient wisdom of the soil.

DEW

New York Times

Since ancient days dew has been an accepted symbol of dawn and morning freshness. In poetry and prose one reads of dew "falling," this is permissible literary license, but not scientifically correct. The tiny drops of water that gather on leaves, blades of grass and threads of spiders' webs are condensed from water vapor. Now that September is here one can study the dew miracle on coolish mornings. The process begins shortly after sunset; it continues through the night unless the temperature changes. As earth and plants radiate their heat and grow cooler, the moisture in surrounding warmer air is condensed on the cooling objects.

COLLECTORS' ITEMS

Winnipeg Free Press

A visiting New York writer has let out a yelp of collector's delight at the sight of Winnipeg's "little yellow wooden trolley cars." They are, he insists, works of art and he would like to take one home with him.

There perhaps is the solution to Winnipeg's transportation problem. If the Winnipeg Electric Company were to canvass the market, it might be able to work off its whole fleet of street cars to collectors of early Canadiana and Americana. With the prices that collectors' items sometimes fetch, it might even be able to raise enough money from this source to lay in a fleet of new trolleys.

"Dreamer, dream no more!"

Vote Of Thanks

Washington Post
Since everybody these days seems to be getting an award, a medal or a crown for something, we propose at least a vote of thanks to early September.

On the other hand, several solid facts stand out in accusation of the groups which appeared in opposition to Communist Robeson and his supporters. Altogether some 145 people received medical treatment after

Ate Marijuana, Went Hog-Wild Says Farmer

PLAINVIEW, Neb. (AP)—William Bohl broke up a narcotics ring in his own feed lots this week.

When his hogs began to grow thin and wobble uncertainly about the feed lot, Bohl launched a one-man investigation. At the back of the feed lot he found the hogs jumping in the air to get at the last few leaves near the top of a lush stand of marijuana plants.

After destroying the plants Bohl said today his hogs were "getting back to normal."

Victim Of Murder Thought Bootlegger

WINNIPEG (CP)—Disclosure that Mrs. Doris Sadova may have collected considerable cash through illicit sale of liquor spurred police in "several leads" for the hunt for her slayer.

Police are working on clues that the person or persons who trussed the elderly woman with adhesive tape may have been customers after her money.

She was found dead in her North Winnipeg room Tuesday. Police said she had been dead for 40 hours. A preliminary inquest Thursday was adjourned until Sept. 23.

Neighbors said Mrs. Sadova was zealous in guarding a trunk kept in her ramshackle home. The trunk's lock was broken and the trunk was empty when police investigated.

Other neighbors said men would visit the shabby home at all hours and some would come out drunk. They also said trucks delivered beer to her regularly each week.

The meeting was held in one of the private dining-rooms off the parliamentary restaurant and included the wives as well as the legislators. J. A. Simmons, newly-elected Liberal M.P. for the Yukon was included in the group.

B.C. Welcomes Housing Plans Laing Tells Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Similar to other provinces British Columbia welcomed government steps to alleviate Canada's housing shortage, Arthur Laing (L.-Vancouver South) said today.

The west-coast province also share the concern of all Canada and western democracies in current international trade and currency difficulties, Mr. Laing said.

Entering the Commons as a member for the first time, he rose to second the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, moved by M. Boisvert (L.-Nicolet-Yamaska, Que.).

He predicted the world—still filled with discord—probably would "never free itself of troubles." There were rumblings of new trouble as the world tried to find a "reasonable compromise between two opposed ideologies."

Extremism of any kind, Mr. Laing said, brought power which led to corruption, but Canada was shunning extremism to cling to the "middle way."

There might be some, he indicated, that "conjure up" in their minds dangers of sweeping political victories. "If these people studied the faith of the Liberals which had swept back into power with an overwhelming majority they would not cling to those views."

No Major Changes In Constitution Of Church By Synod

HALIFAX (CP)—The Church of England in Canada, its beliefs unshaken by vigorous internal criticism, has ended its 17th General Synod without making any major changes in its constitution.

As 300 delegates from all parts of the Dominion left Halifax after the close of the nine-day session Thursday night, the Synod had shelved most of the contentious legislation brought before it, but made a number of recommendations to further the aims of the church. It also took a cautious stand on some non-clerical matters.

This is what was accomplished in the session:

1. Kept the issue of divorce and dissolution out of the church's laws on re-marriage.
2. Approved a minimum salary of $1,600 a year for married clergymen on missionary work; a minimum of $1,800 for married clergymen and a cost-of-living bonus to retired ministers and their widows.
3. Deferred action on a move to select a headquarters for the church and its Primate.
4. Named a joint upper and lower house committee to review the issue of changing the church's name.
5. Protested "the proposal" to name a Canadian ambassador to the Vatican.

ON SAME LEVEL

6. Said, in effect, it would place capitalism and Communism on the same plane for the purpose of making "a right evaluation of the rival systems."

7. Voted to limit to four years the service of clergymen in missionary areas.

8. Requested a Royal Commission to study "all aspects" of Canada's liquor traffic.

9. Approved an optional marriage ceremony omitting the bride's promise to "obey."

The motions to set clerical salaries were automatically referred to the budget committee. Both houses approved the measure on cost-of-living bonuses but forwarded the issue to the Synod's executive council to find "ways and means" of implementing it. The bonuses are $200 for retired clergy and $100 for their widows.

Present minimum for married clergymen on missionary work is $1,400; for single clergy, $1,200.

Plea Of Not Guilty Made By Two In Narcotics Case

MONTREAL (CP)—Father Arthur Taillefer, a Roman Catholic priest of Montreal, pleaded innocent Thursday to a charge of selling narcotics in connection with a seizure of $80,000 worth of narcotics by Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Father Taillefer, previously identified by R.C.M.P. as a Montreal priest, was not identified in court, except by name. He appeared in civilian clothes, including a cloth wind-breaker and brown trousers.

He is of slight build and wore dark glasses.

The arraignment was in Judge Gerald Almond's chambers. Newspapermen were in attendance but no spectators.

Arraigned with Father Taillefer was Michel Sisco of Montreal, who also pleaded innocent.

The charge specifically named heroin and morphine as the narcotics concerned.

After their brief appearances both were remanded until Sept. 22 for preliminary hearing.

Earlier police announced that a seizure of $80,000 worth of heroin had been made, found in a baggage locker in Montreal's Windsor station.

Police said the seizure, made up of 32 ounces of the drug in 15,000 capsules, came after several months of investigation by 12 constables assigned specially to break the widespread racket.

The constables posed as addicts, peddlers and dealers.

Police said the drug was placed in the station locker by

"kingpins" of the racket in this city and that further arrests were expected as a result of the biggest haul of illegal drugs ever made in Montreal.

The arrested men will face charges of illegal possession of narcotics, said police.

They also announced recovery of a dummy package in a locker in Central Station, near Windsor Station, in midtown Montreal and said it was likely placed there to throw police off the trail.

They said the drug was brought into Canada from an unknown source for distribution among dealers and peddlers and thence on to addicts.

R.C.M.P. said that in addition to the work of their specially assigned constables, Montreal police in the last few months have arrested 40 persons who have been charged with illegal possession of drugs.

Police said each capsule of the seized drug normally sells for $3 but the local narcotics ring was cutting each capsule in half and selling each half for $3.

U.S. Govt. Seeks To Break Up Big A. And P. Company

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath filed suit Thursday to break up great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's nation-wide food chain.

The civil action was brought into federal district court at New York city this morning.

It is a follow-up to a criminal conviction of the A. and P. Company under the anti-trust statutes at Danville, Illinois, three years ago.

The conviction was affirmed in the U.S. court of appeals at Chicago early this year and the company paid fines totaling $175,000.

refugees who recently fled from Hungary said here Thursday that approximately 12 Soviet divisions are concentrated in Hungary near the Yugoslav border.

In New York, an A. & P. official branded the suit as "a threat to the welfare and living standards of every American citizen."

Entering a general denial of the government's attack, a spokesman for the food chain said "the whole basis of this attack is the fact that we sold good food too cheap."

"This is not just an effort to destroy A. & P., but an attack on the entire system of efficient low-cost, low-profit, mass distribution which this company pioneered," he said.

The action in New York requests a court order requiring A. & P. to separate its manufacturing and processing business from its buying and selling business and to separate its present seven retail store divisions into seven independently owned retail food chains.

Gowns At Commons Opening Draw Admiring Glances

OTTAWA (CP)—Although there are only two women—Senators Iva Fallis and Cairine Wilson—in this 21st Parliament, "the opening" as usual, was ladies' day.

Women were definitely in the majority, both in the galleries and on the main floor of the red-and-gold Senate chamber, for the opening is not only a social "must" in the capital but an ideal opportunity to show off the latest in feminine finery.

This year, however, fashion observers found the show a little disappointing. The majority relied on conservative dark shades with a sprinkling of autumn reds.

An exception was Viscountess Alexander, whose ankle-length formal dress of slate blue crepe with matching hat and gloves, drew whispered applause in the gallery. The gown, with long sleeves and graceful skirt, was enriched with beads and embroidery and her hat and gloves were in matching shade, the hat trimmed with feathers. Another was Mrs. George Drew, wife of the opposition leader, who wore a taupe woollen frock with matching hat and burgundy accessories.

Many of the wives wore or carried furs. Mrs. St. Laurent, who attended with her two daughters and daughters-in-law, wore a mink cape over her fashionable French model dress, coco in shade, and a cavendish model hat in matching shade with plumes, and matching accessories.

Young Parisian Teacher At College Escaped Prison Twice In World War

Victoria College has gone far afield this year in adding to its faculty. Prof. Claude Trell, left, came from Paris to work with Dr. Harry Hickman, right, head of the French Department at the college.

A young Frenchman who taught English at The Sorbonne in Paris last year has come to Victoria to teach French.

The newcomer to the faculty of Victoria College is 27-year-old Claude Trell whose youthful appearances belie the experiences he was fortunate to survive when the Germans invaded his homeland in World War II.

Prof. Trell, who will work with Dr. Harry Hickman at the college, fought the invaders underground and later in the uniform of the Free French, escaping prison twice during the war.

A member of the French Resistance Movement, Prof. Trell was arrested and imprisoned by the Germans in 1941.

He escaped to Spain where he was taken into custody again and placed behind bars. A second escape bid was successful and he found his way to Gibraltar where he joined the Free French Forces.

Prof. Trell first was sent to North Africa after donning uniform. He was in the fighting lines there one year before he was commissioned a liaison officer with the British Army.

He was sent to England and shortly after went with the Second Army to Normandy. He served in Northern France, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

Speaking perfect English with a slight French accent, Prof. Trell was reluctant to tell of his experiences.

He attended two universities in France, specializing in English—Besancon in Eastern France near the Swiss border, and The Sorbonne where he taught last year.

This is his first time in North America and he is looking forward to the months ahead at Victoria College.

Tells Of Activities Of Amateur Motion Picture Club Here

"Making motion pictures for consumption is not only interesting, but also fascinating. It affords valuable recollections of scenes in motion that are priceless," Douglas Flintoff of the Victoria Amateur Motion Picture Club said in an address to members of the Rotary Club Thursday.

Mr. Flintoff stated that the club with which he was affiliated started nearly 10 years ago by nine enthusiasts, and now has a paid membership of more than 50. The club was formed for the benefit of those interested in eight and 16 mm. films.

Thought behind the formation of the club was the exchanging of ideas and also for an education in the moving picture industry. At each meeting, a film would be shown. Mr. Flintoff said, and three or four members would offer constructive criticisms.

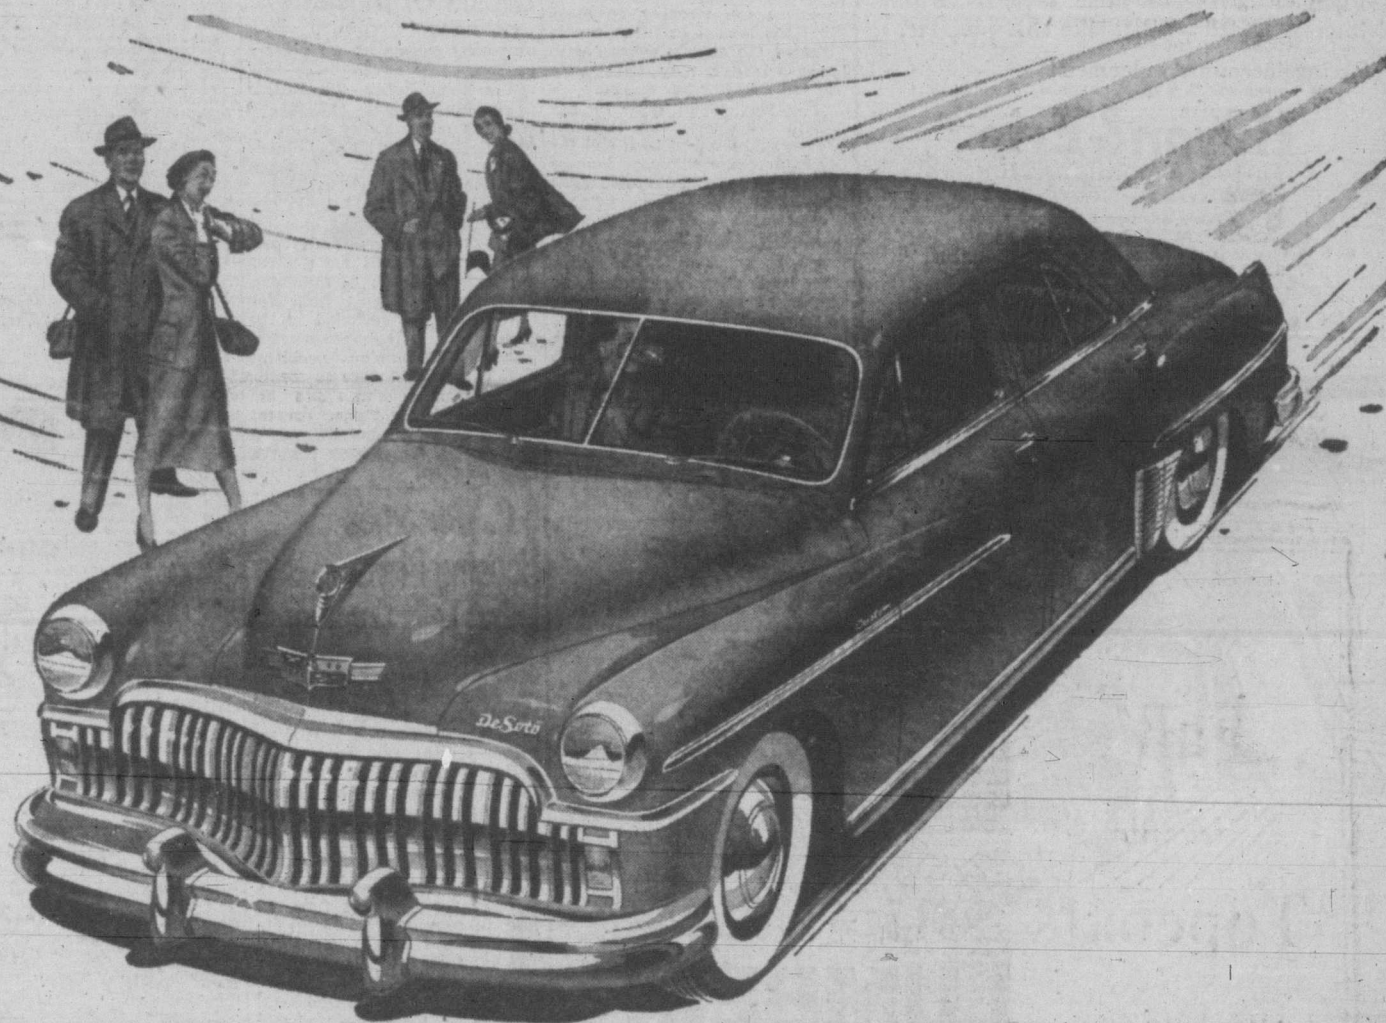

In addition, technical talks on all phases of movie making were discussed along with problems of color photography.

Salmon Pack Totals 1,116,822 Cases

British Columbia's salmon canneries had turned out 1,116,822 48-pound cases by last week-end, the chief supervisor of fisheries reported today.

The production to date is the largest since 1945 when 1,265,080 cases had been produced at this date.

The sockeye pack, at 254,507 cases, is just slightly ahead of the 254,002 cases produced to the same date last year. The coho pack, the biggest at this date in five years or more, is at 152,348 cases, while the pink pack now stands at 549,049 cases, biggest since 1945. The chum pack now totals 137,750 cases, smallest since 1945.

New Secretary For Police Chief Named

The city police commission meeting Thursday afternoon selected Edward C. Young, 47, of 3204 Linwood Avenue, a five-year resident of Canada, as the successor to Mrs. Bessie Shaw as the secretary to the chief of police of Victoria.

The commission approved his appointment when learning from Newton Smith, executive officer of the civic services committee, that Mr. Young has had extensive experience in legal offices together with work as a court reporter and several years' training in bookkeeping.

There were several applications for the position.

A resident of Hythe, Kent, Mr. Young joined the Royal Artillery at the outbreak of the Second World War and in 1941 was transferred to the Judge-Advocate-General branch of the war office and served in the North-west Europe theatre of operations. He was a staff-sergeant of that legal branch of the army at the end of hostilities.

Mr. Young will probably take over his duties at the start of October. Mrs. Shaw will retire at the end of October. In addition to his other qualifications, the new secretary has a diploma as a shorthand teacher, an A.C.T.S. diploma.

The new appointee was highly recommended by both Mr. Smith and Chief of Police John A. McLellan.

MANY POLICE CALLS

Police were called in to act in 1,730 cases during the month of August for a wide range of complaints and crimes. This was shown in the report of the police chief at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the police commission.

City Court Fines $2,512 In August

In city police court last month a total of $2,512 was collected in fines, chiefly from motorists for minor and major traffic offences.

This was shown in the monthly report submitted to the police commission Thursday afternoon by Chief of Police J. A. McLellan.

A total of 379 persons paid $1 fines for parking violations, not a few of them "repeated repeaters."

Persons who were named in court cases of a wide variety numbered 683. There were 188 convictions for violation of the streets traffic regulations by-law. Forty-five persons were fined for Motor Vehicle Act offences, 10 for motoring charges under the Criminal Code.

Refuse Policemen's Request For Fees

The Victoria City Police Union's request for payment of witness fees to members of the union who appear as witnesses in the higher courts, has met with a refusal from Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer.

A reply to the union request from the attorney-general read at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the city police commission said:

"If this rule is to be changed it would have to be changed all over the province and as this would involve tremendous expense... I am to advise that the government does not see its way to agree to this request."

A copy of the reply will be sent to the union.

Police Briefs

There were two inquests and 12 inquiries to investigate deaths in Victoria last month.

Businessmen are still not taking precautions to see that their places of business are secure before leaving for the day. During August policemen on their beats found 35 premises insecure.

A total of 62 houses that were vacant or unoccupied during the month were given attention by policemen on the beat or in prowler cars.

Ten persons were sentenced to imprisonment without option of a fine. Most of these were third-timers for the offence of being intoxicated in a public place.

Of all the cases before the court during the 31-day period only nine were dismissed or withdrawn.

Four juveniles were dealt with in Juvenile Court during August. They were charged with assault, theft, dangerous driving and exceeding the speed limit.

Big Shovel Cuts Telephone Line

The British Columbia government was without complete telephone service for more than seven hours Thursday.

A power shovel, digging a new sewer line along the east side of the Parliament Buildings, severed an underground telephone cable. As a result the headquarters of the B.C. government lost all telephonic communication with the outside world.

The interruption was believed one of the longest in recent years for the Parliament Buildings, the biggest telephone user in the city.

Repair crews worked swiftly to repair the break.

Promise Future Action On Quadra Widening Request

City police commission's request that Quadra Street's east side, between Hillside Avenue and Market Street, be widened to eliminate the traffic "bottle-neck" there, will not be handled this year by the city public works committee.

"The question will again be considered with a view of including it in the 1950 program," F. M. Waller, secretary of the committee, informed the commission in a letter read yesterday. The public works will also consider the commission's suggestion that the east side of Quadra from Hillside be widened right to the city limits.

The police board was informed the public works committee cannot take any immediate steps to carry out the recommendations due to the present road program "which is requiring all labor, equipment and funds available for this year."

36 Persons Reported Missing Here In August

Thirty-five of 36 persons reported missing in August were located, Chief of Police J. A. McLellan reported to the police commission yesterday. All of the seven autos reported stolen were recovered.

Only eight bicycles were reported stolen during the month, but the number found or brought in beat that figure by two.

Property Stolen In August Worth $1,721

Stolen property in Victoria in August was valued at $1,721, of which police recovered $288 worth, the police commission was informed Thursday afternoon at its meeting by Chief J. A. McLellan. Value of lost property totaled $1,589 and $361 worth of this was recovered.

Granddaughter Of City Couple Wed In California

A wedding of interest in Victoria took place in Atherton, Calif., recently when Lorene Livingstone, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Livingstone of 1095 Moss Street, became the bride of Albert Edward Sigal, Jr.

An informal garden wedding united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Livingstone of Burlingame and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edward Sigal.

Given in marriage by her father, a native Victorian who left for California following the First World War, the bride selected a ballerina length white embroidered organdy frock over blue.

She wore a crown of white bouvardia in her hair and carried bouvardia and white tube roses.

Sole attendant for the bride was her sister, Maryann, in blue embroidered organdy gown, also ballerina length. Her bouquet was of pink carnations and she wore the same flowers in her hair.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Casadey, Congregational pastor, before an altar of white asters and chrysanthemums.

William Sigal was his brother's best man.

A small wedding dinner for the newlyweds was attended by family members after the service. Mrs. Livingstone wore a grey taffeta model frock with orchid corsage bouquet and Mrs. Sigal Sr. was in black lace over green with a corsage bouquet of green chrysanthemums.

Mrs. J. W. Linn was her sister's matron of honor, in a full-skirted gown of blue moire taffeta, fashioned with off-shoulder neckline and back-bustle. The pale pink carnations and gladioli in her headdress were repeated in the arm bouquet she carried.

Rayon Suits Make Hit At Royal Arts College Show

LONDON (CP)—Pride of place was taken by two rayon suits at a student dress show held by the Royal College of Art's School of Fashion Design.

Chosen by a manufacturer for mass production, between 4,000 and 5,000 copies will be made for the next spring season and will sell for about $4 ($16).

The manufacturer who chose them was delighted. Entirely practical yet individualistic, the public will get a utility garment that is different. And this manufacturer is convinced that the only way to keep open the tightening public purse is to introduce individuality into mass production.

Suit No. 1, designed by 22-year-old Eileen Blackman, is in natural linen with collar, cuffs, and waistcoat of broderie anglaise. The jacket, of classic length, has double catch-button waist, three-quarter sleeves and accentuated hip pockets. The edge-to-edge front is reversible, have fly-away collar with long narrow points. The skirt has fullness with front inverted pleat.

No. 2, designed by 19-year-old June Sweeney, is in nigger and stone and will be reproduced in 24 different color combinations. The skirt, in nigger, is a gored flare with big drill-pickings which come from the waistband making a straight hip panel. The short-sleeved jacket is waist-length with double catch-button, edge-to-edge reversible front and tiny shirt collar. Attached to the hips of the jacket are two buttoned pocket flaps which give an independent contrasting flap to the pockets of the skirt.

SMART STUDENTS

Eileen has been designing and making her own clothes since she was 12. She won a scholarship to the Worthing Art School, then one to the Royal College of Art. Already she has her National Diploma in Design.

June, on the other hand, started off by being far more interested in painting and sculpture than in dress designing. She did not even like dress-making. But, as the Oxford School of Art, she discovered that she always seemed to draw fashionable women. That, finally, made up her mind for her.

Promoters of the fashion design department of the Royal College of Art, established a year ago, are pleased with the results of the student show. They say those who scoffed at the idea of the school and its three years' training now admit its importance. They believe it emphasized the wide scope of the fashion designer and the importance of learning the job from artist's hand to factory.

Besides the utility dresses, the student-designed fashion parade included evening dresses, coats, suits, dresses, beachwear and underwear. Stressing tie-up between accessories and the clothes they go with, the students showed a smart display of matched hats, belts and even buttons.

Rummage Sale

Altar Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Parish will hold a rummage sale Sept. 24 in Public Market. Donations for the sale may be left at 2761 Rosario Street, and will be called for after Sept. 21 by contacting Mrs. Dunn, Empire 4093.

Clubwomen's News

Arranged by Miss Grace Baker, the play is based on facts taken from the W.M.S. Blue Book entitled "Growing Through the Years." Parts will be taken by members of the society, and Mrs. E. R. Bewell will preside.

Refugee's Sadness Began Doll Project

NEW YORK (CP)—Ten-year-old Juliana was scared and heart-sick for her parents after arriving here from Hungary.

But Mrs. Corrine Friedman, an aunt with whom Juliana was living, knew the way to a little girl's heart and made Juliana a doll, faithfully dressed in Hungarian peasant costume. Juliana cheered up immediately.

The incident launched Mrs. Friedman, a milliner, on her hobby of doll-making. So far she has made and dressed 73 dolls representing many different countries.

Bursting with enthusiasm over her project, she says each doll requires many hours of research in the library. She wants every detail in the costumes to be correct—and her husband, a student of history, is a severe critic.

At first she dressed dolls only a couple of inches tall. But the wealth of detail in the folk costumes soon required larger models. Now each is seven inches high.

In Step With Style

By MARGUERITE DALZIEL

These attractive shirts, which are perfect under fall suit jackets, over skirts and with slacks, have found their way into many a suitcase belonging to the young Victoria college girl who set off for the mainland university this week.

The trim, clean-cut blouses, featured by several of this city's shops, are Canadian manufactured, and are creating much interest in stores across the border.

Especially suited to college girls and business women, the new shirt blouses are fashioned of fine broadcloth in sparkling stripes—with tiny collar and cuffs fused to lie just right—and are easily laundered.

Popular with the younger set, too, are attractive blouses with dainty Peter Pan and rolled collars. Favored are lightweight jerseys in warm, fall tones.

A new touch on beautifully tailored blouses, recently arrived from England, are rows of intricate stitching. Another popular blouse features tiny studs in place of buttons, to make laundering easier.

Middle Ages—Balenciaga of Paris might have been consulting fashion in the middle ages, for inspiration for his fall collection. His fashions with their tiered effect are reminiscent of the old-world draperies.

The fashion designer shows suits with tiny waists and contrasting pleated backs, soft folds, intricate pockets and interesting front panel closings... the same draped effect is seen in smart informal black dresses in his collections.

He also shows tricky capes... either buttoned front and waist with a tiny jacket effect, or with a simple boyish collar fastening in front. He even introduces a practical touch for the full sweep of the cape can be caught in front to fight off cold winds.

His collection has variety and on the luxurious side are evening ensembles fashioned in gold embroidered lace, lace on net, velvet embroidery and silk faille.

Wardrobe Standbys

With all the talk of what's new in fall fashions, wardrobe standbys are sometimes neglected. Perennial favorites are the basic black dress... three-piece suit... dress and jacket ensembles... and simple basic sport dress in wool jersey or lightweight wool.

These are just as much in evidence this season as ever.

Best basic black dresses are still ones that steer away from extreme styles. Skirts are slightly more narrow this fall, but even top designers are still including easy-to-wear black crepes with a comfortable flare to the skirt.

Dress and jacket ensembles are styled with even more simplicity this fall. Often a combination of fabrics, plain wool or wool jersey with tweed, is used to add interest to simple designs.

Newest jackets ensemble is a sleeveless wool dress under a matching or contrasting jacket. One manufacturer is featuring a grey flannel sleeveless dress with a bolero jacket, and grey ribbed-wool belted jacket over a slim grey sheer wool dress.

Three-piece suits—the college girl favorite for fall sports wear, three-pieces often use vests which can be worn with or without a blouse, lopped by boxy jackets.

One of the current young favorites is made from 100 per cent wool in popular camel shade. The skirt is slim, the boxy jacket lined with simulated leopard skin, and vest made from corduroy in chocolate brown.

Maybe these fall fashions won't make news but they do make a wearable party of every woman's wardrobe.

Survey Shows Many Women Wave Hair

TORONTO (CP)—Bad news for Canadian beauty-parlor operators came Thursday out of a welter of facts and figures, that is the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association's consumer survey; nearly two-fifths of Canadian women now wave their own hair.

In the third of a series of preliminary reports on the results of a questionnaire on buying habits sent to some 1,300,000 urban households, the C.D.N.A. said that suits for home permanent-waving are being purchased by 37.5 per cent of women in Canada's principal cities. Port Arthur reported the highest percentage purchase: 57 per cent.

Interesting tidbits on the habits and buying preferences of Canadians have come out of the survey, still being studied—on Sept. 3, the Association reported that more households (76 per cent) in St. John's, Nfld., like marmalade with their toast than in any other city—and Thursday the C.D.N.A. said it had found that even some men reported use of certain of the cold-wave products. It was assumed that they used the shampoo—not the permanent-wave product.

Other facts: 46.4 per cent of urban households now have mechanical refrigerators—a gain of 8.4 per cent since 1947—and of these, nearly 40 per cent are three years old or less. An average of 3.2 persons a family in the principal Canadian cities read a daily newspaper regularly.

Legion Auxiliary Plans November Fete

Ladies' Auxiliary to Britannia Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., met recently with Mrs. D. McCulloch in the chair. Date set for the fall bazaar was Nov. 15.

Mrs. McCulloch was named delegate to the B.C. Provincial Command of Ladies' Auxiliaries to Canadian Legion, which will meet at Mission, B.C., Oct. 28. Sick visitor, Mrs. D. Ree, reported 290 veteran patients and sick members visited during July and 285 visits made in August.

It was decided to have Mrs. G. Wilson send three more layettes to the Queen Charlotte Hospital, London, Eng.

Plans for a social evening Sept. 23 were made. Mrs. E. Champion will be in charge of fresh flowers on the Memorial tablet, and Mrs. E. Watson will attend Legion funerals.

Mrs. M. Sadler, Garden 7433, is in charge of wool for members wishing to knit socks for Class Six veterans. Mrs. E. Jarvis reported on resolutions debated at the recent convention.

French People Seek Data On Canada Delegate Says

By KAY REX

OTTAWA (CP)—The mere mention of her name will recall to many a Canadian, memories of his last days in France at the close of the Second World War. Mile. Benoit Colard's home—or rather what was left of it after the shells and the bombs—was in Normandy near Caen where Canadian troops had their headquarters in 1944.

"The Calgary Highlanders, the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto, the Black Watch of Montreal—I remember the names so well," the blonde French woman said in an interview.

Mile. Colard still is working in the interests of Canadians whom she first met in 1944, and later in 1945 and 1946 when she was in Canada Corner, a service club for Canadians in Paris at that time.

"Delegue-Generale" of L'Accueil Franco-Canadien, she now is on her first visit to Canada. L'Accueil, as its name implies, is among other things, a "welcome" organization for Canadian visitors to France.

Formed a year ago, it is situated in the Latin quarter of Paris. Canadian students have come to depend on it to supply them with information on everything from where to find suitable lodging to details on courses.

Canadian artists in Paris especially are aware of the association. Last June Mile. Colard, through L'Accueil, organized an exhibition of their work.

Among the exhibitors were William McLaughlin of Winnipeg, Pauline Boutal of St. Boniface, Man., and Tobie Steinhouse of Montreal.

"The French, too, visit L'Accueil in search of information about Canada.

"Everybody in France seems to be interested in Canada," said Mile. Colard.

The main purpose of her visit at this time is to obtain further information about the Dominion.

"We have all kinds of requests," she said. "One man wanted to know how many sheep there are in Manitoba and another came asking for details about Canada's merchant navy."

L'Accueil has begun work on a Canadian library and needs all the books and pamphlets about the Dominion that it can get.

Luncheon Meeting—First fall session of Victoria West United Church—Women's Missionary Society was held in the form of a luncheon Tuesday at the church. Many members and friends attended, and two special guests were Miss Lawrie, who gave the devotional, and Mrs. A. Gervin, Presbyterian president, who gave an extensive resume of "The Emperor's Physician."

"You're My Everything"

HAVE JUST BEEN TO HEAR... Dance Dailey sing, in the nostalgic... "You're My Everything."

It turns back the tickers... to long ago, to Buster Keaton... & Clara Bow. When Shirley Temple... was Box Office 1, in the old south... with Bill Robinson. And yet it seems just yesterday, to Rudolph Valentino... Maurice Chevalier. The flappers' short skirts... & cloche hats, & if I remember... I wore spats. I used to like their cosy feel, & a hole in your sock... didn't show at the heel. There were no oil heaters like we have now, this QUAKER saves oil... more heat... & HOW I remember too... my pinch-back coat, & my blue belted... overcoat. And a matching cravat & handkerchief, & we even sported a black Christy stiff. We after-moved in Terry's, a pale green booth, and that we were slickers... & Flaming Youth. Under the table... we held a warm mitt, & pitched our dough away... on a banana split. A low Stutz roadster... a pal of mine had, the trailing scarves... sorta Clara Bow clad. I shot off these things... rather bitter-sweet, the Charleston contests... & the rumble seat. A Model T... was the best we had, some smoothie sold it... to my Dad. Only ONCE he drove it... on a special mission, he NEVER COULD... work the transmission. So most week-ends... WE did climb upon, and spread its innards... all over the lawn. When no longer it would properly chug, I took off the mudguards... & had a bug. And once... I remember... 'twas in the late Fall, I took to a dance... a snooty doll. And going round a corner... a watery moat, the mud splashed to black her WHITE bunny coat. Ah... yes... as I say, it was long ago, to the "IT" girl... & Valentino. Now THERE was a lad... who lived dangerous & gayly. MORE "Blood & Sand" than this modern sheik Dailey. How those feminine hearts... all got the churns, and his imitators... the long side-burns. How your heart will burst & faster beat, at THIS exciting... new Chesterfield Suite. Two pieces in silver, the other in flame, to delight the heart of ANY dame. It's crushed mohair... like silky fur, a "Dailey" love... "ANNE BAX" never stir. (That's "Anne Baxter" in case you don't know what I'm talking about). I too... used to grease my hair, & I longed for a desert... flowing cape with a flair. But the closest I got... was to park by the sea, & softly murmur... "The Sheik of Araby." So have fun... children, & when your parents say, "there weren't such goings-on in MY day." Say "Yes... Ma-ma"... DON'T inwardly curse, 'cause I'm telling you kids... WE WERE A LOT WORSE.

Plan Events For Symphony Week

The Victoria Symphony Society's Women's Committee will seek to sell next week at least 1,400 season tickets for this winter's six concerts at the Royal Theatre. Sale of tickets opens Monday in Eaton's radio department, coinciding with "Symphony Week" which is being sponsored by the society.

Plans as outlined by the committee under the leadership of Mrs. Patsy Jennings at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. F. D. Mara, Pemberton Road, indicate that everything will be done by the group of young women to make the public symphony-conscious next week.

Their plans for Symphony Week include a telephone bridge, under the direction of Mrs. G. E. Gregory Monday. All bridge players in Victoria are invited to participate. Those wishing to make up one or two tables of bridge in their own homes, are asked to leave names of players at the symphony box office, radio department of the T. Eaton Co. store by Monday noon or to phone Mrs. Gregory at E1680.

Valuable prizes are offered and the charge is $2 a table. Full particulars and rules of play will be obtained at Eaton's radio department.

On Wednesday, symphonic films will be shown at Victoria High School. The films have been specially selected by a committee of musical experts for the fine quality of their sound, general interest and informative value. Hans Gruber, musical director of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, will introduce each film. The showing will commence at 8.

The Women's Committee, organized a year ago, will also seek to increase their membership to at least 100 for this season. They are especially anxious to receive help from younger women with time to take on occasional duties when the symphony season opens.

The sale of season tickets for the series of six concerts was the chief aim and purpose of the Women's committee, Mrs. Jennings said at the meeting. The committee's objective is 1,400 subscribers.

Season tickets will also be available for the films to be shown at Victoria High School and at Eaton's Fall Fashion Show to be held at the Empress Hotel, Thursday evening, Sept. 22.

The Women's Committee is appealing to the public to support their symphony orchestra by buying season tickets early.

T.L.C. Executive Recommends Congress Throw Out C.S.U.

CALGARY (CP)—The spark that will touch off anti-Red action by the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress was applied to the T.L.C.'s annual convention Thursday.

It was a recommendation from the T.L.C. executive that the leftist-slanted Canadian Seamen's Union be thrown out of the congress, a move that would be just about the death-knell for that organization as a big influence in Canadian labor.

All indications today were that the proposal would be adopted by an overwhelming majority, backed not only by the executive but by the more militant anti-Red faction of the congress under Frank H. Hall.

DEBATE NEXT WEEK

It was not expected that the C.S.U. issue would break out violently today. Expectations were it would come to the floor next week, possibly Monday afternoon.

The biggest convention in congress history — 1,023 delegates were registered when it convened this morning for its second day — hit out in other directions at Red Thursday and were expected to take still further action as the congress proceeded.

Lower U.S. Trade Barriers Hoped For By Britain

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Of top interest in the coming months will be United States steps to lower her trade barriers, and Britain's attempts at a real selling job in North America.

So far it has been difficult to say which has been most responsible for keeping British goods out of the United States market — American barriers or lack of British salesmanship.

The United States has in recent years done much to lower her tariffs, though exporters, including Canadians, complain she has been maintaining an "invisible tariff" through complex customs interpretations.

There is hope from trade conversations over the last year or so, and from the recent Washington talks, that something will be done to simplify these customs regulations.

Of equal interest, however, is what Britain will do to step up her selling programs.

Paul Hoffman, head man in administration of the European recovery program, pointed out recently that the United States has a gross national production of $254,000,000,000. He added:

"Just three-tenths of 1 per cent more of that spent on British goods, and the dollar gap can be closed."

Stated that way, it would seem Britain should be able to win the small required fraction of that huge market.

SUFFERED FROM WAR

It is understandable enough why British selling efforts on this side of the Atlantic may have lacked drive.

One reason is that for six years she was so occupied with war that she had virtually nothing to sell and so had to neglect these markets. Another is that, in former days, when currencies were interchangeable, it wasn't necessary for her to sell great amounts here so long as she maintained her sales to the world at large.

The result of the war-time drop-off in her selling programs is visible in Canada. At one time British goods were generally well-known here by name, whereas now, a Canadian Daily Newspapers Association survey shows, less than 5 per cent of Canadians can name the brands of leading British products.

Knights Templar Pay Visit To City

A group of 165 Knights Templar of the Grand Commandery of the State of Wisconsin, and their wives, left Victoria today en-route to the 44th triennial convocation of their Masonic Order in San Francisco.

The members, whose order had its origin during the Crusades, paid a 24-hour visit here before proceeding to San Francisco by way of Seattle and Portland. The tour which brought them here started in Milwaukee Sept. 11 and carried them through North Dakota the Rocky Mountains and Vancouver.

Right Eminent Grand Commander Sir Knight Irving L. Heller of Milwaukee, chief of the order in Wisconsin, head the large party of visitors.

Other Wisconsin officials on the tour include Eminent Grand Generalissimo Sir Knight Arthur Goetz, Milwaukee; Right Eminent Past Grand Commander Sir Knight Martin Klingberg, Beloit, and Eminent Grand Captain of the Guard Sir Knight Hal Al Bulgar, Milwaukee.

Vancouver Caps Win In Straight Games

Vancouver Capitanos captured the Western International League baseball playoff series last night by whipping the Yakima Bears for the third time in a row, 8 to 3.

The playoff title gave second-place Vancouver $1,500 in prize money. Yakima won second money of $1,000 from the $4,000 playoff pool.

The Caps won the contest in the first and third innings. Three singles and a Yakima error accounted for two runs in the first, followed by a six-run barrage in the third that knocked Bear hurler Floyd Dickey off the mound.

Dickey had retired two batters when Dick Sinovic singled and scored on a homer by Bill Brenner. K. Chorlton singled and two Caps stroled to fill the bases. Then Jim Robinson scored all three on a double.

Larry Powell had no sooner taken over on the mound when Ray Tran knocked a double that scored Robinson.

LOSES SHUTOUT

It looked like a shutout for George Nicholas until the eighth, when the Bears snared all their three runs. Bob Williams hit his third single of the night, went to second on Sinovic's error and advanced to third on Ted Jennings' single.

Babe Gammino stepped up and cracked a home run to score all three.

Short score:

	R.	H.	E.
Yakima	3	8	1
Vancouver	8	10	1

Dickey, Powell (3) and Ortega; Nicholas and Brenner.

Fogolin Impressive At Red Wings' Camp

SASKATOON (CP)—Detroit Red Wings' hockey training camp, which started with 106 players last Thursday, was cut down to about half that size here yesterday when coach Tommy Ivan released 40 amateurs after the first week.

Many of the 40 will return again next year, but at this time Ivan did not think them ready for professional hockey.

The Detroit coach said he is well pleased with the Saskatoon camp to date and feels he has discovered some outstanding talent for future delivery to the Wings. Ivan also was satisfied with the showing of newcomers in last night's exhibition game.

Of the professionals in the Saskatoon camp, Ivan said, "most of them have been impressive to date and I have noted particular improvement in our young defenceman Lee Fogolin. The kid looked all right when he moved up to the Wings last winter from Indianapolis and I believe he'll really go places in the N.H.L. this coming winter."

Coley Hall Buys Hockey Veteran

VANCOUVER (CP)—Coley Hall, owner of Vancouver Canucks, has purchased Hazen McAndrew from Eddie Shore's Springfield Indians for his Coast Hockey League club, it was announced today.

McAndrew, 32-year-old defenceman, is an American Hockey League veteran who spent part of the 1941-42 season in the N.H.L.

Below Teen-Age Group Recognized In 'Y' Fall Program

With the coming of the autumn season organization of many Y.M.C.A.-sponsored clubs and groups is now taking place, highlighted by the annual membership drive of the association.

The two-week membership drive closes Sept. 30 with the membership round-up party slated for the "Y" gymnasium Oct. 7. Registration night is Sept. 29.

Badminton started this week with 27 turning out for Wednesday afternoon's play. Courts are also available on Saturday from 1.30 to 5.

Classes especially organized for boys and girls from 11 years of age and up are fencing, folk dancing, hobby school, swimming and tumbling.

The folk dancing classes take place on Fridays from 7 to 7.45; fencing instruction from 7.45 to 9 Fridays; hobby school on Wednesdays at 1 and 7.30 and Thursdays at 7.30 and tumbling Tuesdays and Fridays from 7 to 8.

Swimming under Olympic coach Archie McKinnon's instruction will take place Wednesdays from 7.15 to 8 for both boys and girls.

B.C. All-Stars Defeat Manitoba In Junior Boxla Play

WINNIPEG (CP)—British Columbia's All-Stars, backed by goalie Vic Grover's stellar performance, trounced Manitoba's hopefuls 15 to 4 here Thursday night to take a one-game lead in their best-of-three western Canada junior lacrosse finals.

A sparse crowd of 600 saw the B.C. team come from behind to one-goal deficit at the 9:10 minute mark of the first quarter to tie the game and take over from there on in.

B.C. had a 2 to 1 lead at the end of the first quarter, 7 to 2 at the end of the second, and 11 to 2 at the end of the third.

Marine Cervi, B.C. forward, connected for three goals in the first half before he broke a leg and was forced to retire from the game. He had been the standout player on the floor up to the time of the mishap.

Teammate Cliff Johnson, however, topped Cervi's performance by netting the ball four times.

The Manitoba team repeatedly broke through the British Columbia defence only to meet stiff opposition from Grover who performed in spectacular style at times to repulse whatever hopes the Manitobans had.

Colin Cruickshank, Doug Hull and Jim Kinna of B.C. each scored twice, while Singletons went to Gordon Stewart and Larry Creml.

Stomach Ulcer Keeps Colville In Hospital

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—Manager Neil Colville of New Haven Ramblers of the American Hockey League will be in hospital indefinitely for treatment of a stomach ulcer, Dr. George Hart, team physician, said today.

The 35-year-old Colville was admitted to the general hospital here Wednesday and given a blood transfusion. His condition was favorable, the doctor said.

The Ramblers are training at nearby Lake Placid.

Noren Most Valuable Coast League Player

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Irv Noren, slugging centre fielder for Hollywood Stars, was named Thursday as the Coast League's most valuable player of 1949.

League president Clarence Rowland announced that 20 baseball writers in the league cities selected Noren, giving him 10 votes for the honor. This was double the total of his nearest rival, shortstop Artie Wilson of Oakland.

Hockey Meeting

A meeting with regard to the formation of a commercial hockey league in the city is slated for the Memorial Arena tonight at 8.

Those interested in commercial hockey are urged to attend.

Knocked Themselves Out

Unbeaten Calgary-Ottawa Grid Squads Should Add Victories

The "form charts" on the Canadian senior football scene should be completed tomorrow. It's up to the undefeated Ottawa Roughriders to supply the finishing touches.

In a week-end studded with eight games—four in the east and four in the west—the powerful Roughriders clash with the Hamilton Wildcats at Ottawa. Montreal Alouettes battle Toronto Argonauts at Toronto.

Other games Saturday: Western Union—Calgary Stampers at Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Edmonton Eskimos at Saskatchewan Roughriders.

O.R.F.U.—Sarnia Imperials at Windsor Rockets, Toronto Balmy Beach at Hamilton Tigers.

Monday: Western Union—Edmonton at Winnipeg, Calgary at Regina.

The Roughriders will be gunning for their fourth straight victory when they meet the winless Wildcats. Judging by performances of both clubs, they shouldn't have too much trouble. The Roughriders were forced to extend themselves in two games with the Alouettes but the Montreal squad last week blasted Hamilton 38 to 16. Then Ottawa disposed of Argos 19 to 1 last week.

KROL LAID UP

There's injury in the Argos' camp. Joe (King) Krol, who aggravated an old knee injury, is not likely to see action. Krol had the fluid drained off his injured knee and a severe swelling cleared up.

Don Crowe will probably handle the kicking and a share of the plunging on Krol's absence. Others who won't be in the line-up are Doug Smylie, nursing a charley-horse, and Byron Karrys, who may be dropped for missing a practice.

In the west, the defending champion Stampers, also undefeated this season, are not counted on the services of star Doug Turner in their game against the Blue Bombers. Turner will round out his long career with Calgary.

The Stampers hope that in later games the former Toronto Argos centre will give their line additional strength. Mel Wilson, veteran of 12 years in senior football warfare, has been holding down the snapback position so far this season.

In the O.R.F.U. the Beaches are expected to give the third-place Tigers a good battle.

Meanwhile, the leading Imperials will be going all-out to gain a victory over the Rockets. Both clubs have shown impressively against the Tigers and Beaches.

B.C. Hunting Season Will Open Tomorrow

British Columbia's fall hunting season will open tomorrow morning and game department officials estimate that 5,000 sportsmen will be primed for action.

Hunting season for grouse, bear and deer on the mainland and on Vancouver Island opens officially at 5.50 a.m. (P.D.T.) tomorrow.

The provincial game commission has already issued more than 10,000 licenses to sportsmen in B.C. and the figure was expected to be doubled by the end of October.

Frank B. Butler, provincial game commissioner, says grouse are "more plentiful" than ever in British Columbia.

United Squad Named For Season's Opener

Dave Huggins will act as coach for Victoria United tomorrow afternoon in the opening game of the Pacific Coast Soccer League season against Vancouver City at Athletic Park at 2.30.

Huggins was named temporary coach following the resignation Wednesday night of Harry Singleton, manager-coach of the team.

It is expected that a new manager and coach will be appointed to guide the team's destinies sometime next week.

The club which takes the field tomorrow in United colors will differ little from last year's team, there being only two new additions to the starting line-up.

NEW PLAYERS

The newcomers are Tom Gilchrist from Toronto Scottish and Art Young from Esquimalt of the city league.

Gilchrist will play right half with Young at either inside or outside right.

Fullbacks are Al Boyd and Joe Robbins. Bill MacAllister will be in goal.

But now the mild-mannered giant was dead in a Pittsburgh hospital of complications following an appendectomy.

Annual Cage Meeting Heralds Start Of Season's Activities

Start of another cage season for teams of the Victoria and District Basketball League begins tonight with the association's annual meeting at the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion at 8.

All teams are asked to have delegates present at the meeting as many important points relative to the 1949-50 season will be discussed. Other interested parties including players, out-of-town league officials and coaches are invited.

Election of officers will be held and a building committee appointed. One championship trophy will be presented. Further information may be secured from secretary Tom Carson at E 9497.

SOCCER PRACTICE

Knight's of Pythias soccer club of the fifth division juvenile league will hold a workout for interested players at Heywood Avenue Saturday at 1.30. Last year's players eligible for the 15 and under age limit class are asked to attend.

Members Of Yanks Grieve Over Death Of Former Mate Bonham

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—The Yankees couldn't believe it.

The dressing room was a tableau of stunned amazement when the word came that Ernie Bonham was dead.

The big, easy-going guy they facetiously called "Tiny" had been gone from this dressing room for three years, traded off to the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1946.

But when you spend your best seven years with the Yankees—you're always a Yankee.

Their shocked faces showed it; that, and the faraway stares they directed to the corner locker where he used to dress.

They found it hard to believe because Tiny was only 36 and, while he had the usual quota of aches and pains which are occupational hazards in baseball, he was a husky, healthy guy. The word for Tiny was "hearty."

But now the mild-mannered giant was dead in a Pittsburgh hospital of complications following an appendectomy.

"He was a great Yankee," Frankie Crosetti said softly.

Rawboned Bill Dickey, who left the club the same time as Bonham but came back as a

Second Guessers Go To Work On Casey Stengel

Oakland Crowds Leading Hollywood; Rainiers Beaten

The Coast League stretch race today is back in the neck-and-neck stage. Chief reason for some is that San Francisco is more neighborly to Oakland than Los Angeles is to Hollywood.

The Seals made it two in a row last night over the league-leading Stars. Big Cliff Melton bore down in the clutches for a 3 to 2 win although Hollywood nicked him for 11 hits. The Seals, meanwhile, were able to collect only five bingles off Willard Ramsdell and John Roy.

The Oaks walloped the Angels for the third straight time. Oakland exploded for six runs in the sixth and went on to win 12 to 5. Billy Martin climaxed the big inning with a grand slam homer.

Hal Saltzman of Portland copped win No. 22 as his Beavers pounded four San Diego pitchers for 13 hits and a 9 to 5 win. The Beavers hit three homers and the Padres two in the free-hitting contest. Max West's grand slammer was his 46th of the year.

Sacramento's Orv Grove yielded but six hits in pitching the Solons to a 6 to 1 victory over Seattle. The Rainiers' only run came on Ned Sheridan's 14th homer. He later was banished for kicking his glove when Grove struck him out in the eighth.

It was interesting to note that Singleton threw in the towel because as he put it "the players wanted to run the club." One can hardly blame him for not wanting to operate under such conditions. However, whoever replaces Singleton will likely run up against the same situation. It just means that it will need a man with plenty of intestinal fortitude and determination to be in complete charge of the team to take over. In this connection I can think of no better qualified individual than George Kula.

IN the last couple of years Kula has proven himself as a soccer coach. Not afraid to call a spade a spade when necessary, Kula is one person who will have control of his players or else. Whether or not George could be talked into taking over the United I don't know but the directors could not find a better man anywhere. If Kula should take the job he wants to make sure he does not get saddled with all the work required to operate a Coast League eleven. Let the club provide him with a team secretary to look after the many little details associated with running a team. The coach should have one job—get the players into condition and select the team.

CRICKET LINE-UP

Oak Bay cricket club line-up for Saturday's match against Alouettes at Beacon Hill Park follows: Sparks, Scott, Deane, Gauvreau, Davison, Roberts, A. Higgs, D. Higgs, K. Wright, A. Wright and Parkins.

The Second Guessers' Society, kept conspicuously silent this year by the sound baseball tactics of Casey Stengel, has finally come to life.

The members of the S.G.S. are pointing fingers at the veteran manager of New York's Yankees, accusing him of pulling a couple of "rocks" yesterday that cost the Bronx Bombers an important game.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

TOMORROW marks the opening of another Coast League football season with Victoria United playing host to Vancouver City. In view of the fact the local eleven had only six players signed as late as Wednesday, night too much cannot be expected of the United in its initial appearance. Resignation of Hal Singleton as manager was not unexpected in view of the rumors heard recently of dissatisfaction amongst the players. It was unfortunate that it had to come just before the campaign started.

MADE FIVE ERRORS

However, they also point out that Stengel was as much at fault in Thursday's loss to the Indians as pitcher Allie Reynolds or the four players who committed the five errors which gave Cleveland five unearned runs.

The S.G.S. is asking just why Stengel ordered Reynolds to issue an intentional pass to Larry Doby in the eighth inning thus forcing Allie to face the ever-dangerous Joe Gordon with a runner in scoring position?

And why didn't Casey yank Reynolds during that hectic eighth when the Tribe slammed him for four straight hits and five runs after two were out?

20-GAME WINNER

Trailing 8 to 2 the Yankees pounded Bob Lemon for four runs in their half of the eighth to get back into the ball game. But the Indians added two insurance runs in the ninth to make Lemon the third 20-game winner in the major leagues. The others are Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder of the Boston Red Sox.

The Yankee defeat probably raised the spirits of Joe McCarthy's Red Sox, who now trail by four games in the important "lost" column. The Yankees have 16 games left to play, and the Red Sox only 13. The league leaders will be at home in 12 of them, while Boston has only seven home engagements.

The Indians, practically out of it, trail by 6½ games.

RAN INTO DAVE TURNER

YAN into Dave Turner yesterday and the new vice-president of the United informed me he planned to scout the entire island for soccer material. The former star of the New Westminster Royals stated he was of the opinion the player situation on the island should be investigated before it was decided to look farther afield. It was a good move when the United succeeded in getting Turner interested in the club. A former player of note, Dave is a real soccer enthusiast and will not be afraid to give of his time and knowledge in the interests of the game.

Soccer Group Has 11 Referees

The Victoria Soccer Referees' Association at the annual meeting last night re-elected George Barnes as president and Hank Casillo as secretary-treasurer. It was disclosed that 11 officials will be available for the coming season through the association.

Returning officials from last year are Barnes, Casillo, Ed Ball, Joe Obee, Carl Pederson, Ted Westover and Maurice Speller. New members of the association are George Leggett, W. Garcia, B. McKevenney and R. Rowe. Barnes was named to handle Saturday's Coast League game between Victoria United and Vancouver City. Obee and Casillo will act as linesmen.

Plans Of Minor Hockey Association Announced

An enthusiastic turnout of approximately 120 persons attended the organization meeting of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association in the Memorial Arena last night.

Plans for the operation of bantam, midget, juvenile and junior leagues in the city were announced by the association. It is hoped to have four teams in each of the leagues except junior. There is hope to have two clubs if sufficient players are available.

Joe Dutkowski, manager of the arena, spoke briefly to the gathering and promised assistance to the Minor Hockey Association wherever possible. He also outlined the importance of training to the young hockeyists and the character-building nature of the sport.

Possibility of the Royal Canadian Navy and Nanaimo having junior clubs this season, to play in competition with Victoria teams, was discussed.

Officials have called a second meeting of the association for the arena on Wednesday at 7 for the purpose of registration. Youngsters between 12 and 21 years of age interested in playing minor hockey are urged to register at this meeting. This will give the association some idea of the number of players in the area.

SCHOOL STANDARDS

For a member of the Minor Hockey Association to compete in regular league play, a reasonable educational standard must be maintained at city schools.

This standard will be set by school officials.

Every player registered with the association will be issued a card. This card must be taken to the school at which the player is a student and must be signed by a teacher at the school before such a player will be allowed to play hockey in the minor association. Any slackening in school work will result in the prospective hockeyist being barred from further competition.

RECALL GOLDSTEIN

SEATTLE (AP)—The Seattle Rainiers announced today the recall of first baseman Bob Goldstein from Idaho Falls.

Goldstein played with the Pioneer League team under option this season. He is a former Spokane high school star and went to New York last year as the state's entry in the All-American boy baseball game.

Spokane, Wash.—Kid Riviera, 227, Chicago, knocked out Buddy Scott, 187, Little Rock, Ark., 3.

U.S. Amateur Ice League To Operate With Nine Squads

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The United States Eastern Amateur Hockey League, which failed to operate last season for the first time since it started in 1933, was reorganized and expanded today for resumption of competition next month.

League president Tom Lockhart said at the end of the reorganization meeting that six teams have been signed for the 1949-50 season. Three others are expected to join the league at a schedule meeting set for New York next Thursday.

The circuit is to be divided into two divisions. The eastern division will include Boston Olympics, New York Rovers and Baltimore Clippers, and probably Atlantic City Sea Gulls and Washington Lions.

In the western section will be Toledo Mercurys, Milwaukee Clarks, and Grand Rapids Rockets, and probably Cleveland Knights.

It will be the first year in the league for the midwestern clubs. Toledo and Milwaukee competed last year in the International Amateur League. Grand Rapids and Cleveland are new to amateur hockey.

In its last year of operation, the Eastern Amateur League had only four teams—New York, Boston, Baltimore and Atlantic City.

Formidable Field For $15,000 Pimlico Race

BALTIMORE (AP)—Owners of the 18 best horses in competition today were mailed engraved invitations to the winner-take-all $15,000 Pimlico Special on Oct. 28.

How many will R.S.V.P. is going to be influenced greatly by the presence of Calumet Farm's formidable duo of Coaltown and Ponder. This pair gives Warren Wright's stable an imposing hand in the 13th running of the special which is viewed as the world series of horse racing.

Eight of the 12 winners of the special have been voted "horse of the year." The same honor is more than likely to go along with this year's victory.

The 18 bids sent out today are to winners in 28 stakes throughout the country which the Maryland Jockey Club lists as qualifying events.

There are seven more stakes in the series.

The club also reserves the right to invite any other horses which it feels are outstanding although failing to win any of the specified races. In this category right now is Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Stymlie, the world's leading winner which made its first start last Saturday.

If Stymlie does round into shape and is invited, it will bring him up against his old rival, King Ranch's Assault, which already is eligible by virtue of victory in the Brooklyn Handicap. Assault won the 1946 special, beating Stymlie.

However, these old-timers will face tough competition in such successors to their fame as Coaltown, Ponder, Greentree Stable's Capot, and Fred Hooper's Olympia. Trainer Hirsch Jacobs said yesterday that Palestinian, another top eligible, has been retired for the year.

The special is a sporting race throughout. Besides being winner-take-all, handicaps are according to age and it costs nothing to start once invited. You can bet to win only.

The distance is a mile and three-sixteenths.

Veteran Winger Joins Cougars From Canadiens

Victoria Cougars today had their first player from the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League. He is 29-year-old Larry Thibault, a left-winger. General manager Fred Hutchinson of the Cougars announced that Thibault would leave his Quebec home shortly for the coast.

Forced out of competition for a part of last season with an injured hand Thibault engaged in 37 games with Houston and San Diego, scoring 13 goals and getting 10 assists. The 1947 season was spent with Houston during which time Thibault engaged in 46 games, scoring 12 goals and giving 17 assists.

The left-winger is one of the more experienced players who will be with the Cougars. "I have seen him play and he should do all right in this league," Hutchinson stated. Thibault is five feet eight inches and weighs 170 pounds. He has been playing hockey 10 years and started his professional career with Springfield Indians.

Hutchinson announced that the Victoria players have been ordered to report here to open training Sept. 25.

Seniors of the Uplands Golf Club will play for the Harold Robinson Cup tomorrow. The competition will be a medal round on full handicap. Capt. J. W. Kempton, present holder of the trophy, will be on hand to defend his laurels. Post entries will be accepted.

Cisalworth In Feature Win; Moncrief Injured

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jockey Marvin Moncrief was taken to hospital Thursday following an accident in the fifth race at Exhibition Park when his mount, Party Time, reared up in the starting gate, pinning the boy beneath him.

Moncrief suffered leg injuries, but his condition is reported good and he is expected to be released soon. He was excused and the race continued with nine horses in the field.

In the featured Pasha Allowance, five-year-old Cisalworth, a temperamental mare owned by Dave Diamond of Vancouver, won a narrow victory over the favored Gwynfyd to pay $9.10, $4.25 and $3.10.

Eddie Haddad In One-Sided Victory

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eddie Haddad, 21-year-old Canadian amateur lightweight champion, surprised no one Thursday night as he coolly went about the business of pouncing out a unanimous decision over Ken McPhee.

The Victoria mittman, fighting as a member of the Canadian Navy, toyed with his less experienced opponent throughout the five-round contest, and at no time cut loose with the power that sent him to the Olympic Games last year.

Provincial lightweight champion McPhee tried gamely all the way but after shooting his best in the first round, was on the defensive for the greater portion of the remaining four heats.

UMP DUMPED

What a lot of baseball fans probably have hoped to see actually took place in a baseball game at Salisbury, Md., recently when one umpire hauled off and socked another. . . . Seems three players congregated in the "on deck" circle and when plate umpire Alfred Patton told them to leave, one of them threw a ball at him. Patton promptly chased the kid from the game. . . . William Morris, umpiring on the bases, rushed in to see what it was all about, got into an argument with Patton and belted him one. . . . Taken into court, Morris was found guilty of assault and was fined.

Cosmopolitan Club Considers Proposal To Build Aquarium

Proposal to construct an aquarium in Victoria was discussed by members of the recently-established Cosmopolitan club here Thursday night at a meeting at the Club-Sirocco.

Originator of the idea was Lew MacDonald, club secretary, but the plan was introduced by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum. Dr. Carl said the proposed project would not only be educational for Victorians, but would also be important as a first-class tourist attraction and a valuable opportunity for research work.

It was decided that immediately following the club's charter night ceremonies, which are scheduled on Oct. 7, a committee would be appointed by president Tony McManus to delve into problems such as a site, the cost of construction and maintenance.

New Basement Room Opened At Church

Culminating months of labor on the part of members of the congregation, the official opening of a new spacious basement room at the Centennial United Church was held this week. Ninety per cent of the work done was on a voluntary basis.

Following the dedication ceremonies by Rev. W. R. Ashford,

Mrs. James McKenzie cut the ribbon and the room was declared officially open. A varied program was presented under the chairmanship of F. Godsalve. During the ceremonies, Rev. and Mrs. Ashford were presented with a gift to mark their 18th wedding anniversary.

Town Meeting Of Air Here Sept. 23

Founded six years ago in Vancouver by Arthur R. Helps, the Town Meeting radio forum in Canada will come to Victoria next week with four speakers—two Victoria men—to discuss the question, "Has Socialism Failed in Britain?"

Views rendered by the four speakers will be aired on a coast-to-coast setup as records made here in the Victoria High School auditorium at 8 on Sept. 23 will be shipped to 20 radio stations across the Dominion.

The four men named as speakers are: Dr. J. M. Thomas, principal of Mount View High School and a member of the C.C.F.'s provincial executive; L. W. Makowski, Victoria, writer and lecturer; Arthur Turner, C.C.F. M.L.A.-elect for Vancouver East, and Walter R. Dent, editor of the B.C. Financial Times.

The British government scheme will be surveyed from opposite sides of the political fence during the first part of the debate, following which the audience will be invited to ask questions. A salute to Victoria will also be included in the program.

Y.M.C.A. Camera Club At Work

Equipped with one of the most modern club studios on the Pacific coast, the Y.M.C.A. Camera Club has in the past few years expanded greatly until it now is one of the most popular of the "Y" list of winter activities. At the present time there are over 50 members in the club with openings for a limited number of new members. This year the club is instituting a color study group to be held Monday evenings at the "Y". On Tuesdays the club holds classes in fundamentals of photography for beginners and on Wednesdays classes in lighting and portraiture. Weekly meetings are held Thursdays. Shown in the studio are, left to right, John Jackson, developing; John Bailey, enlarging, and Atholl Cropper.

Remand Two For Sentence On Suit Theft Charge

Michael Burris, Victoria, and Doris Mary Wilson, Vancouver and Toronto, both aged about 24, today in city court were remanded to Monday for sentence on a charge of stealing a dress from D'Alaird's Dress Shop, 709 Yates Street, on Sept. 8.

Wilson pleaded guilty to the charge Thursday. Burns elected a higher court trial, but changed this for a trial before Magistrate H. C. Hall today. He pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty as charged.

Evidence was that they went into the store together and that after they had left the $60 woman's suit was missing. Wilson claimed she took it without Burns' knowledge and Burns claimed he did not know Wilson had taken the suit until they got out on the street. Burns said they then parted company as he did not wish to become involved in a theft charge.

Magistrate Hall, however, said he was satisfied Burns had a part in committing the theft. They were arrested by Detective Louis Callan who spotted the red-headed Wilson wearing the dress reported stolen.

Rules Council Only Can Allow Parades

City Solicitor Arthur Patton today ruled that permission for the holding of parades can be given only by the City Council.

He reversed a decision given at last Tuesday's meeting of council in which he stated the Chief of Police had authority to grant procession permits.

The Police Chief had authority only to give permission for erection of road blocks for parades authorized by the council. In giving his ruling, the solicitor stated the Chief of Police for many years had been granting permits for parades and, technically speaking, any parades he authorized were illegal, but there never had been any question raised before.

Send Flowers To Hospitalized Boys

A bouquet of flowers will be sent to a different hospitalized Victoria boy each week from now until Christmas, members of the Optimist Club here decided at a meeting Thursday.

Scheduled speaker at the meeting was Joseph Casey, line superintendent, B.C. Electric. Mr. Casey was unable to address the club, however, as bad weather forced the grounding of the plane he was scheduled to arrive on from Vancouver.

Ian Anderson, club member, spoke on activities of the Portland downtown Optimist Club and the Glitz Lake Camp.

Crown Seeks Premises Of Firm For Post Office Site

Diggon-Hibben Ltd. were ordered by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, sitting in Chambers today, to appear in court next Friday to explain why they have not vacated their present Government Street premises expropriated by the federal government in Feb. 1946.

The order was issued after J. G. Rutan, counsel for the Crown, told the court that the Dominion Public Works Department had demanded possession of the building on two occasions. The Crown was seeking possession of the land and premises in order to erect a new post office on the site, he said.

The property was expropriated by the Crown for a sum of $120,000 in 1946. Mr. Rutan applied for an order for the firm to show cause why it had not vacated the premises under the Expropriation Act. He told the court the firm was asked to vacate the premises on Aug. 10, by J. E. Gouge, solicitor for the Crown.

G. A. A. Hebdon, an official of the company, had replied that it was impossible for the firm to move at the time, Mr. Rutan said.

Mr. Rutan also filed an affidavit signed by S. W. Well, public works architect, who stated that he had demanded possession and the keys of the building by 6 p.m. on Sept. 13.

According to the affidavit, Mr. Hebdon replied that the firm could not comply with the demand as it had no place to where it could take its goods, and it could not put them out on the street.

Officials of the firm when informed of the order today said they intended to move from their present premises to a three-story building at Johnson and Government Streets in the very near future.

B.C. Sets Up Group On Industrial Design

The provincial trade and industry department has arranged the creation of a British Columbia industrial design committee to co-operate with a national committee in promoting the use of Canadian talents in designing consumer goods.

Appointment of the provincial committee, of which R. S. O'Meara, provincial trade commissioner, is chairman, was announced today by Trade and Industry Minister L. H. Eyres. Personnel of the committee includes representatives from the B.C. division, Canadian Manufacturers Association, B.C. Products Bureau, Vancouver Board of Trade, British Columbia Research Council, University of B.C. architecture department, Vancouver Arts School and provincial education department.

The local organization will be directly associated with the National Industrial Design Committee formed last year. D. B. Cruickshank of Ottawa is chairman of the national committee. Mr. Eyres said the provincial committee would emphasize the place of B.C.'s secondary industries in the national program.

Opportunity To Aid Fellow Citizens

National Health and Welfare Minister Paul Martin sees in the annual Community Chest campaigns an opportunity for every Canadian to give assistance to fellow citizens less fortunate.

Mr. Martin says, "There are few more worthwhile ways in which the individual citizen can participate in the support of the many social services essential for the well-being of his or her community than by contributing to the annual Red Feather campaign. For this is not a single appeal for a single agency, but a united campaign in which the citizen's contribution is actually several contributions in one, thus tangibly supporting many community services."

"Since every citizen of Canada benefits from the services provided by Red Feather agencies, it is the responsibility of each of us to support to the utmost this united, voluntary appeal."

Recalled Cartoon Of 40 Years Ago

Like their animal friends the elephants, Mr. and Mrs. James Barr of the Victoria branch of the S.P.C.A. never forget.

They proved it today with a copy of Punch magazine dated Aug. 18, 1909, received direct from the Bouverie Street offices of the world-famous London journal.

Mr. Barr, president of the humane society, and his wife, who is secretary, have been leading a campaign against shipment of live horses from Canada to Belgium for food.

They remembered having seen a Punch cartoon in support of an earlier similar drive.

The cartoon appeared in that 1909 edition which the editor of Punch mailed to them on request "with good wishes for the fine work that you are doing."

The cartoon shows a broken-down horse with a sticker "Hull to Antwerp" attached to its ribby side, passing through the Antwerp customs office. The customs officer is asking: "Have you anything to declare?" The horse is replying: "Only this—that I'm ashamed of my country."

Toastmasters Back Hospital Scheme

There is at least one group in Victoria that is solidly behind the increase in the hospital insurance premiums in British Columbia. Members of the Toastmasters' Club 38 stated the move was entirely justified at a meeting Thursday night.

In a discussion led by topic master Ed Whyte, members noted that there was bound to be a period of trial and error like all other innovations, but they were unanimous in their support of any increase in rates or regulations planned for the betterment of the scheme.

A certificate for completing the organization's course in basic training was presented to W. R. Gazzard by past district governor B. H. E. Gault.

The well-baby clinic usually held at Kingston Street School will be held at 525 Superior Street, Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 2.30 in the afternoon.

Events tabled for discussion include: Oct. 6—The planning lessons of the 1940s; regional planning by the prairie farm rehabilitation administration; members' appraisal of the work of the Community Planning Association of Canada, as reported by leaders across Canada.

Oct. 7—Growth of North American cities and towns; the regional basis and the physical bulk of Canadian postwar development; metropolitan problems and the housing of Canadian families in the 1950s.

Oct. 8—Assessing the development prospects of the main regions of Canada; the roles of the association units in those regions, and seeing Winnipeg's plan in action.

Annual Overhaul Delays Aorangi

Rumors of grounding of the Canadian-Australasian Line vessel Aorangi because of her delayed arrival back at this port were dispelled today when company representatives reported the vessel is undergoing her annual overhaul.

The Aorangi, if she had not have arrived back here in August, which probably is the reason for the rumors being circulated of her grounding.

However, according to information received here, she is in Sydney, Australia, undergoing an annual overhaul, and will sail on her run to this coast again Sept. 22.

School officials still are looking for a former Victoria public school student older than 86. He or she is wanted to take part in the opening ceremony for the new vocational-technical unit at Victoria High School sometime in October. Four applications have been received so far, none over 86, and the officials believe there may be an older student.

Claims Court Has No Right To Review Labor Board's Case

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, in Supreme Court Chambers, continued today to hear the application for a writ of mandamus ordering the Labor Relations Board to show cause why it had certified a Nanaimo A.F.L. Teamsters' Union as bargaining agent for employees of Schofield and Malpass, a cartage firm.

The application for a writ of mandamus was made by Lloyd G. McKenzie, acting for the Vancouver Island Drivers' Local No. 234 of the Canadian Railway Employees. The union is seeking to revoke the board's certification of the General Truckdrivers' and Helpers' Local No. 31 as bargaining agent.

Mr. McKenzie claims the board had illegally certified the A.F.L. union before the C.C.L. union's agreement with the cartage firm had run out.

W. H. M. Haldane, appearing on behalf of the board, is opposing the application on points of law. He claimed a mandamus was not a remedy to review what had been done by a court below.

He also argued that the board could not be called for questioning by a mandamus on the grounds that the court had no jurisdiction to review what it had done or interfere with its decision, whether right or wrong.

Expect Big Crowd For Scots Banquet

Several hundred former and present members of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, which had fighting battalions at the front in two world wars, will gather at Bay Street Armories at 6 on the night of Oct. 1 for the fourth postwar annual reunion banquet.

John Kelly, secretary of the Canadian Scottish Regimental Association, postwar organization to bring all former Scottish members together, has sent out invitations to all past and present members of the Scottish colors, he has the addresses of to attend the big party.

Further information can be secured from Mr. Kelly by writing to him at 1935 Bouchier Street.

Urges Support Of United Nations

"World peace must be based on international justice, according to the preamble of the United Nations charter," Mrs. Sheila Young of Vancouver, vice-president and organizer of the provincial branch of the National Peace Assembly said Thursday night in an address at the newly-formed Victoria branch at the Williams Hall, Broughton Street.

Mrs. Young said the group was non-partisan. She felt that the United Nations was the only instrument able to maintain peace in the world, but that it was not being given the proper support.

The speaker stated that preparations for war would never end conflicts. Negotiations for peace must be based on a sincere international outlook, and this could only be done through support of the U.N. on the part of each individual.

Victoria branch now has over 20 members. Officials will be elected at a later date. W. A. Scott, chairman at the opening meeting, stated his experience in the Far East during the first World War.

Latest Furness Line Ship On Maiden Voyage To City

The passenger-cargo ship Pacific Fortune, latest of the Furness Line's "Pacific-type" vessels now is at sea, en route to Victoria on her maiden voyage to the B.C. coast. It was learned today from Cecil Ridout, shipping agent for the company.

Loaded and on her way here before the wrecking of the company's Pacific Enterprise on the rocks off Point Arena about 100 miles north of San Francisco Sept. 9, it is not yet known if the Pacific Fortune will be named to replace the wrecked vessel.

The new ship, built in 1948 by the Blythwood Shipbuilding Co. Ltd., Glasgow, is due in Victoria the first week in October. She has a displacement tonnage of 16,000, passenger accommodation for 12, and is 500 feet long. She attained a speed of 17 1/2 knots during her trials.

Additional vessels in the new fleet being built by Furness Withy and Co. Ltd., will be named in order of the words

Finish Phone Cable Project To Serve Vancouver Island

The biggest project of its kind in Gulf of Georgia waters in 19 years was carried out by the B.C. Telephone Co. this week when the company's cable ship Brico laid 12 miles of new submarine cable between Point Roberts and Mayne Island.

Costing $175,000, the project included associated equipment to be installed at either end of the new cable, in addition to the cable itself and the cost of laying.

Designed to provide additional long-distance facilities between the mainland and Vancouver Island, the new cable eventually will augment existing circuits in a similar cable laid down in 1930.

The entire 66,000 feet of the new cable was laid in one piece, five-and-a-half miles stretching through U.S. waters from Point Roberts to the international boundary offshore, and the remaining six-and-a-half miles resting in Canadian waters from the border to Waugh's Bay on Mayne Island.

Canucks Get Star Centre Ice Player

VANCOUVER (CP) — Owner Coley Hall of the Pacific Coast Hockey League Vancouver Canucks today climaxed his search for a first-class centre-ice player by purchasing 29-year-old Paul Courteau from Eddie Shore. Courteau, a chunky French-Canadian, scored 92 points with Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League in the 1947-48 season.

Hall also purchased defenceman Vic Lovendahl, 28, from Shore.

Johnny Nenezich Through As Umpire

VANCOUVER (CP) — Umpire Johnny Nenezich is all through singing "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

The little senior umpire in the Western International Baseball League decided Thursday to call it quits in the realm of balls and strikes.

Colorful Johnny will be sorely missed. Ace trouble-shooter in League President Bob Abel's set-up, Nenezich was quite a man when ball games got a little too stormy.

U.S. Wins Tuna Fishing Contest

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP) — An unofficial tabulation of scores gave the United States team the 6th international tuna championship as the fishing tournament ended here today. In the three-day matches in the white waters of Soldier's Rip the Americans boated 18 fish, including the prize of the tournament—a bluefin landed today that is expected to go over 800 pounds.

Behind United States came Brazil with 17 fish, Cuba with 15, the British Commonwealth and Argentina with 10 each. Cuba led today's fishing with nine tuna boated.

Accused Takes Stand In Vancouver Murder

VANCOUVER (CP) — Walter Prestyko, charged with the murder of Michael Geluch last June, admitted under examination by the Crown Prosecutor is Assize Court today that he had developed "a very deep liking" for the wife of William John Worobec, charged jointly with the slaying.

Prestyko denied it was love. He said that Mrs. Worobec did not like her husband.

Worobec will be tried separately on the murder charge, laid by police against the two men after the bodies of Geluch

Latin Hot-Bloods Fight; None Hurt

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Jose Pardo Lina, a radio commentator, said some things that irked Col. Jose Carames, the national chief of police.

Thursday the police chief sent for him. The chief took off his pistol and the two fought with their fists. When they got through, each signed a statement saying the other was a gentleman.

There was scarcely a mark on either of them.

Penalties Possible Under Act

Buyers, sellers and printers of lottery tickets are guilty of breaking the lottery laws as written in the Criminal Code, an official of the Attorney-General's department said in answer to inquiries made today.

Thus the official answered a question on the tongues of many residents of the Greater Victoria area, following the arrest Wednesday of Frank G. Hilton on a charge of operating a sweepstake. Hilton, a 36-year-old naval veteran, who formerly lived in Melville, Sask., is out on bail awaiting trial before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court.

Following the arrest of Hilton police reported that they believed they had cracked a $500,000 Canadian-wide lottery ring. Police are reported still sorting out and analyzing a mass of material seized following the arrest of Hilton. This included tickets, booklets, stubs and records, most dealing with the Canadian Mutual Transportation Association.

Code records have led police to believe that most of the sweep tickets were sold in Ontario. Names of hundreds of Ontario agents were found among the records seized.

Police have been silent so far as to whether action may be taken against the agents in this alleged lottery, who are believed to number scores in this province. Nor have police said whether or not they propose to take action against the persons who printed the lottery tickets.

The attorney-general's department official, however, left no doubt that action was possible against alleged sellers and printers of lottery tickets, as well as the purchasers.

He said that anybody knowingly connected with a lottery was breaking the law as an accessory to a crime against the Criminal Code.

Germany's Leading Red Denounces Son Who Fled Russians

GERMANY (UP) — Max Reimann, west Germany's number one Communist, today politically disavowed his 22-year-old son Joseph, who renounced the Soviets and fled from their zone of Germany to "escape the terror" and "live a free life again."

Shortly after an official British announcement had disclosed young Reimann's flight from east to west Germany, the elder Reimann publicly demanded a purge of all Communist Party members who deviate from the policy of the Soviet Union.

Reimann made the demand at a secret meeting of the Communist Party executive Wednesday night, but did not make it public until after the news of his son's desertion of Communism.

The British announcement of young Reimann's break with Communism said he had escaped from a Soviet police training school 19 days ago. He appeared four days ago in the British sector of Berlin asking for asylum which was granted.

Miss P.N.E. May Get Chance In Hollywood

VANCOUVER (CP) — Marjorie Hildebrand of Vancouver, crowned Miss P.N.E. at the 1949 Pacific National Exhibition, may have a movie future as a star of Hollywood "horse opera" westerns.

Two Hollywood studios specializing in western movies are understood to be interested in Miss Hildebrand.

"There's nothing definite yet about a contract," she said today. "I don't want to jeopardize my career in business until there is something more definite."

Her name has been linked with the forthcoming production of "Cariboo Trail" which has a British Columbia background.

Plan Drivers' Group In City To Combat High Accident Rate

In an effort to combat the increasing accident rate, Victoria citizens are forming an organization known as the Victoria Sports Roadster Association, with membership open to drivers and owners with valid white drivers' licenses.

The association will be based a great deal on the similar associations in England which hold police-sanctioned meets of skill, speed, and endurance tests with their own stock sports cars and special track roadsters.

The plans being drawn up for this association call for sane and sensible driving on the roads at all times by its members, most of whom are expected to be the younger citizens of Victoria.

Penalty for any reckless driving charge will be immediate dismissal from the association.

The association plans to operate in such a manner as to make members better drivers after taking part in the 1950 meets.

Second Ice Show Planned In City

Close behind the announcement this week that the Rotary Club here would resume its annual Ice Carnival at the Memorial Arena, President Ted Estlin of the Lions Club announced on Friday that the club was interested in sponsoring an ice show here.

Mr. Estlin said he had met Joe Dutkowski, manager of the arena this week, and although no details or full announcement could be made, it was hoped that the service club would present an ice show either in 1951 or early 1952.

The Rotary Ice Carnival is scheduled to take place here on the evenings of Dec. 13 and 14 with a possible matinee on the afternoon of the 14th. Ab Lindsay is chairman of the committee.

Bomber Explodes

SEATTLE (AP) — Flaming gasoline fumes shot through a huge B-50 bomber at the Boeing Airplane Company plant here Thursday, touching off an explosion that injured 11 men, two seriously.

Firemen said a sheet of flame sprang from two empty gasoline tanks in the middle of the plane, which the crew was removing. The flames traveled into the left wing, blowing up a tank there.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

HOBOES' CONVENTION

A REFERENCE in an eastern paper to a convention about to be held in Rochester, N.Y., caught my eye the other day. Not that conventions are rarities. Anything but! In fact, there's scarcely a day on the calendar which doesn't see a convention in progress somewhere on this North American continent.

But it was the name of the organization about to meet that attracted my attention. It was The Itinerant Knights of the World, and, at first glance, I took it to be one of the many secret fraternities with which this continent also abounds—wherever two or more men can be gathered together to give the high signs.

On delving a little deeper I learned that The Itinerant Knights of The World is, indeed, the name of a secret fraternity which has its own peculiar sign language.

TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP!

ACCORDING to my authority, the I.K.W.—and I use the initials to conform to another very prevalent custom on this North American continent—is the official title of the ancient order of hoboes.

And because, to my sensitive nostrils, a hobo doesn't necessarily smell any the sweeter under such a high-falutin' name, I hied me to that democratic Who's Who, the dictionary, to see if his origin gave any justification for the use of the word "knight" as a euphemism.

Chambers' English dictionary didn't even mention the hobo. Webster's defined him as "an idle, shiftless, wandering workman, ranking scarcely above the tramp," but gave no hint of his etymological origin.

IN FULL FLOWER

DESPITE that handicap, the itinerant knighthood of the world looks like coming to full flower at Rochester. But the head man, or "Emperor," as he calls himself, isn't any too happy about it.

"Emperor" Jeff Davis of the I.K.W., in a press interview before the opening of the convention, sadly presaged a small attendance of delegates at the convention, saying: "Most of the 'boes are now in conventional jobs." And mournfully added: "A few have so thoroughly prospered that they will fly here."

Mr. Davis didn't say how many would sweep down on Rochester in their privately-owned planes, but it just serves to show how the mighty pan-handling fraternity have fallen.

RUGGED INDIVIDUALISTS

SO THERE goes another of my cherished illusions. I had always been under the impression the hoboes were rugged individualists—or not so rugged, perhaps—who led lazy lives because of their reluctance to conform to the conventional idea that you have to work in order to eat.

Yet here we are confronted with evidence that they not only join societies and hold conventions—even as you and I—but they also conform to the conventional idea that a steady job pays better than hunting for hand-outs.

ADDED AGENDA

I DON'T know what's on the agenda for the Rochester convention; but I imagine that the constitution will have to be changed to permit of job-handlers qualifying for membership as well as pan-handlers.

No doubt, the one-time discussions about the secret signs allegedly left by hoboes to indicate generous—or otherwise—hand-outs at certain houses will be superseded by discussions on road signs in their relation to itinerant knights-errant.

After all, the etymological origin on the word "hobo," to which I alluded earlier, may not matter much. For it looks as if both the word and the species are doomed to early extinction in these days of full employment—even of hoboes.

Believes Neighbors
'Stripping' Her Home

The case of a woman resident of Saanich who suffered delusions that she was being robbed by her neighbors, was heard in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

After hearing policemen and neighbors testify how the woman had stood on her veranda on the afternoon of Aug. 25 and screamed and shouted abuse at passers-by and neighbors and her emphatic denials of such behaviour, Magistrate Hall won her promise to go and see a psychiatrist.

He saw this as a case of extreme nervous condition. She was charged with causing a disturbance.

Sgt. Eric Elwell said he found the woman in full voice, showering a tirade of abuse and accusations at neighbors.

"I tried for 15 minutes to subdue her. You could hear her easily a block away," said the sergeant.

The sergeant said the woman was screaming about neighbors stealing from her. She wanted him to go to the neighbors who had stolen her jewelry and to regain the fur coat "taken from my back in a theatre" by one of them.

Sgt. Elwell said the woman said people had stripped her house down to even taking the carpet off the kitchen floor.

SCOFFS AT EVIDENCE

Magistrate Hall was forced to halt the woman when she broke out periodically with denials and scoffing remarks relating to the evidence.

Constable Robert Coleman said he took notes of what she yelled. She had screamed about thieves who had taken connections off her stove and boiler, about being taken to hospital and given arsenic, how she had been refused a telephone and how she was so scared of people stealing from her that she had not left the house for a year.

In the witness box, however, the woman claimed she had not been rowdy as the evidence indicated.

"I was crying because I had not heard from my husband for six months," she said, pointing out that she was lonely. The husband apparently is in hospital.

Claiming that she had never come beyond the screen door and set foot on the veranda, she said she was of the opinion she had a right to cry in her own home.

Record Of Birth
Destroyed By Fire,
Lawyer Tells Judge

The Irish rebellion was featured in a petition submitted to Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Supreme Court Chambers Thursday requesting permission for distribution of the $18,000 estate of Alexander Crawford of Deep Cove who died intestate in 1946.

R. D. Harvey, K.C., representing the administrators of the estate, ask for leave to hand over the estate to the legal heir, Francis Crawford Williams of London, Eng., a nephew of Mr. Crawford. Nearest other relatives were first cousins.

While the beneficiary had sufficient evidence to establish that he was the rightful heir of Mr. Crawford, Mr. Harvey said Mr. Williams had no birth certificate. His record of birth was destroyed when the church at Meath, Slane County, Erie, was set afire during the times of troubles in Southern Ireland.

While not opposing the petition, P. J. Bates, representing several first cousins, pointed out that a letter had been received from the sexton of the church stating that the nephew of Mr. Crawford had died at childbirth with his mother. Both were buried in the Irish village.

He added, however, that he had received a letter from a firm of Irish solicitors stating that the report of the death of the nephew was unreliable. H. E. Alder, acting on behalf of the nephew, said that on the death of Mr. Williams' mother, the nephew was taken to England by his father where he lived with his grandmother in 1896. The nephew's mother was the sister of Mr. Crawford.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane said he felt there was sufficient evidence to show that Mr. Williams was the rightful heir. He ordered distribution of the estate.

Says Canada Has Bright Future
Under Free Enterprise System

ALLAN C. ROSS

Advice that Canada should stick with its present system of free enterprise and steer clear of any experiments with socialism was given Thursday night by Allan C. Ross, Ottawa, president of the Canadian Construction Association, at a Victoria Building Industries Exchange meeting in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Ross indirectly charged Britain's Labor government with "retarding progress in that country through the implementation of its socialist policies."

"And sympathetic though we must be with Britain," he said, "we should not fail to learn the lessons which her present situation has for us."

He maintained Canadian management should take a lesson from the plight of British industrialists who relied too much on "protective devices." He said Canadian labor should take a lesson from British labor which, loaded with social security programs, had lost the incentive to get ahead.

"Let government also consider the plight brought about by programs which involve vast numbers of people in non-productive employment, and whose controls and red tape throttle the efforts of those best fitted to boost production."

By maintaining the free enterprise system, Mr. Ross continued, Canada will continue to go ahead with development of its vast potentialities and will become, in a much greater sense than it is today, a big world power.

OUTLOOK OPTIMISTIC

"The outlook for the whole Canadian economy is optimistic when one takes a look at long-range prospects," the speaker declared.

The rate of Canada's present economic development, Mr. Ross continued, is considerably faster than that of her neighbor, the United States.

"Since the beginning of the century," he said, "population has increased in Canada approximately two and one-half times, while the United States' population has not quite doubled it."

than in any other county in the world, on a pro rata basis.

Turning from housing to a different kind of construction work, road building, Mr. Ross showed enthusiasm at the rapid strides being made to bring about an early completion of a 5,000-mile hard surface Trans-Canada Highway.

He said there was little doubt that Parliament, during its current session, will provide between 150 and 200 million dollars as a federal contribution to this project. He said the 10 provinces, collectively, will be expected to match the federal grant.

"I am confident that the monies spent on the Trans-Canada Highway will be returned in benefits to the people of Canada many times over," Mr. Ross concluded.

Also speaking at the meeting was R. G. Johnson, general manager of the C.C.A., who dealt with the workings of the association.

Walter Loney, president of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange, presided over the meeting, which was attended by 50 persons associated with the construction business in and around Victoria.

Temporary Halt On
Transmission Work

Work on the new transmission power line between Victoria and Nanaimo has been closed down temporarily as part of the construction program, E. W. Arnott, vice-president of the B.C. Electric for Vancouver Island announced today.

Present work being done by the Northern Construction Company had been completed for the year, Mr. Arnott stated, but their contract will resume again next year. Complete project is scheduled to be completed by September of 1950, he said. Clearing work on the route for the transmission line had been practically completed, it was learned.

Alan Emery, 18, of Metchoshin, is in Jubilee Hospital being treated for a fractured right knee and shoulder and multiple cuts and abrasions sustained Thursday afternoon in an accident on Metchoshin Road near Wishart Road, B.C. Police reported.

Police said the motorcycle Emery was driving was in collision with a light car driven by James Leggett, also of Metchoshin. He is reported to have been turning into a driveway when the accident occurred, the impact sending the car over on its side.

Front forks of the motorcycle were buckled and the right rear door of the sedan was damaged by the impact, police said. Accident occurred while it was raining.

Originator Of Plan To Clean Up Gorge, John Day, Dies

John Day, well-known figure around Victoria's City Hall, died late Thursday afternoon at his home, 880 Maddison Street. He was 86 years of age.

A retired sanitary engineer, Mr. Day was credited with originating the plan of cutting a canal from Portage Inlet to Theis Cove to clean up the Gorge. He campaigned vigorously for years in an effort to get government support for his plan.

Keenly interested in all phases of civic government, Mr. Day was until recently a regular attendant at City Council meetings. He was an aldermanic candidate at one time but was not elected. His opinions on public matters were often expressed in letters to newspaper editors.

Mr. Day was born in Wolverhampton, Staffordshire, Eng. He is survived by a daughter, Mary, and three sons, Robert, John and Joseph, all of Victoria. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 from Maynard's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Interment will follow at Colwood Burial Park.

Fine Exhibits At Nanaimo Fall Fair, Record Attendance

NANAIMO—Fruit and vegetable exhibits at the three-day Fall Fair received the praise of J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who officially opened the show in the Civic Arena here Thursday night. Mayor George Muir and Harry Tuck, president of the Agriculture Board, were present.

The event featured the crowning of June Lightfoot as Queen of the fair. Despite a downfall of rain, the largest first night attendance in 20 years marked the opening of the annual fair.

Miniature animals and a coral carved of wood by a nine-year-old arthritis wheelchair patient, attracted the attention of hundreds of people who attended the fair. He was awarded a special prize.

Mrs. N. Pearson and Mrs. M. Long won prizes for hand-made flower floor rugs in the women's section. Mrs. B. Yon and Gabriola Island Women's Institute won second prizes in the rug classes.

Judges awarded J. Tawonen a special prize for his pedestal table carved out of yellow cedar. J. Alexander won first prize for his collection of coins, while Mrs. J. Harrison took a first prize for a collection of photo tinting.

In the potato section, D. Wilson won eight first prizes. Mrs. H. Nichols and W. J. Hacker each won one first for potatoes.

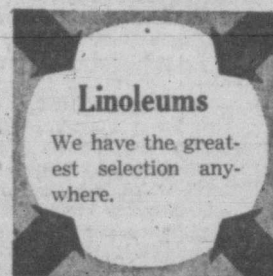

Some of the finest dogs in the province will be exhibited Saturday at the kennel show, which is being held in conjunction with the fair. There is also a cattle show on Saturday.

WE ARE GROWING UP

DOMINANT AMONG THE LEGISLATIVE
fare to which the members of the House of Commons will be asked to give their attention during the first session of Canada's 21st Parliament which began its deliberations yesterday is a measure to ask the United Kingdom to vest in the senior legislative body of this country the right to amend its constitution.

It is scarcely necessary at this late date, of course, to restate the fact that the British North America Act is an imperial statute. But until other arrangements are made between Ottawa and London it still will be necessary for the Canadian House of Commons and the Canadian Senate, through a joint "prayer," to obtain formal permission from the Parliament of the United Kingdom when the elected representatives of the people of this country find it desirable to effect certain changes in the constitutional machinery by which we run our public business.

It will not be surprising if that fast-dwindling Colonial-minded element in this country looks down its mid-Victorian nose at the suggestion put forth in the Speech from the Throne with which the Governor-General opened yesterday's proceedings. But the number of Canadians—regardless of their place of birth—who still would vote for government control from Downing Street are very few indeed. Ninety-nine out of every hundred of our people understand and appreciate the significance and efficacy of those evolutionary processes by which the various component parts of the British family of nations have acquired the right to look after their own affairs without domination by or interference from the Mother of Parliaments at Westminster. Naturally enough, some members of the Opposition in the House of Commons at Ottawa will parade the familiar antediluvian arguments against what they will call another step on the part of Canada toward severing her ties with the parent Dominion of the Commonwealth. These need not be taken seriously. They have been trotted out many times in recent years.

Nor is there much new in this particular proposal contained in the Speech from the Throne. Its origin may be traced to the resolution approved at the Imperial Conference in London in 1926. At that time, it will be recalled, Rt. Hon. Arthur Balfour, Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, Rt. Hon. Wm. Lyon Mackenzie King and Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe evolved a formula which settled once and for all the equality of status of the various self-governing nations of the British Commonwealth. In 1931, the Statute of Westminster confirmed in specific legal terms the decision which had been reached five years earlier. In other words, what happened in 1926, and subsequently in 1931, had the force and effect of an announcement to the world that the Dominions were free to continue a constitutional course which already had become familiar through custom.

Whether the proposal to ask the Imperial Parliament to pass legislation vesting in the Dominion of Canada the right to amend her own Constitution will be followed by the Dominion Parliament's decision to abolish appeals to the Imperial Privy Council is a matter which, obviously, must remain, for the time being, in the speculative realm. From the layman's point of view, however, it would seem that the time has arrived when Canadians of all political stripes should realize that the Supreme Court of Canada, composed as it is of some of the most brilliant legal minds in the world, is as competent to adjudicate on such matters—even of an interpretive character as between Dominion and provincial jurisdictions—as the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London. Moreover, it is no secret that the Privy Council in the Empire's metropolises, which has enough to do on its own account, would learn with not a little satisfaction that henceforward its dockets would not be cluttered up with appeal cases from Canada. Whether the eminent members of the legal fraternity in the Dominion will agree on this point is another matter.

As for the other items in the Speech from the Throne, there would seem to be sufficient material to engage the attention of our national lawmakers for several weeks, especially in respect of those proposals which have to do with such questions as housing, assistance to the shipbuilding industry, and those multifarious items that are bound to evoke lively discussion and, by the same token, criticism from the Progressive Conservative and Co-operative Commonwealth Federation benches.

A WORTHY MEMORIAL

THERE WILL BE A GENERAL AP
proval of the program announced for the formal opening of Victoria's Memorial Arena, stressing as it does the solemn nature of the occasion and the sacrifice of those whose memory the building is intended to preserve. The importance given to the presence of veterans' representatives, bereaved parents and school children will be favorably noted, for these are the people whose interest in the Arena transcends its mere function as a gathering place for sports and entertainment. They are those whose loss has been greatest, or, in the case of the children, whose heritage is the right to freedom so dearly bought by the men and women who are thus commemorated.

For many citizens the "open house" will provide the first opportunity to inspect the structure. They will find it admirably adapted to its purpose, although its future popularity may tax its capacity. It is a building of which any city might be proud, and now that the long delays and disappointments are things of the past, we may expect the community to make full use of the facilities available.

A NEW APPROACH

IT HAS BEEN A LONG HARD ROAD, but international co-operation would now seem to have arrived at the point where the economic interdependence of countries is achieving almost matter-of-fact recognition. The growth of such a concept has been so gradual that the man in the street may be surprised to recall the days when foreign trade was a matter of bitter competition and cut-throat tactics. The complete ruin of a competitor, if it were necessary in the course of eliminating him from a market, was a matter of no consequence. It was the epitome of the policy of "winner take all."

But two world wars and the heavy burden of international debts and obligations that resulted from them have changed thinking in this regard. Competition in selling must remain, for that is the protection of the consumer who wishes to buy at the lowest possible price. But such developments as the Benelux arrangement for trade among Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg; the Western Union system for economic co-operation; and the recent Washington talks held by Britain, Canada and the United States, illustrate the new philosophy that is finding a place in the world today. Canada's Finance Minister Douglas Abbott summed it up concisely in a recent statement. Referring to the political success of the Atlantic Pact, he observed: "This principle is as important in economic as it is in political co-operation. . . Economically and in the field of human welfare our fortunes are also linked and we go up or down together."

The fact is that modern technological progress has made the world too small for unbridled commercial warfare. The United States has come to realize that the bankruptcy of Britain would be equally catastrophic in the Western Hemisphere as it would be in Europe. The erstwhile enemy, Germany, must be restored economically if Europe is to recover. The Canadian economy cannot be allowed to suffer a major reverse through a collapse of foreign trade, for the repercussions would be felt far afield. And so it goes. Interdependency has brought the need for co-operation, which in turn has made compromise a major virtue. With all the shortcomings that this century has exhibited, historians may yet see it as forming the dawn of a new era of international understanding, which ultimately will result in the triumph of the concept of One World.

COLD BUSINESS FACTS

MUCH IS BEING MADE OF THE FACT that Great Britain has entered into a contract with the Soviet Union for the supply of 100,000 standards of softwood. As we understand it, however, the order which the United Kingdom has placed with the authorities in Moscow is mostly intended to furnish the kind of wood which is used in the building trades and for the manufacture of furniture.

It is interesting to note that the 1938 total of British imports of timber of all varieties—excluding hardwoods and pit props—from Russia and Baltic countries totaled some 1,237,000 standards. It should be mentioned, of course, that a standard is nearly 2,000 feet board measurement.

British Columbia is intensely interested in selling the products of her forests to the United Kingdom. But it is a well-known fact that in the years preceding the Second World War the whole of Canada sold to Great Britain—taking 1938 as an example—only 457,000 standards. In that year Sweden marketed in the United Kingdom 378,000 standards, Finland 470,000, the Soviet Union 364,000, Poland 125,000 standards. In other words, Britain imported from the rest of the world in the year of Munich a total quantity of sawn and planed softwood, very much in excess of Canada's total export to both Great Britain and Elre—1,237,000 against 457,000!

We mention this export of timber because as the forest industry of British Columbia thrives through its export to other lands, so does the economic condition of this part of Canada improve. But the point to be emphasized is the fact that there is nothing new or novel in the announcement of the latest deal between London and Moscow in this regard.

Furthermore, if a certain species of timber were required urgently by the building trade of Great Britain, its requirements could be filled from Northern Europe within about 48 hours—whereas, on the other hand, an order placed with British Columbia operators for a certain species of "fine cuts" could not be filled, economically, for many weeks.

It is well to keep all these facts in mind when hard-pressed Britain, now somewhat relieved by the results of the Washington Conference, finds it necessary to do business with some of the European countries whose political ideology differs very substantially from her own.

LIQUIDATING THE CRISIS

IN THE MAZE of tangled problems, which we are calling the British crisis, there is a main thread which we can pick up and follow. It is the story of the British war debts—known in the United States form as Lend Lease and when incurred in the Commonwealth and Empire as the Sterling Balances. We do not, I think, oversimplify the problem, in the sense of misleading ourselves, if we take what happened to these war debts as a main clue to the crisis and to what may be expected in the near future.

We may begin by fixing it in our minds that in her enormous and heroic performance in the war Britain not only sacrificed a very large part of all her accumulated foreign assets but also went deeply into foreign debt. American lend lease was about $30,000,000,000; the war debts to the Empire and Commonwealth and some other related countries were—if we count the pound sterling at $4—over $14,000,000,000 more.

WE HAD realized here, even before the war was over, that with her losses and her debts Britain alone and unaided could not achieve a tolerable standard of life and maintain her position as a great power in the world. American aid began with the British loan which was negotiated in Washington in 1945. In that loan agreement there were three main points. We canceled $30,000,000,000 of lend lease war debt. We loaned Britain nearly $4,000,000,000 of new money. And we obtained an understanding that Britain would also negotiate a war debt settlement with her creditors in the Commonwealth and Empire.

We took the view that Britain could not recover even with American aid; if she had to repay all these war debts. In the 1945 loan agreement it was understood that a large part of the war debts (or sterling balances) were to be canceled, that another part was to be funded over a long term, and that only a small part—at the rate of about $170,000,000 a year—was to be paid back immediately.

THIS UNDERSTANDING has not been carried out. Before we look at the reasons why the British government did not carry out the understanding about the Empire war debts, it will be useful to take a measure of the burden they have been and still are. In the twelve months which ended last June the British government "released" funds from the "blocked sterling balances"—that is to say, repaid war debt—to India, Pakistan, Egypt, Iraq and Ceylon to the tune of about 210 million pounds. If the pound is figured at $4, this was a burden of about $800,000,000 a year. In other words, the British have been paying out of their current earnings and dwindling reserves this large sum to the countries of the Middle East and of Southern Asia. They have also, it should be added, been supplying to Europe another $300,000,000 of goods for which they do not receive goods in return.

The present crisis, which brought Sir Stafford Cripps and Mr. Bevin to Washington, turns on the fact that the British people cannot, even with Marshall aid, earn their own living, maintain their own social services, keep up a big military establishment, and give away to Asia and to Europe what they are now giving away.

WHEN WE ASK why the British government did not carry out the 1945 understanding about the Empire war debt, we come upon the really difficult issues of this crisis. There were two main reasons. The one was that if Britain had not financed the needs of India, Pakistan and Egypt, they would have been in great trouble. They had to be helped somehow. But there was another reason. When the British government helped these countries by letting them spend from their sterling balances, it created a protected market, which was very profitable for British industry and maintained full employment for British labor.

Thus the enlightened political interest in supporting the countries of Southern Asia has been fused with British private vested interests, which in regard to British international solvency are not enlightened. As one Englishman put it to me recently: when the question had arisen of releasing sterling balances, the Treasury, thinking of the solvency of Britain, said No; the Board of Trade, thinking of trade and employment, said Yes reluctantly; and the Foreign Office, thinking of the British and the world political interests, said Yes emphatically.

THIS DIAGNOSIS indicates what will be, in fact, however presently disguised and withheld, the main lines along which the British crisis will be liquidated. The British government will be compelled to reduce to the vanishing point its contributions in the former Asiatic Empire. The United States by one means or another will have to take over the responsibility for their financial needs—particularly those of India, which is the largest. The British creditors. When and as this happens, the British protected market in that part of the world will be opened to American and world competition, and this will compel a deep readjustment, probably accompanied for a time by some unemployment, in the British Isles.

But Britain will be relieved of a burden she cannot carry, and she will be deprived of a protection which renders her industry uncompetitive. Then with American aid continued for some years beyond 1952, she may be in a position where her currency at a new rate of exchange can be supported by the United States and made convertible for current trade.

'Twice Blessed'

What The Comrades Hear

By FRED REDMAN in the Sunday Pictorial, London

"Police transformed the town into an armed camp. Armored cars assembled in front of the Workers' districts. Lines of police waited in full military preparedness. Mothers hid their children so that they should not fall before the merciless bullets of the police."

MOSCOW 'FACTS'

RECOGNIZE this description? Moscow says you should. For it's supposed to be London on May Day 1949. Pravda printed it, and the Soviet radio solemnly repeated the tale as fact.

These monstrous, fantastic lies are not exceptional. Radio stations of the Iron Curtain countries maintain a daily supply of such poisonous misstatements. Because Britain is losing the wordy warfare of the air—300 Russian stations jam the B.B.C.'s Russian-language broadcasts—millions of people in Eastern Europe never hear the truth.

I thought it amusing when Paul Winterton related in his book, "Inquest on an Ally," how a Russian paper published a picture of a toddler wearing toy reins with the caption "Children in London are often led on leash, like dogs." But it isn't funny any more, it's dangerous.

What kind of picture do the Comrades get now? I have been sifting monitored Russian broadcasts to find out.

Comrade Kotik, ship's officer, says: "In London I found nothing but crowds of unemployed seeking their daily bread."

GAVE 'EXAMPLE'

In Oxford Street, says a Russian newspaperman, he found a "poor little boy of 12" holding a doll in his hands and crying in a broken voice: "Only sixpence—she can laugh or cry—only sixpence." Taking pity on the child, the Soviet reporter found that his mother had died of starvation, and selling dolls was his only way of making a living!

And here comes the moral: "In Britain there are thousands like this boy. Out of every 1,000 children, 800 have no chance of going to school."

British children are all unhappy. Russian listeners are told. In most schools in the suburbs and smaller towns there is no glass in the windows, there are no benches to sit on.

Here are some more cracks at British institutions:

Law—"In Britain the scales of justice are apt to tip the way the judges wish them to go."

The Lords—"Some 700 idlers or besotted statesmen clad in ermine."

The Theatre—"Full of adultery stories of high life."

The Labor Party—"No more Socialism in our time, no prospect of abolishing the rule of the Capitalist monopolists; not a single important social reform."

Doctors—"Commerce makes them partners, and the sufferings of the people are neglected."

AIR WAR

The war of the air isn't covered by international law. It is a war without rules. But draft conventions for freedom of information come before the next meeting of the United Nations Assembly.

At that meeting both Britain and America will strongly protest that radio jamming makes freedom of information impossible.

The Russians and their satellites will, of course, deny it.

They Shamed The Cause

By BRUCE BLOSSAT from New York

IN A confused area like the recent disgraceful riot at Peekskill, N.Y., it is not easy to assign blame precisely.

Certainly the local and state police were not adequate to the occasion. They did not anticipate the heavy barrage of rocks and stones hurled from behind trees by self-styled vigilantes and tough teen-agers at departing followers of Paul Robeson, the Negro singer, after his concert was over.

ARMED GUARDS?

One wonders, too, what was the exact role played by the "civilian security guards" brought onto the scene to protect the 15,000 concertgoers. Police say they found a large assortment of weapons in the cars of Robeson's followers. Whether these were used in the later melee is not clear; but if the police statement is accurate it suggests the pro-Robeson people were not themselves without some belligerent intent.

On the other hand, several solid facts stand out in accusation of the groups which appeared in opposition to Communist Robeson and his supporters. Altogether some 145 people received medical treatment after the uprising, and most were said to be on the Robeson side. Fortunately, only a handful were severely hurt. But bus company reports establish that 50 of the 150 buses used to transport the concertgoers were damaged, with broken windows and windshields the main result. Many private cars suffered similarly, and some were overturned.

NOT ENOUGH

To deplore this violence is automatic. But it isn't enough. We have to realize that the people responsible for this ugly episode were acting in the name of "Americanism" against communism, a force all good Americans oppose as destructive of their freedoms.

But to the adults who threw rocks or overturned cars at Peekskill in the "defence of their country," any decent citizen must say: "The United States neither needs nor wants such defence from you. It can hold its liberties without ever throwing a single rock at a peaceful meeting."

To the teen-agers who indulged in this shameful attack, the good American can only say: "I feel terribly sorry for you. Perhaps your parents are to blame for not giving you a better understanding of what freedom in this country means. America stands for many things, tough boys. But none has anything to do with rock-throwing or cat-calling."

To both young and old among the rock-throwers, the nation must say:

"You have disgraced, not helped your country. You have played right smack into the hands of the Communists, who love to be martyrs, to show their wounds as proof of the wickedness of the capitalist world."

LAST CALLED

"Until you can learn the essence of liberty in both thought and action, you deserve to remain on the sidelines in American life. You ought really to be the last to be called for the real defence of your country should it be in peril."

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press News Analyst

GREECE'S threat to invade Communist Albania as a measure of self-defence, if guerrilla forces launch further attacks on Greek soil from Albania, has capitals on both sides of the Iron Curtain worried.

Washington, London and Moscow are particularly concerned, and it's reported that the Anglo-American brotherhood is likely to take steps to discourage any such military operation by their Greek ally. It wouldn't be surprising if Russia advised Albania to go easy.

A Greek invasion of Albania could easily precipitate another world war. And perhaps the most significant, and hopeful, aspect of the current affair is that both sides in the cold war are anxious to avoid another general upheaval.

The Balkans through the centuries have been the whelping ground of armed conflicts. The situation at the moment is particularly delicate, not only on account of the Greece-Albania row but because relations between Turkey and Bulgaria again are tense—perhaps one should say more tense than usual. To this must be added the feud which has developed between Yugoslavia and Russia's Balkan satellites because of dictator Tito's political revolt against Moscow.

GOOD REASON, BUT!

Of course the fact that Greece's sponsors frown on any invasion of Albania is in no sense due to doubts as to the truth of the Athens charges.

The Albanian operations have been carried on more or less openly for a long time. It just isn't smart to retaliate in such fashion as to precipitate another global upheaval.

Albania lies between Yugoslavia and Greece and is a corridor into the Balkan Peninsula. For this reason it has for hundreds of years been used as a gateway by invading armies.

Flip a match anywhere in the Balkans these days and you could start a fire which might be hard to put out. The encouraging thing is that the Moscow, Washington and London firewards all are keeping an eye out to see that nobody tosses that match.

THEY'RE EVERYWHERE

Toronto Globe and Mail

Now comes the time of the fall fairs, those local gatherings the country over which play such a vital part in the progress of their communities. There go the lordly aristocrats of the barn, the fruit and flower of the earth, the magic of the housewife's pantry, all to vie for honors.

There go, also, the neighbors and their families to an annual rendezvous which is an essential function in their social life. The doings of the homes and churches and schools mingle in these places with the politics of the times and the ancient wisdom of the soil.

DEW

New York Times

Since ancient days dew has been an accepted symbol of dawn and morning freshness. In poetry and prose one reads of dew "falling"; this is permissible literary license, but not scientifically correct. The tiny drops of water that gather on leaves, blades of grass and threads of spiders' webs are condensed from water vapor. Now that September is here one can study the dew miracle on coolish mornings. The process begins shortly after sunset; it continues through the night unless the temperature changes. As earth and plants radiate their heat and grow cooler, the moisture in surrounding warmer air is condensed on the cooling objects.

COLLECTORS' ITEMS

Winnipeg Free Press

A visiting New York writer has let out a yelp of collector's delight at the sight of Winnipeg's "little yellow wooden trolley cars." They are, he insists, works of art and he would like to take one home with him.

There perhaps is the solution to Winnipeg's transportation problem. If the Winnipeg Electric Company were to canvass the market, it might be able to work off its whole fleet of street cars to collectors of early Canadiana and Americana. With the prices that collectors' items sometimes fetch, it might even be able to raise enough money from this source to lay in a fleet of new trolleys.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (BUP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Lethbridge say they have smashed the rustling ring which was operating in southern Alberta.

Two more men have been arrested in connection with the cattle stealing. They are Richard Fletcher, 24, of Sudbury, Ont., and John Orich, 24, of Brocket, Alta.

Fletcher was arrested last Wednesday in Delia, Man., while Orich was picked up by the R.C.M.P. in Delbonita, Alta. Both men have been sent to the Lethbridge jail. Four others are in custody.

China's Plight, Yugoslavia Vital Points For Assembly

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—The Chinese and Stalin-Tito situations loomed today as the international problems which might provoke the noisiest debates at the United Nations' fourth General Assembly.

There were reports that both questions would be brought before the 59-country meeting opening next Tuesday at Flushing Meadow, N.Y., but no delegation made a formal move to do so.

Both the problems could be brought up during debates on some of the 72 topics on the work sheet, among which there were no new major issues.

Observers saw these possibilities on the China front:

1. The Chinese Nationalists might charge Russia with interfering in the internal affairs of China by aiding the Chinese Communists.

2. The Chinese Communists might seek representation at the United Nations.

More Lottery Seizures

City police are going through "mopping up" operations incident to the raids started Wednesday which are believed to have smashed a $500,000 Canada-wide lottery ring.

Deputy Chief of Police John Blackstock reported that a new raid engineered this morning at a different locality resulted in more records and a quantity of cash being seized. This is the first time in the series of raids that money has been located, he said.

Frank G. Hilton, 36-year-old former resident of Melville, Sask., has been charged in city police court with unlawfully conducting a sweepstake. He has been remanded to Monday to elect for trial and plea.

The deputy chief said that it would be up to city prosecutor Claude L. Harrison to decide what further charges, if any, will be laid in the case.

Eighth Reprieve In Shadow Of Gallows

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—For the eighth time, William Jerome Phyle today escaped execution for the killing of Elmer Frazee in a San Diego holdup in 1946.

He was scheduled to die in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber this morning. The Supreme Court granted a temporary stay of execution so Phyle's attorney might seek another trial of his client's sanity.

Fast Jet Flight

U.S. Colonel Denies Hiring Hungarian As U.S. Agent

NEW YORK (AP)—Col. George Kovach said today it's strictly nonsense that he ever made or tried to make Laszlo Rajk an anti-Communist agent.

Rajk, pleading guilty in Budapest to plotting against the Hungarian government, had testified that Kovach forced him on behalf of the Americans to work against the Red-dominated regime.

"I never even met Rajk," Kovach said, "he was not a government minister when I was in Budapest and, while I saw him at various parties, I had no desire to meet him."

"It is just one of those nicely built-up Communist stories."

Kovach, now general manager of the Great Northern Hotel here, was chief of the Hungarian section of the U.S. Military Mission in Budapest from Feb. 18, 1945, to Dec. 5, 1946.

By ENDRE MARTON

BUDAPEST (AP)—Alaszlo Rajk, once Hungary's No. 2 Communist, told a people's court today he had plotted with Americans and other westerners to overthrow the Communist government and make Hungary a "colony of Yugoslavia."

Rajk, former Interior Minister and Foreign Minister in the Communist government, went on trial for his life with seven others against a background of a seething war of nerves between Communist Yugoslavia and the Soviet-led nations of the Cominform.

The former boss of Hungary's police pleaded guilty to all charges in the indictment. One of these was that he had plotted with Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government to assassinate leading Hungarian officials.

FOLLOWS PATTERN

Rajk quickly named two Americans as accomplices. Heaping guilt upon his own head in a long recital to the court, he freely—almost eagerly—testified to contacts with British, French, U.S. and Yugoslav intelligence agents.

(The trial was following a familiar pattern. As in the case of the convicted Roman Catholic Primate, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the defendants went on trial with the presumption that they were guilty until proved innocent. This is the opposite of most western procedure.)

Many Questions, Motions On Commons' Order Paper

OTTAWA (CP)—A proposal for a Commons committee on health, welfare, social security and housing came today from Donald Fleming (P.C.-Toronto-Eglinton) as Parliament's private members started throwing around their questions and ideas.

With the session just one day old, the back benchers filed on the Commons order paper some 16 queries and resolutions, ranging all the way from a request for a new House committee to choose a Canadian flag to a revival of the proposal that a native of Canada be the next Governor-General.

The questions will eventually be answered by the government. The resolutions may or may not get debated and their chances of adoption are slim.

Mr. Fleming's resolution proposes a committee of 35 members and is in line with the interest he showed in such matters during the last Parliament.

The proposal for the flag committee came from a Liberal member, Jean Richard of Ottawa East. The Governor-General resolution came from Bona Arseneault (Lib.-Bonaventure, Que.).

Leontic

He charged that Tito was "brandishing the sword at the Balkans."

75c Minimum Wage In Canada Asked By T.L.C. Convention

CALGARY (CP)—A national minimum wage of at least 75 cents an hour was called for today by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

A resolution adopted at the T.L.C.'s annual convention said such a minimum wage should be established on a national basis because of high living costs, increased worker productivity and the need for better standards of living.

At present, minimum wage legislation is under provincial jurisdiction.

The T.L.C. resolution says the national minimum should be 75 cents "or such higher minimum as may be needed to purchase the normal requirements for the maintenance and welfare of our people."

The wage proposal ran into some objection. Robert Brown of the Printing Pressmen's Union in Toronto said the workers should not depend on government legislation or wages but should get results through the labor movement.

Anscomb Flying East To Sell Bond Issue

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb left Victoria by air this afternoon for Toronto to make arrangements for the sale of bonds to help finance the provinces' big expansion program.

His deputy, J. V. Fisher, is accompanying him.

Mr. Anscomb hopes to arrange for the borrowing of $20,000,000 and he hopes to get the money for around 3 per cent because B.C.'s finances are considered in such good repute.

About $7,000,000 of the loan is expected to go towards the extension of the government-owned B.C. Power Commission's services, while the bulk of the remainder will go to the public works program which includes road building and current extensions of the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Claims Yugoslavia Mobilizing Troops

BUCHAREST (AP)—The Cominform Journal claimed today that Yugoslavia was mobilizing troops on its borders with neighboring Communist states and that "feverish fortification works are in progress along the border."

The claims were made by a writer, identified only as I.

Commons' Biggest Member

Jack Garland, 500-pound Liberal member of Parliament for Nipissing, Ont., is sitting in an ordinary chair in the Commons chamber. When the 31-year-old six-foot-two heavyweight from North Bay, Ont., was elected last June, government officials were rumored to be building special chairs for him—just in case. Later the rumors were denied. Mr. Garland has been given a desk in the chamber to himself. All other members sit two to a desk. (CP Photo.)

Two Thugs Hold Up Bank, Beat Clerk With Revolver

MONTREAL (CP)—Two armed bandits today robbed a west-end branch of the Royal Bank of Canada of $4,000 and escaped after beating a clerk with the butt of a gun.

It was the second Montreal hold-up in three days. Wednesday a pair of gunmen took $4,000 from a Banque Canadienne Nationale Branch in the north end of the city.

The two entered the Royal Bank Branch at the corner of Monkland Boulevard and Harvard Avenue shortly before 11 a.m. and threatened the staff and customers with their guns.

The injured man, struck across the back of the neck with the butt of a revolver, was Leonard Konings, a clerk who joined the bank staff five days ago. He was treated by a neighborhood doctor and returned to work.

A dozen customers were transacting business when the robbery was staged.

No Frost In Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—Southerly winds and cloudy skies kept temperatures in all Manitoba districts well above freezing Thursday night. Temperatures continued moderate today.

New Secretary For Police Chief Named

The city police commission meeting Thursday afternoon selected Edward C. Young, 47, of 3204 Linwood Avenue, a ne-year resident of Canada, as the successor to Mrs. Bessie Shaw as the secretary to the chief of police of Victoria.

The commission approved his appointment when learning from Newton Smith, executive officer of the civic services committee, that Mr. Young has had extensive experience in legal offices together with work as a court reporter and several years' training in bookkeeping.

There were several applications for the position.

A resident of Hythe, Kent, Mr. Young joined the Royal Artillery at the outbreak of the Second World War and in 1941 was transferred to the Judge-Advocate-General branch of the war office and served in the Northwest Europe theatre of operations. He was a staff-sergeant of that legal branch of the army at the end of hostilities.

Mr. Young will probably take over his duties at the start of October. Mrs. Shaw will retire at the end of October. In addition to his other qualifications, the new secretary has a diploma as a shorthand teacher, an A.C.T.S. diploma.

The new appointee was highly recommended by both Mr. Smith and Chief of Police John A. McLellan.

MANY POLICE CALLS

Police were called in to act in 1,730 cases during the month of August for a wide range of complaints and crimes. This was shown in the report of the police chief at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the police commission.

City Court Fines $2,512 In August

In city police court last month a total of $2,512 was collected in fines, chiefly from motorists for minor and major traffic offences.

This was shown in the monthly report submitted to the police commission Thursday afternoon by Chief of Police J. A. McLellan.

A total of 379 persons paid $1 fines for parking violations, not a few of them "repeated repeaters."

Persons who were named in court cases of a wide variety numbered 683. There were 188 convictions for violation of the streets' traffic regulations by-law. Forty-five persons were fined for Motor Vehicle Act offences, 10 for motoring charges under the Criminal Code.

Refuse Policemen's Request For Fees

The Victoria City Police Union's request for payment of witness fees to members of the union who appear as witnesses in the higher courts, has met with a refusal from Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer.

A reply to the union request from the attorney-general read at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the city police commission said:

"If this rule is to be changed it would have to be changed all over the province and as this would involve tremendous expense... I am to advise that the government does not see its way to agree to this request." A copy of the reply will be sent to the union.

Police Briefs

There were two inquests and 12 inquiries to investigate deaths in Victoria last month.

Businessmen are still not taking precautions to see that their places of business are secure before leaving for the day. During August policemen on their beats found 35 premises insecure.

A total of 62 houses that were vacant or unoccupied during the month were given attention by policemen on the beat or in prowler cars.

Ten persons were sentenced to imprisonment without option of a fine. Most of these were third-timers for the offence of being intoxicated in a public place.

Of all the cases before the court during the 31-day period only nine were dismissed or withdrawn.

Four juveniles were dealt with in Juvenile Court during August. They were charged with assault, theft, dangerous driving and exceeding the speed limit.

Big Shovel Cuts Telephone Line

The British Columbia government was without complete telephone service for more than seven hours Thursday.

A power shovel, digging a new sewer line along the east side of the Parliament Buildings, severed an underground telephone cable. As a result the headquarters of the B.C. government lost all telephonic communication with the outside world.

The interruption was believed one of the longest in recent years for the Parliament Buildings, the biggest telephone user in the city.

Repair crews worked swiftly to repair the break.

Promise Future Action On Quadra Widening Request

City police commission's request that Quadra Street's east side, between Hillside Avenue and Market Street, be widened to eliminate the traffic "bottle-neck" there, will not be handled this year by the city public works committee.

"The question will again be considered with a view of including it in the 1950 program," F. M. Waller, secretary of the committee, informed the commission in a letter read yesterday. The public works will also consider the commission's suggestion that the east side of Quadra from Hillside be widened right to the city limits.

The police board was informed the public works committee cannot take any immediate steps to carry out the recommendations due to the present road program "which is requiring all labor, equipment and funds available for this year."

36 Persons Reported Missing Here In August

Thirty-five of 36 persons reported missing in August were located, Chief of Police J. A. McLellan reported to the police commission yesterday. All of the seven autos reported stolen were recovered.

Only eight bicycles were reported stolen during the month, but the number found or brought in beat that figure by two.

Property Stolen In August Worth $1,721

Stolen property in Victoria in August was valued at $1,721, of which police recovered $288 worth, the police commission was informed Thursday afternoon at its meeting by Chief J. A. McLellan. Value of lost property totaled $1,589 and $361 worth of this was recovered.

Granddaughter Of City Couple Wed In California

A wedding of interest in Victoria took place in Atherton, Calif., recently when Lorene Livingstone, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Livingstone of 1095 Moss Street, became the bride of Albert Edward Sigal, Jr.

An informal garden wedding united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Livingstone of Burlingame and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edward Sigal.

She wore a crown of white bouvardia in her hair and carried bouvardia and white tube roses. Sole attendant for the bride was her sister, Maryann, in blue embroidered organza gown, also ballerina length. Her bouquet was of pink carnations and she wore the same flowers in her hair.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Casadey, Congregational pastor, before an altar of white asters and chrysanthemums.

William Sigal was his brother's best man.

Rayon Suits Make Hit At Royal Arts College Show

LONDON (CP)—Pride of place was taken by two rayon suits at a student dress show held by the Royal College of Art's School of Fashion Design.

Chosen by a manufacturer for mass production, between 4,000 and 5,000 copies will be made for the next spring season and will sell for about $4 ($16).

The manufacturer who chose them was delighted. Entirely practical yet individualistic, the public will get a utility garment that is different. And this manufacturer is convinced that the only way to keep open the tight ening public purse is to introduce individuality into mass production.

Suit No. 1, designed by 22-year-old Eileen Blackman, is in natural linen with collar, cuffs, and waistcoat of broderie anglaise. The jacket, of classic length, has double catch-button waist, three-quarter sleeves and accented hip pockets. The edge-to-edge front is reversible, have fly-away collar with long narrow points. The skirt has flare fullness with front inverted pleat.

No. 2, designed by 19-year-old June Sweeney, is in nigger and stone and will be reproduced in 24 different color combinations. The skirt, in nigger, is a gored flare with big drill-pickets which come from the waistband making a straight hip panel. The short-sleeved jacket is waist-length with double catch-button, edge-to-edge reversible front and tiny shirt collar. Attached to the hips of the jacket are two buttoned pocket flaps which give an independent contrasting flap to the pockets of the skirt.

SMART STUDENTS

Eileen has been designing and making her own clothes since she was 12. She won a scholarship to the Worthing Art School, then one to the Royal College of Art. Already she has her National Diploma in Design.

June, on the other hand, started off by being far more interested in painting and sculpture than in dress designing. She did not even like dress-making. But, as the Oxford School of Art, she discovered that she always seemed to draw fashionable women. That, finally, made up her mind for her.

Promoters of the fashion design department of the Royal College of Art, established a year ago, are pleased with the results of the student show. They say those who scoffed at the idea of the school and its three years' training now admit its importance. They believe it emphasized the wide scope of the fashion designer and the importance of learning the job from artist's board to factory.

Besides the utility dresses, the student-designed fashion parade included evening dresses, coats, suits, dresses, beachwear and underwear. Stressing tie-up between accessories and the clothes they go with, the students showed a smart display of matched hats, belts and even buttons.

Refugee's Sadness Began Doll Project

NEW YORK (CP)—Ten-year-old Juliana was scared and heart-sick for her parents after arriving here from Hungary.

But Mrs. Corrine Friedman, an aunt with whom Juliana was living, knew the way to a little girl's heart and made Juliana a doll, faithfully dressed in Hungarian peasant costume. Juliana cheered up immediately.

The incident launched Mrs. Friedman, a milliner, on her hobby of doll-making. So far she has made and dressed 75 dolls representing many different countries.

Bursting with enthusiasm over her project, she says each doll requires many hours of research in the library. She wants every detail in the costumes to be correct—and her husband, a student of history, is a severe critic.

At first she dressed dolls only a couple of inches tall. But the wealth of detail in the folk costumes soon required larger models. Now each is seven inches high.

In Step With Style

By MARGUERITE DALZIEL

These attractive shirts, which are perfect under fall suit jackets, over skirts and with slacks, have found their way into many a suitcase belonging to the young Victoria college girl who set off for the mainland university this week.

The trim, clean-cut blouses, featured by several of this city's shops, are Canadian manufactured, and are creating much interest in stores across the border.

Especially suited to college girls' and business women, the new shirt blouses are fashioned of fine broadcloth in sparkling stripes—with tiny collar and cuffs fused to lie just right—and are easily laundered.

Popular with the younger set, too, are attractive blouses with dainty Peter Pan and rolled collars. Favored are lightweight jerseys in warm, fall tones.

A new touch on beautifully tailored blouses, recently arrived from England, are rows and rows of intricate stitching. Another popular blouse features tiny studs in place of buttons, to make laundering easier.

The fashion designer shows suits with tiny waists and contrasting pleated backs, soft folds, intricate pockets and interesting front panel closings... the same draped effect is seen in smart informal black dresses in his collections.

He also shows tricky capes... either buttoned front and waist with a tiny jacket effect, or with a simple boyish collar fastening in front. He even introduces a practical touch for the full sweep of the cape can be caught in front to fight off cold winds.

His collection has variety and of the luxurious side are evening ensembles fashioned in gold embroidered lace, lace on net, velvet embroidery and silk tulle.

He uses stark white and bold black, always in favor of French women, giving his fashions an orthodox note. Second most widely used color scheme is Balenciaga brown.

Wardrobe Standbys—With all the talk of what's new in fall fashions, wardrobe standbys are sometimes neglected. Perennial favorites are the basic black dress... three-piece suit... dress and jacket ensembles... and simple basic sport dress in wool jersey or lightweight wool.

These are just as much in evidence this season as ever. Best basic black dresses are still ones that steer away from extreme styles. Skirts are slightly more narrow this fall, but even top designers are still including easy-to-wear black crepes with a comfortable flare to the skirt.

Dress and jacket ensembles are styled with even more simplicity this fall. Often a combination of fabrics, plain wool or wool jersey with tweed, is used to add interest to simple designs.

Newest jackets ensemble is a sleeveless wool dress under a matching or contrasting jacket. One manufacturer is featuring a grey flannel sleeveless dress with a bolero jacket, and grey ribbed-wool belted jacket over a slim grey sheer wool dress.

Three-piece suits—the college girl favorite for fall sports wear, three-pieces often use vests which can be worn with or without a blouse, lopped by boxy jackets.

One of the current young favorites is made from 100 per cent wool in popular camel shade. The skirt is slim, the boxy jacket lined with simulated leopard skin, and vest made from corduroy in chocolate brown.

Maybe these fall fashions won't make news but they do make a wearable party of every woman's wardrobe.

Christ Church Y.P. Hold Opening Banquet

Christ Church Cathedral Anglican Young People's Association opened their season Wednesday with a banquet in Memorial Hall. Blue and white streamers, colors of the association, decorated the room, and table centres were of sweet peas. Among guests were Mrs. H. Sexton, Mrs. R. G. Calvert, Miss Betty Calvert, and many young people of the parish and the newly-formed Christ Church Cathedral Jr. A.Y.P.A.

The following toasts were made: To the King, Herbert Marston; the church, Mrs. William Allen, responded to by Mr. Sparks, the A.Y.P.A. Miss Grace Solly, responded to by Ted Hutton, president of Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A. After the banquet, members and guests were entertained with vocal selections by Miss Phyllis Corbett, who sang "I Love Vienna," and "Through the Years." Piano selections were given by Miss Dorothy Keir and Miss M. Mickelborough. A "blackface" number was presented by A. Y. P. A. members Bill Chisholm and William Allen, and Rev. Cummings played the accordion.

Concluding the program, Rev. E. Hulford gave a brief address.

Survey Shows Many Women Wave Hair

TORONTO (CP)—Bad news for Canadian beauty-parlor operators came Thursday out of a writer of facts and figures, that is the Canadian Daily News-papers Association's consumer survey; nearly two-fifths of Canadian women now wave their own hair.

In the third of a series of preliminary reports on the results of a questionnaire on buying habits sent to some 1,300,000 urban households, the C.D.N.A. said that kits for home permanent-waving are being purchased by 37.5 per cent of women in Canada's principal cities. Port Arthur reported the highest percentage purchase: 57 per cent.

Interesting tidbits on the habits and buying preferences of Canadians have come out of the survey, still being studied—on Sept. 3, the Association reported that more households (76 per cent) in St. John's, Nfld., like marmalade with their toast than in any other city—and Thursday the C.D.N.A. said it had found that even some men reported use of certain of the cold-wave products. It was assumed that they used the shampoo—not the permanent-wave product.

Other facts: 46.4 per cent of urban households now have mechanical refrigerators—a gain of 8.4 per cent since 1947—and of these, nearly 40 per cent are three years old or less. An average of 3.2 persons a family in the principal Canadian cities read a daily newspaper regularly.

Legion Auxiliary Plans November Fete

Ladies' Auxiliary to Britannia Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., met recently with Mrs. D. McCulloch in the chair. Date set for the fall bazaar was Nov. 15.

Mrs. McCulloch was named delegate to the B.C. Provincial Command of Ladies' Auxiliaries to Canadian Legion, which will meet at Mission, B.C., Oct. 28. Sick visitor, Mrs. D. Ree, reported 290 veteran patients and sick members visited during July and 285 visits made in August.

It was decided to have Mrs. G. Wilson send three more layettes to the Queen Charlotte Hospital, London, Eng.

Plans for a social evening Sept. 23 were made. Mrs. E. Champion will be in charge of fresh flowers on the Memorial tablet, and Mrs. E. Watson will attend Legion funerals.

Mrs. M. Sadler, Garden 7433, is in charge of wool for members wishing to knit socks for Class Six veterans. Mrs. E. Jarvis reported on resolutions debated at the recent convention.

French People Seek Data On Canada Delegate Says

By KAY REX
OTTAWA (CP)—The mere mention of her name will recall to many a Canadian, memories of his last days in France at the close of the Second World War.

Mile. Bepoit Colard's home—or rather what was left of it after the shells and the bombs—was in Normandy near Caen where Canadian troops had their headquarters in 1944.

"The Calgary Highlanders, the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto, the Black Watch of Montreal—I remember the names so well," the blonde French woman said in an interview.

Mile. Colard still is working in the interests of Canadians whom she first met in 1944, and later in 1945 and 1946 when she was in Canada Corner, a service club for Canadians in Paris at that time.

"Delegue-Generale" of L'Accueil Franco-Canadien, she now is on her first visit to Canada. L'Accueil, as its name implies, is among other things, a "welcome" organization for Canadian visitors to France.

Formed a year ago, it is situated in the Latin quarter of Paris. Canadian students have come to depend on it to supply them with information on everything from where to find suitable lodging to details on courses.

Canadian artists in Paris especially are aware of the association. Last June Mile. Colard, through L'Accueil, organized an exhibition of their work.

Among the exhibitors were William McLaughlin of Winnipeg, Pauline Boutal of St. Boniface, Man., and Tobie Steinhouse of Montreal.

The French, too, visit L'Accueil in search of information about Canada.

"Everybody in France seems to be interested in Canada," said Mile. Colard.

The main purpose of her visit at this time is to obtain further information about the Dominion.

"We have all kinds of requests," she said. "One man wanted to know how many sheep there are in Manitoba and another came asking for details about Canada's merchant navy."

L'Accueil has begun work on a Canadian library and needs all the books and pamphlets about the Dominion that it can get.

Luncheon Meeting—First fall session of Victoria West United Church Women's Missionary Society was held in the form of a luncheon Tuesday at the church. Many members and friends attended, and two special guests were Miss Lawrie, who gave the devotional, and Mrs. A. Gervin, Presbyterian president, who gave an extensive resume of "The Emperor's Physician."

"You're My Everything"

HAVE JUST BEEN TO HEAR Dance Dailey sing in the nostalgia... "You're My Everything."

It turns back the tickler... to long ago, to Buster Keaton... & Clara Bow. When Shirley Temple... was Box Office 1, in the old south... with Bill Robinson. And yet it seems just yesterday, to Rudolph Valentino... Maurice Chevalier. The flappers' short skirts... & cloche hats, & if I remember... I wore spats. I used to like their coo feel, & a hole in your sock... didn't show at the heel. There were no oil heaters like we have now, this QUAKER saves oil... more heat... & HOW, I remember too... my pinch-back coat, & my blue belted... overcoat. And a matching cravat & handkerchief, & we even sported a black Christy stiff. We after-moored in Terry's, a pale green booth, and that we were slickers... & Flaming Youth. Under the table... we held a warm mit, & pitched our dough away... on a banana split. A low Stutz roadster... a pal of mine had, the trailing scarves... sorta Clara Bow clad. I thot of these things... rather bitter-sweet, the Charleston contests... & the rumble seat. A Model T... was the best we had, some smoothie sold it... to my Dad. Only ONCE he drove it... on a special mission, he NEVER COULD... work the transmission. So most week-ends... WE did climb upon, and spread its innards... all over the lawn. When no longer it would properly chug, I took off the mudguards... & had a bug. And once... I remember... 'twas in the late Fall, I took to a dance... a snooty doll. And going round a corner... a watery moat, the mud splashed to black... her WHITE bunny coat. Ah... yes... as I say, it was long ago, to the "IT" girl... & Valentino. Now THERE was a lad... who lived dangerous & gayly. MORE "Good & Sand" than this modern sleek Dailey. How those feminine hearts... all got the churns, and his imitators... the long side-burns. How your heart will burst & faster beat, at THIS exciting... new Chesterfield Suite. Two pieces in silver, the other in flame, to delight the heart of ANY dame. It's crushed mohair... like silky fur, a "Dailey" love... "ANNE BAX" never stir. (That's "Anne Baxter" in case you don't know what I'm talking about). I tob... used to grease my hair, & I longed for a desert... flowing cape with a flair. But the closest I got... was to park by the sea, & softly murmur... "The Sheik of Araby." So have fun... children, & when your parents say, "there weren't such goings-on in MY day." Say "Yes... Ma-ma"... DON'T inwardly curse, 'cause I'm telling you kids... WE WERE A LOT WORSE.

Plan Events For Symphony Week

The Victoria Symphony Society's Women's Committee will seek to sell next week at least 1,400 season tickets for this winter's six concerts at the Royal Theatre. Sale of tickets opens Monday in Eaton's radio department, coinciding with "Symphony Week" which is being sponsored by the society.

Plans as outlined by the committee under the leadership of Mrs. Patsy Jennings at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. F. D. Mara, Pemberton Road, indicate that everything will be done by the group of young women to make the public symphony-conscious next week.

Their plans for Symphony Week include a telephone bridge, under the direction of Mrs. G. F. Gregory Monday. All bridge players in Victoria are invited to participate. Those wishing to make up one or two tables of bridge in their own homes, are asked to leave names of players at the symphony box office, radio department of the T. Eaton Co. store by Monday noon or to phone Mrs. Gregory at E 7680.

Valuable prizes are offered and the charge is $2 a table. Full particulars and rules of play will be obtained at Eaton's radio department.

On Wednesday, symphonic films will be shown at Victoria High School. The films have been specially selected by a committee of musical experts for the fine quality of their sound, general interest and informative value. Hans Gruber, musical director of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, will introduce each film. The showing will commence at 8.

The Women's Committee, organized a year ago, will also seek to increase their membership to at least 100 for this season. They are especially anxious to receive help from younger women with time to take on occasional duties when the symphony season opens. The sale of season tickets for the series of six concerts was the chief aim and purpose of the Women's committee, Mrs. Jennings said at the meeting. The committee's objective is 1,400 subscribers.

Season tickets will also be available for the films to be shown at Victoria High School and at Eaton's Fall Fashion Show to be held at the Empress Hotel, Thursday evening, Sept. 22.

The Women's Committee is appealing to the public to support their symphony orchestra by buying season tickets early.

T.L.C. Executive Recommends Congress Throw Out C.S.U.

CALGARY (CP)—The spark that will touch off anti-Red action by the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress was applied to the T.L.C.'s annual convention Thursday.

It was a recommendation from the T.L.C. executive that the leftist-slanted Canadian Seamen's Union be thrown out of the congress, a move that would be just about the death-knell for that organization as a big influence in Canadian labor.

All indications today were that the proposal would be adopted by an overwhelming majority, backed not only by the executive but by the more militant anti-Red faction of the congress under Frank H. Hall.

DEBATE NEXT WEEK
It was not expected that the C.S.U. issue would break out violently today. Expectations were it would come to the floor next week, possibly Monday afternoon.

The highest convention in congress history—1,023 delegates were registered when it convened this morning for its second day—hit out in other directions at Red's Thursday and were expected to take still further action as the congress proceeded.

Lower U.S. Trade Barriers Hoped For By Britain

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor
Of top interest in the coming months will be United States steps to lower her trade barriers, and Britain's attempts at a real selling job in North America.

So far it has been difficult to say which has been most responsible for keeping British goods out of the United States market—American barriers or lack of British salesmanship.

The United States has in recent years done much to lower her tariffs, though exporters, including Canadians, complain she has been maintaining an "invisible tariff" through complex customs interpretations.

There is hope from trade conversations over the last year or so, and from the recent Washington talks, that something will be done to simplify these customs regulations.

Of equal interest, however, is what Britain will do to step up her selling programs.

Paul Hoffman, head man in administration of the European recovery program, pointed out recently that the United States has a gross national production of $254,000,000,000. He added:

"Just three-tenths of 1 per cent more of that spent on British goods, and the dollar gap can be closed."

Stated that way, it would seem Britain should be able to win the small required fraction of that huge market.

SUFFERED FROM WAR
It is understandable enough why British selling efforts on this side of the Atlantic may have lacked drive.

One reason is that for six years she was so occupied with war that she had virtually nothing to sell and so had to neglect these markets. Another is that, in former days, when currencies were interchangeable, it wasn't necessary for her to sell great amounts here so long as she maintained her sales to the world at large.

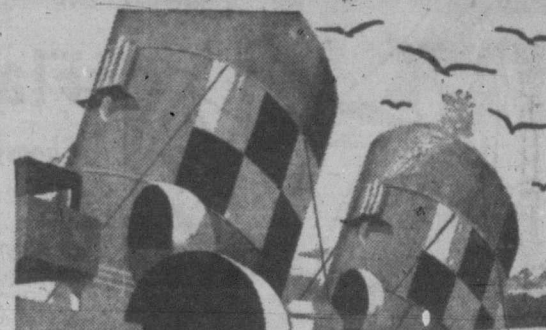

The result of the wartime drop-off in her selling programs is visible in Canada. At one time British goods were generally well-known here by name, whereas now, a Canadian Daily Newspapers Association survey shows, less than 5 per cent of Canadians can name the brands of leading British products.

Vancouver Caps Win In Straight Games

Vancouver Capitanos captured the Western International League baseball playoff series last night by whipping the Yakima Bears for the third time in a row, 8 to 3.

The playoff title gave second-place Vancouver $1,500 in prize money. Yakima won second money of $1,000 from the $4,000 playoff pool.

The Caps won the contest in the first and third innings. Three singles and a Yakima error accounted for two runs in the first, followed by a six-run barrage in the third that knocked Bear hurler Floyd Dickey off the mound.

Dickey had retired two batters when Dick Sinovic singled and scored on a homer by Bill Brenner. K. Chortlon singled and two Caps stroled to fill the bases. Then Jim Robinson scored all three on a double.

Larry Powell had no sooner taken over on the mound when Ray Tran knocked a double that scored Robinson.

LOSES SHUTOUT

It looked like a shutout for George Nicholas until the eighth, when the Bears snared all their three runs. Bob Williams hit his third single of the night, went to second on Sinovic's error and advanced to third on Ted Jennings' single.

Babe Gammino stepped up and cracked a line run to score all three.

Short score:

	R.	H.	E.
Yakima	3	8	1
Vancouver	8	10	1

Dickey, Powell (3) and Orteig; Nicholas and Brenner.

Fogolin Impressive At Red Wings' Camp

SASKATOON (CP)—Detroit Red Wings' hockey training camp, which started with 106 players last Thursday, was cut down to about half that size here yesterday when coach Tommy Ivan released 40 amateurs after the first week.

Many of the 40 will return again next year, but at this time Ivan did not think them ready for professional hockey.

The Detroit coach said he is well pleased with the Saskatoon camp to date and feels he has discovered some outstanding talent for future delivery to the Wings. Ivan also was satisfied with the showing of newcomers in last night's exhibition game.

Of the professionals in the Saskatoon camp, Ivan said, "most of them have been impressive to date and I have noted particular improvement in our young defenceman Lee Fogolin. The kid looked all right when he moved up to the Wings last winter from Indianapolis and I believe he'll really go places in the N.H.L. this coming winter."

Coley Hall Buys Hockey Veteran

VANCOUVER (CP)—Coley Hall, owner of Vancouver Canucks, has purchased Hazen McAndrew from Eddie Shore's Springfield Indians for his Coast Hockey League club, it was announced today.

McAndrew, 32-year-old defenceman, is an American Hockey League veteran who spent part of the 1941-42 season in the N.H.L.

Below Teen-Age Group Recognized In 'Y' Fall Program

With the coming of the autumn season organization of many Y.M.C.A.-sponsored clubs and groups is now taking place, highlighted by the annual membership drive of the association.

The two-week membership drive closes Sept. 30 with the membership round-up party slated for the "Y" gymnasium Oct. 7. Registration night is Sept. 29.

Badminton started this week with 27 turning out for Wednesday afternoon's play. Courts are also available on Saturday from 1.30 to 5.

Classes especially organized for boys and girls from 11 years of age and up are fencing, folk dancing, hobby school, swimming and tumbling.

The folk dancing classes take place on Fridays from 7 to 7.45; fencing instruction from 7.45 to 9 Fridays; hobby school on Wednesdays at 1 and 7.30 and Thursdays at 7.30 and tumbling Tuesdays and Fridays from 7 to 8.

Swimming under Olympic coach Archie McKinnon's instruction will take place Wednesdays from 7.15 to 8 for both boys and girls.

B.C. All-Stars Defeat Manitoba In Junior Boxla Play

WINNIPEG (CP)—British Columbia's All-Stars, backed by goalie Vic Grover's stellar performance, trounced Manitoba's hopefuls 15 to 4 here Thursday night to take a one-game lead in their best-of-three western Canada junior lacrosse finals.

A sparse crowd of 600 saw the B.C. team come from behind a one-goal deficit at the 9:10-minute mark of the first quarter to tie the game and take over from there on in.

B.C. had a 2 to 1 lead at the end of the first quarter, 7 to 2 at the end of the second, and 11 to 2 at the end of the third.

Marine Cervi, B.C. forward, connected for three goals in the first half before he broke a leg and was forced to retire from the game. He had been the standout player on the floor up to the time of the mishap.

Teammate Cliff Johnson, however, topped Cervi's performance by netting the ball four times.

The Manitoba team repeatedly broke through the British Columbia defence only to meet stiff opposition from Grover who performed in spectacular style at times to repulse whatever hopes the Manitobans had.

Colin Cruickshank, Doug Hull and Jim Klinna of B.C. each scored twice, while Singletons went to Gordon Stewart and Larry Creml.

Stomach Ulcer Keeps Colville In Hospital

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—Manager Neil Colville of New Haven Ramblers of the American Hockey League will be in hospital indefinitely for treatment of a stomach ulcer, Dr. George Hart, team physician, said today.

The 35-year-old Colville was admitted to the general hospital here Wednesday and given a blood transfusion. His condition was favorable, the doctor said.

The Ramblers are training at nearby Lake Placid.

Noren Most Valuable Coast League Player

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Irv Noren, slugging centre fielder for Hollywood Stars, was named Thursday as the Coast League's most valuable player of 1949.

League president Clarence Rowland announced that 20 baseball writers in the league cities selected Noren, giving him 10 votes for the honor. This was double the total of his nearest rival, shortstop Artie Wilson of Oakland.

Hockey Meeting

A meeting with regard to the formation of a commercial hockey league in the city is slated for the Memorial Arena tonight at 8.

Those interested in commercial hockey are urged to attend.

Knocked Themselves Out

Unbeaten Calgary-Ottawa Grid Squads Should Add Victories

The "form charts" on the Canadian senior football scene should be completed tomorrow. It's up to the undefeated Ottawa Roughriders to supply the finishing touches.

In a week-end studied with eight games—four in the east and four in the west—the powerful Roughriders clash with the Hamilton Wildcats at Ottawa. Montreal Alouettes battle Toronto Argonauts at Toronto.

Other games Saturday:

Western Union—Calgary Stampers at Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Edmonton Eskimos at Saskatchewan Roughriders. O.R.F.U.—Sarnia Imperials at Windsor Rockets, Toronto Balmy Beach at Hamilton Tigers.

Monday: Western Union—Edmonton at Winnipeg, Calgary at Regina.

The Roughriders will be gunning for their fourth straight victory when they meet the winless Wildcats. Judging by performance of both clubs, they shouldn't have too much trouble.

The Roughriders were forced to extend themselves in two games with the Alouettes but the Montreal squad last week blasted Hamilton 38 to 16. Then Ottawa disposed of Argos 19 to 1 last week.

KROL LAID UP

There's injury in the Argos' camp. Joe (King) Krol, who aggravated an old knee injury, is not likely to see action. Krol had the fluid drained off his injured knee and a severe swelling cleared up.

Don Crowe will probably handle the kicking and a share of the punting on Krol's absence. Others who won't be in the line-up are Doug Smylie, nursing a charley-horse, and Byron Karrys, who may be dropped for missing a practice.

In the west, the defending champion Stampers, also undefeated this season, are not counting on the services of star Doug Turner in their game against the Blue Bombers. Turner will round out his long career with Calgary.

The Stampers hope that in later games the former Toronto Argos centre will give their line additional strength. Mel Wilson, veteran of 12 years in senior football warfare, has been holding down the snaphack position so far this season.

In the O.R.F.U., the Beches are expected to give the third-place Tigers a good battle.

Meanwhile, the leading Imperials will be going all-out to gain a victory over the Rockets. Both clubs have shown impressively against the Tigers and Beches.

B.C. Hunting Season Will Open Tomorrow

British Columbia's fall hunting season will open tomorrow morning and game department officials estimate that 5,000 sportsmen will be primed for action.

Hunting season for grouse, bear and deer on the mainland and on Vancouver Island opens officially at 5.50 a.m. (P.D.T.) tomorrow.

The provincial game commission has already issued more than 10,000 licenses to sportsmen in B.C. and the figure was expected to be doubled by the end of October.

Frank B. Butler, provincial game commissioner, says grouse are "more plentiful" than ever in British Columbia.

United Squad Named For Season's Opener

Dave Huggins will act as coach for Victoria United tomorrow afternoon in the opening game of the Pacific Coast Soccer League season against Vancouver City at Athletic Park at 2.30.

Huggins was named temporary coach following the resignation Wednesday night of Harry Singleton, manager-coach of the team.

It is expected that a new manager and coach will be appointed to guide the team's destinies sometime next week.

The club which takes the field tomorrow in United colors will differ little from last year's team, there being only two new additions to the starting line-up.

NEW PLAYERS

The newcomers are Tom Gilchrist from Toronto Scottish and Art Young from Esquimalt of the city league.

Gilchrist will play right half with Young at either inside or outside right.

Fullbacks are Al Boyd and Joe Robbins. Bill MacAllister will be in goal.

Second Guessers Go To Work On Casey Stengel

Oakland Crowds Leading Hollywood: Rainiers Beaten

The Coast League stretch race today is back in the neck-and-neck stage. Chief reason for some is that San Francisco is more neighborly to Oakland than Los Angeles is to Hollywood.

The Seals made it two in a row last night over the league-leading Stars. Big Cliff Melton bore down in the clutches for a 3 to 2 win although Hollywood nipped him for 11 hits. The Seals, meanwhile, were able to collect only five singles off Willard Ramsdell and John Roy.

The Oaks walloped the Angels for the third straight time. Oakland exploded for six runs in the sixth and went on to win 12 to 5. Billy Martin climaxed the big inning with a grand slam homer.

Hal Saltzman of Portland copped win No. 22 as his Beavers pounded four San Diego pitchers for 13 hits and a 9 to 5 win. The Beavers hit three homers and the Padres two in the free-hitting contest. Max West's grand slammer was his 46th of the year.

Sacramento's Orv Grove yielded but six hits in pitching the Solons to a 6 to 1 victory over Seattle. The Rainiers' only run came on Neil Sheridan's 14th homer. He later was banished for kicking his glove when Grove struck him out in the eighth.

Sacramento's Orv Grove yielded but six hits in pitching the Solons to a 6 to 1 victory over Seattle. The Rainiers' only run came on Neil Sheridan's 14th homer. He later was banished for kicking his glove when Grove struck him out in the eighth.

It was interesting to note that Singleton threw in the towel because as he put it "the players wanted to run the club." One can hardly blame him for not wanting to operate under such conditions. However, whoever replaces Singleton will likely run up against the same situation. It just means that it will need a man with plenty of intestinal fortitude and determination to be in complete charge of the team to take over. In this connection I can think of no better qualified individual than George Kulal.

In the last couple of years Kulal has proven himself as a soccer coach. Not afraid to call a spade a spade when necessary, Kulal is one person who will have control of his players or else. Whether or not George could be talked into taking over the United I don't know but the directors could not find a better man anywhere. If Kulal should take the job he wants to make sure he does not get saddled with all the work required to operate a Coast League eleven. Let the club provide him with a team secretary to look after the many little details associated with running a team. The coach should have one job—get the players into condition and select the team.

I UNDERSTAND the directors of the United are determined the team will not be run by the players. In this regard they face a tough problem. They are dealing with athletes who are neither amateurs nor professionals. It is a sense they are semi-pros. It is no secret that in past seasons the players have been paid certain sums of money. Best plan for the present season would be for the club to operate along the same lines as St. Andrew's. Let the surplus money be placed in a player's pool and split into equal shares at the end of the season.

RAN into Dave Turner yesterday and the new vice-president of the United informed me he planned to scout the entire island for soccer material. The former star of the New Westminster Royals stated he was of the opinion the player situation on the island should be investigated before it was decided to look farther afield. It was a good move when the United succeeded in getting Turner interested in the club. A former player of note, Dave is a real soccer enthusiast and will not be afraid to give of his time and knowledge in the interests of the game.

Members Of Yanks Grieve Over Death Of Former Mate Bonham

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—The Yankees couldn't believe it. The dressing room was a tableau of stunned amazement when the word came that Ernie Bonham was dead.

The big, easy-going guy they facetiously called "Tiny" had been gone from this dressing room for three years, traded off to the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1946. But when you spend your best seven years with the Yankees—you're always a Yankee.

They shocked faces showed it; that, and the faraway stares they directed to the corner locker where he used to dress.

They found it hard to believe because Tiny was only 36 and, while he had the usual quota of aches and pains which are occupational hazards in baseball, he was a husky, healthy guy. The word for Tiny was "hearty."

But now the mild-mannered giant was dead in a Pittsburgh hospital of complications following an appendectomy.

"He was a great Yankee," Frankie Crosetti said softly. "Rawboned Bill Dickey, who left the club the same time as Bonham, but came back as a coach, was eight years in the past reliving for a moment the 1941 world series history he and Bonham had written as battery mates."

HIGH TRIBUTE

"There never was a better pitched ball game," Dickey muttered of that fifth and final game in which Tiny flattened the Dodgers with four hits.

Big Bill undoubtedly felt it most of all. For he almost called the turn wrong on Bonham when the 215-pound Californian joined the club in 1940. It was Dickey's decision, after Bonham's first game, that Tiny "didn't have it."

But when Ernie defeated the then brilliant Bob Feller with the best control Dickey ever had seen, the square-cut catcher and the pudgy pitcher became fast friends—and Dickey was his chief router.

Plagued by a recurring back injury, Bonham arrived late. As a high school boy, he wasn't even interested in baseball. Football was his dish. But the school principal made him go out for baseball and the game soon put an unshakable hold on the six-foot-two-inch youngster with the sneaky fast ball.

The Second Guessers' Society, kept conspicuously silent this year by the sound baseball tactics of Casey Stengel, has finally come to life.

The members of the S.G.S. are pointing fingers at the veteran manager of New York's Yankees, accusing him of pulling a couple of "rocks" yesterday that cost the Bronx Bombers an important game.

How much more those "lapses" will cost the Yankees will not be determined until the season's close, but Thursday they helped Cleveland Indians defeat the Yankees 10 to 6, trimming the New Yorkers' first-place margin in the American League over Boston to 2½ games.

Stengel's belated critics admit that he's done a remarkable job this year. They don't deny that his brilliant manoeuvring of an injury-riddled club, plus his sound strategy in numerous tight spots has been one of the reasons for the Yankees' surprising success.

MADE FIVE ERRORS

However, they also point out that Stengel was as much at fault in Thursday's loss to the Indians as pitcher Allie Reynolds or the four players who committed the five errors which gave Cleveland five unearned runs.

The S.G.S. is asking just why Stengel ordered Reynolds to issue an intentional pass to Larry Doby in the eighth inning thus forcing Allie to face the ever-dangerous Joe Gordon with a runner in scoring position?

And why didn't Casey yank Reynolds during that hectic eighth when the Tribe slammed him for four straight hits and five runs after two were out?

20-GAME WINNER

Trailing 8 to 2 the Yankees pounced on Bob Lemon for four runs in their half of the eighth to get back into the ball game. But the Indians added two insurance runs in the ninth to make Lemon the third 20-game winner in the major leagues.

The others are Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder of the Boston Red Sox.

The Yankee defeat probably raised the spirits of Joe McCarthy's Red Sox, who now trail by four games in the important "lost" column. The Yankees have 16 games left to play, and the Red Sox only 13. The league leaders will be at home in 12 of them, while Boston has only seven home engagements.

"The Indians, practically out of it, trail by 6½ games."

Plans Of Minor Hockey Association Announced

An enthusiastic turnout of approximately 120 persons attended the organization meeting of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association in the Memorial Arena last night.

Plans for the operation of bantam, midget, juvenile and junior leagues in the city were announced by the association. It is hoped to have four teams in each of the leagues except junior. There it is hoped to have two clubs if sufficient players are available.

Joe Dutkowski, manager of the arena, spoke briefly to the gathering and promised assistance to the Minor Hockey Association wherever possible. He also outlined the importance of training to the young hockeyists and the character-building nature of the sport.

Possibility of the Royal Canadian Navy and Nanaimo having junior clubs this season, to play in competition with Victoria teams, was discussed.

Officials have called a second meeting of the association for the arena on Wednesday at 7 for the purpose of registration. Youngsters between 12 and 21 years of age interested in playing minor hockey are urged to register at this meeting. This will give the association some idea of the number of players in the area.

SCHOOL STANDARDS

For a member of the Minor Hockey Association to compete in regular league play, a reasonable educational standard must be maintained at city schools.

This standard will be set by school officials. Every player registered with the association will be issued a card. This card must be taken to the school at which the player is a student and must be signed by a teacher at the school before such a player will be allowed to play hockey in the minor association. Any slackening in school work will result in the prospective hockeyist being barred from further competition.

RECALL GOLDSTEIN

SEATTLE (AP)—The Seattle Rainiers announced today the recall of first baseman Bob Goldstein from Idaho Falls.

Goldstein played with the Pioneer League team under option this season. He is a former Spokane high school star and went to New York last year as the state's entry in the all-American boy baseball game.

Spokane, Wash.—Kid Riviera, 227, Chicago, knocked out Buddy Scott, 187, Little Rock, Ark., 3.

U.S. Amateur Ice League To Operate With Nine Squads

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The United States Eastern Amateur Hockey League, which failed to operate last season for the first time since it started in 1933, was reorganized and expanded today for resumption of competition next month.

League president Tom Lockhart said at the end of the reorganization meeting that six teams have been signed for the 1949-50 season. Three others are expected to join the loop at a schedule meeting set for New York next Thursday.

The circuit is to be divided into two divisions. The eastern division will include Boston Olympics, New York Rovers and Baltimore Clippers, and probably Atlantic City Sea Gulls and Washington Lions.

In the western section will be Toledo Mercurys, Milwaukee Clarks and Grand Rapids Rockets, and probably Cleveland Knights.

It will be the first year in the league for the midwestern clubs. Toledo and Milwaukee competed last year in the International Amateur League. Grand Rapids and Cleveland are new to amateur hockey.

In its last year of operation, the Eastern Amateur League had only four teams—New York, Boston, Baltimore and Atlantic City.

Perth Amboy, N.J.—Sonny Luciano, 135, Paterson, N.J., outpointed Al Pennino, 131, Brooklyn, 8.

Formidable Field For $15,000 Pimlico Race

BALTIMORE (AP)—Owners of the 18 best horses in competition today were mailed engraved invitations to the winner-take-all $15,000 Pimlico Special on Oct. 28.

How many will R.S.V.P. is going to be influenced greatly by the presence of Calumet Farm's formidable duo of Coaltown and Ponder. This pair gives Warren Wright's stable an imposing hand in the 13th running of the special which is viewed as the world series of horse racing.

Eight of the 12 winners of the special have been voted "horse of the year." The same honor is more than likely to go along with this year's victory.

The 18 bids sent out today are to winners in 28 stakes throughout the country which the Maryland Jockey Club lists as qualifying events.

There are seven more stakes in the series.

The club also reserves the right to invite any other horses which it feels are outstanding although failing to win any of the specified races. In this category right now is Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Stymlie, the world's leading winner which made its first start last Saturday.

If Stymlie does round into shape and is invited, it will bring him up against his old rival, King Ranch's Assault, which already is eligible by virtue of victory in the Brooklyn Handicap.

Assault won the 1946 special, beating Stymlie. However, these old-timers will face tough competition in such successors to their fame as Coaltown, Ponder, Greentree Stable's Capot, and Fred Hooper's Olympia. Trainer Hirsch Jacobs said yesterday that Palestinian, another top eligible, has been retired for the year.

The special is a sporting race throughout. Besides being winner-take-all, handicaps are according to age and it costs nothing to start once invited. You can bet to win only.

The distance is a mile and three-sixteenths.

Veteran Winger Joins Cougars From Canadiens

Victoria Cougars today had their first player from the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League. He is 29-year-old Larry Thibeault, a left-winger. General manager Fred Hutchinson of the Cougars announced that Thibeault would leave his Quebec home shortly for the coast.

Forced out of competition for a part of last season with an injured hand Thibeault engaged in 37 games with Houston and San Diego, scoring 13 goals and getting 10 assists. The 1947 season was spent with Houston during which time Thibeault engaged in 46 games, scoring 12 goals and giving 17 assists.

The left-winger is one of the more experienced players who will be with the Cougars. "I have seen him play and he should do all right in this league," Hutchinson stated. Thibeault is five feet eight inches and weighs 170 pounds. He has been playing hockey 10 years and started his professional career with Springfield Indians.

Hutchinson announced that the Victoria players have been ordered to report here to open training Sept. 25.

Seniors of the Uplands Golf Club will play for the Harold Robinson Cup tomorrow. The competition will be a medal round on full handicap. Capt. J. W. Kempton, present holder of the trophy, will be on hand to defend his laurels. Post entries will be accepted.

Cisalworth In Feature Win; Moncrief Injured

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jockey Marvin Moncrief was taken to hospital Thursday following an accident in the fifth race at Exhibition Park when his mount, Party Time, reared up in the starting gate, pinning the boy beneath him.

Moncrief suffered leg injuries, but his condition is reported good and he is expected to be released soon. He was excused and the race continued with nine horses in the field.

In the featured Pasha Allowance, five-year-old Cisalworth, a temperamental mare owned by Dave Diamond of Vancouver, won a narrow nose victory over the favored Gwynfyd to pay $9.10, $4.25 and $3.10.

With Ray Stoddard in the tack, Cisalworth was always close to the pace, moved up on the rail at the quarter and raced head-and-head with Gwynfyd to the eighth pole and, though appeared beaten, came on again in the last few yards to get the nod at the wire.

Cosmopolitan Club Considers Proposal To Build Aquarium

Proposal to construct an aquarium in Victoria was discussed by members of the recently-established Cosmopolitan club here Thursday night at a meeting at the Club Sirocco.

Originator of the idea was Lew MacDonald, club secretary, but the plan was introduced by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum. Dr. Carl said the proposed project would not only be educational for Victorians, but would also be important as a first-class tourist attraction and a valuable opportunity for research work.

It was decided that immediately following the club's charter night ceremonies, which are scheduled on Oct. 7, a committee would be appointed by president Tony McManus to delve into problems such as a site, the cost of construction and maintenance.

New Basement Room Opened At Church

Culminating months of labor on the part of members of the congregation, the official opening of a new spacious basement room at the Centennial United Church was held this week. Ninety per cent of the work done was on a voluntary basis.

Following the dedication ceremonies by Rev. W. R. Ashford,

Mrs. James McKenzie cut the ribbon and the room was declared officially open. A varied program was presented under the chairmanship of F. Godsalve. During the ceremonies, Rev. and Mrs. Ashford were presented with a gift to mark their 18th wedding anniversary.

Town Meeting Of Air Here Sept. 23

Founded six years ago in Vancouver by Arthur R. Helps, the Town Meeting radio forum in Canada will come to Victoria next week with four speakers—two Victoria men—to discuss the question, "Has Socialism Failed in Britain?"

Views rendered by the four speakers will be aired on a coast-to-coast setup as records made here in the Victoria High School auditorium at 8 on Sept. 23 will be shipped to 20 radio stations across the Dominion.

The four men named as speakers are: Dr. J. M. Thomas, principal of Mount View High School and a member of the C.C.F.'s provincial executive; L. W. Makovski, Victoria, writer and lecturer; Arthur Turner, C.C.F. M.L.A.-elect for Vancouver East, and Walter R. Dent, editor of the B.C. Financial Times.

The British government scheme will be surveyed from opposite sides of the political fence during the first part of the debate, following which the audience will be invited to ask questions. A salute to Victoria will also be included in the program.

Y.M.C.A. Camera Club At Work

Equipped with one of the most modern club studios on the Pacific coast, the Y.M.C.A. Camera Club has in the past few years expanded greatly until it now is one of the most popular of the "Y" list of winter activities. At the present time there are over 50 members in the club with openings for a limited number of new members. This year the club is instituting a color study group to be held Monday evenings at the "Y". On Tuesdays the club holds classes in fundamentals of photography for beginners and on Wednesdays classes in lighting and portraiture. Weekly meetings are held Thursdays. Shown in the studio are, left to right, John Jackson, developing; John Bailey, enlarging, and Atholl Cropper.

Remand Two For Sentence On Suit Theft Charge

Michael Burns, Victoria, and Doris Mary Wilson, Vancouver and Toronto, both aged about 24, today in city court were remanded to Monday for sentence on a charge of stealing a dress from D'Allaird's Dress Shop, 709 Yates Street, on Sept. 8.

Wilson pleaded guilty to the charge Thursday. Burns elected a higher court trial, but changed to a trial before Magistrate H. C. Hall today. He pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty as charged.

Evidence was that they went into the store together and that after they had left the $60 woman's suit was missing. Wilson claimed she took it without Burns' knowledge and Burns claimed he did not know Wilson had taken the suit until they got out on the street. Burns said they then parted company as he did not wish to become involved in a theft charge.

Magistrate Hall, however, said he was satisfied Burns had a part in committing the theft. They were arrested by Detective Louis Callan who spotted the red-headed Wilson wearing the dress reported stolen.

Rules Council Only Can Allow Parades

City Solicitor Arthur Patton today ruled that permission for the holding of parades can be given only by the City Council.

He reversed a decision given at last Tuesday's meeting of a council in which he stated the Chief of Police had authority to grant procession permits.

The Police Chief had authority only to give permission for erection of road blocks for parades authorized by the council.

In giving his ruling, the solicitor stated the Chief of Police for many years had been granting permits for parades and, technically speaking, any parades he authorized were illegal, but there never had been any question raised before.

Send Flowers To Hospitalized Boys

A bouquet of flowers will be sent to a different hospitalized Victoria boy each week from now until Christmas, members of the Optimist Club here decided at a meeting Thursday.

Scheduled speaker at the meeting was Joseph Casey, line superintendent, B.C. Electric. Mr. Casey was unable to address the club, however, as bad weather forced the grounding of the plane he was scheduled to arrive on from Vancouver.

Ian Anderson, club member, spoke on activities of the Portland-downtown Optimist Club and the Glinz Lake Camp.

Crown Seeks Premises Of Firm For Post Office Site

Diggon-Hibben Ltd. were ordered by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, sitting in Chambers today, to appear in court next Friday to explain why they have not vacated their present Government Street premises expropriated by the federal government in Feb. 1946.

The order was issued after J. G. Rutman, counsel for the Crown, told the court that the Dominion Public Works Department had demanded possession of the building on two occasions. The Crown was seeking possession of the land and premises in order to erect a new post office on the site, he said.

The property was expropriated by the Crown for a sum of $120,000 in 1946.

Mr. Rutman applied for an order for the firm to show cause why it had not vacated the premises under the Expropriation Act. He told the court the firm was asked to vacate the premises on Aug. 10, by J. E. Gouge, solicitor for the Crown.

G. A. Hebben, an official of the company, had replied that it was impossible for the firm to move at the time, Mr. Rutman said.

Mr. Rutman also filed an affidavit signed by S. W. Well, public works architect, who stated that he had demanded possession and the keys of the building by 6 p.m. on Sept. 13.

According to the affidavit, Mr. Hebben replied that the firm could not comply with the demand as it had no place to where it could take its goods, and it could not put them out on the street.

Officials of the firm when informed of the order today said they intended to move from their present premises to a three-story building at Johnson and Government Streets in the very near future.

B.C. Sets Up Group On Industrial Design

The provincial trade and industry department has arranged the creation of a British Columbia industrial design committee to co-operate with a national committee in promoting the use of Canadian talents in designing consumer goods.

Appointment of the provincial committee, of which R. S. O'Meara, provincial trade commissioner, is chairman, was announced today by Trade and Industry Minister L. H. Eyres. Personnel of the committee includes representatives from the B.C. division, Canadian Manufacturers Association, B.C. Products Bureau, Vancouver Board of Trade, British Columbia Research Council, University of B.C. architecture department, Vancouver Arts School and provincial education department.

The local organization will be directly associated with the National Industrial Design Committee formed last year. D. B. Cruickshank of Ottawa is chairman of the national committee. Mr. Eyres said the provincial committee would emphasize the place of B.C.'s secondary industries in the national program.

Opportunity To Aid Fellow Citizens

National Health and Welfare Minister Paul Martin sees in the annual Community Chest campaigns an opportunity for every Canadian to give assistance to fellow citizens less fortunate.

Mr. Martin says, "There are few more worthwhile ways in which the individual citizen can participate in the support of the many social services essential for the well-being of his or her community than by contributing to the annual Red Feather campaign. For this is not a single appeal for a single agency, but a united campaign in which the citizen's contribution is actually several contributions in one, thus tangibly supporting many community services."

"Since every citizen of Canada benefits from the services provided by Red Feather agencies, it is the responsibility of each of us to support to the utmost this united, voluntary appeal."

Recalled Cartoon Of 40 Years Ago

Like their animal friends the elephants, Mr. and Mrs. James Barr of the Victoria branch of the S.P.C.A. never forget.

They proved it today with a copy of Punch magazine dated Aug. 18, 1909, received direct from the Bouverie Street offices of the world-famous London journal.

Mr. Barr, president of the humane society, and his wife, who is secretary, have been leading a campaign against shipment of live horses from Canada to Belgium for food.

They remembered having seen a Punch cartoon in support of an earlier similar drive.

The cartoon appeared in that 1909 edition which the editor of Punch mailed to them on request "with good wishes for the fine work that you are doing."

The cartoon shows a broken-down horse with a sticker "Hull to Artwork" attached to its side, passing through the Antwerp customs office. The customs officer is asking: "Have you anything to declare?" The horse is replying: "Only this—that I'm ashamed of my country."

Toastmasters Back Hospital Scheme

There is at least one group in Victoria that is solidly behind the increase in the hospital insurance premiums in British Columbia. Members of the Toastmasters' Club 38 stated the move was entirely justified at a meeting Thursday night.

In a discussion led by topic-master Ed Whyte, members noted that there was bound to be a period of trial and error like all other innovations, but they were unanimous in their support of any increase in rates or regulations, planned for the betterment of the scheme.

A certificate for completing the organization's course in basic training was presented to W. R. Gazzard by past district governor B. H. E. Gault.

The well-baby clinic usually held at Kingston Street School will be held at 525 Superior Street, Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 2.30 in the afternoon.

Events tabled for discussion include: Oct. 6—The planning lessons of the 1940s; regional planning by the prairie farm rehabilitation administration; members' appraisal of the work of the Community Planning Association of Canada, as reported by leaders across Canada.

Oct. 7—Growth of North American cities and towns; the regional basis and the physical bulk of Canadian postwar development; metropolitan problems and the housing of Canadian families in the 1950s.

Oct. 8—Assessing the development prospects of the main regions of Canada; the roles of the association units in those regions, and seeing Winnipeg's plan in action.

Claims Court Has No Right To Review Labor Board's Case

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, in Supreme Court Chambers, continued today to hear the application for a writ of mandamus ordering the Labor Relations Board to show cause why it had certified a Nanaimo A.F.L. Teamsters' Union as bargaining agent for employees of Schofield and Malpass, a cartage firm.

The application for a writ of mandamus was made by Lloyd G. McKenzie, acting for the Vancouver Island Drivers' Local No. 234 of the Canadian Railway Employees' Union. The union is seeking to revoke the board's certification of the General Truck Drivers' and Helpers' Local No. 31 as bargaining agent.

Mr. McKenzie claims the board had illegally certified the A.F.L. union before the C.C.L. union's agreement with the cartage firm had run out.

W. H. M. Haldane, appearing on behalf of the board, is opposing the application, on points of law. He claimed a mandamus was not a remedy to review what had been done by a court below.

He also argued that the board could not be called for questioning by a mandamus on the grounds that the court had no jurisdiction to review what it had done or interfere with its decision, whether right or wrong.

Expect Big Crowd For Scots Banquet

Several hundred former and present members of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, which had fighting battalions at the front in two world wars, will gather at Bay Street Armouries at 6 on the night of Oct. 1 for the fourth postwar annual reunion banquet.

John Kelly, secretary of the Canadian Scottish Regimental Association, postwar organization to bring all former Scottish members together, has sent out invitations to all past and present members of the Scottish colors he has the addresses of to attend the big party.

Further information can be secured from Mr. Kelly by writing to him at 1335 Bouchier Street.

Urges Support Of United Nations

"World peace must be based on international justice, according to the preamble of the United Nations charter," Mrs. Sheila Young of Vancouver, vice-president and organizer of the provincial branch of the National Peace Assembly said Thursday night in an address at the newly-formed Victoria branch at the Williams Hall, Broughton Street.

Mrs. Young said the group was non-partisan. She felt that the United Nations was the only instrument able to maintain peace in the world, but that it was not being given the proper support.

The speaker stated that preparations for war would never end conflicts. Negotiations for peace must be based on a sincere international outlook, and this could only be done through support of the U.N. on the part of each individual.

Victoria branch now has over 20 members. Officials will be elected at a later date. W. A. Scott, chairman at the opening meeting, stated his experiences in the Far East during the first World War.

Annual Overhaul Delays Aorangi

Rumors of grounding of the Canadian-Australasian Line vessel Aorangi because of her delayed arrival back at this port were dispelled today when company representatives reported the vessel is undergoing her annual overhaul.

The Aorangi, if she had not been arriving back here in August, which probably is the reason for the rumors being circulated of her grounding.

However, according to information received here, she is in Sydney, Australia, undergoing an annual overhaul, and will sail on her run to this coast again Sept. 22.

School officials still are looking for a former Victoria public school student older than 86. He or she is wanted to take part in the opening ceremony for the new vocational-technical unit at Victoria High School sometime in October. Four applications have been received so far, none over 86, and the officials believe there may be an older student.

Latest Furness Line Ship On Maiden Voyage To City

The passenger-cargo ship Pacific Fortune, latest of the Furness Line's "Pacific-type" vessels now is at sea, en route to Victoria on her maiden voyage to the B.C. coast, it was learned today from Cecil Ridout, shipping agent for the company.

THIRD GENERATION

The Pacific Fortune represents the Furness Line's third generation of ships especially designed for the Pacific coast, United Kingdom and continent trade.

The first generation, 1921-28, had limited passenger space and took 30 to 36 days to make the run from the Pacific coast to the U.K. The second generation, 1929-49, were larger and faster, with accommodation for 12 passengers. They could make the Pacific coast-U.K. run in 28 days.

The Pacific Fortune's generation, are even larger than those of the second. Outfitted with modern accommodation for 12 passengers, the Pacific Fortune and her sister ships, including the Pacific Unity, already delivered by the builders, can make the run from the coast to the U.K. in 21 days.

The new ship, built in 1948 by the Blythwood Shipbuilding Co. Ltd., Glasgow, is due in Victoria the first week in October. She has a displacement tonnage of 16,000, passenger accommodation for 12, and is 500 feet long. She attained a speed of 17 1/2 knots during her trials.

Additional vessels in the new fleet being built by Furness Withy and Co. Ltd., will be named in order of the words
